

Farmers feed 80 percent of nation's wildlife

Nicholas County Conservation District News - by William Hainson, District Conservator

America's farmers feed not only cattle, hogs, and poultry, but everything else that flies, swims, runs, or crawls on farms and rangelands - an estimated 80 percent of the nation's wildlife.

Also, says Kenneth E. Grant, administrator of the Soil Conservation Service (SCS), U.S. Department of Agriculture, his agency's end-of-the-year figures show that farmer encouragement of wildlife is on the increase.

In fiscal year 1972, according to Mr. Grant, SCS assisted farmers, ranchers and other landowners in improving more than 7½ million acres of land and water areas for the benefit of wildlife - a 28 percent increase over last year.

Further, SCS reports more than half a million acres of other rural land was converted from crop or range land into wildlife and recreation areas during 1972. SCS helps landowners improve food, water, and cover for wildlife. Improved pasture attract many wild creatures," he said.

These and many other conservation practices indicate that American farmers and ranchers continue to be the "most with the most" for wildlife," said the SCS administrator.

Nicholas county farmers and landowners have done their fair share in helping wildlife. Some of the farming practices carried out by farmers that are beneficial to wildlife are: foodplots, field borders, falchup management, pond stocking, livestock exclusion, pond building, recreation area improvement, tree planting, and wildlife upland habitat management.

MAGICWORD

HOW TO PLAY: Read the list of words. Look at the puzzle. You'll find these words in all directions - horizontally, vertically, diagonally, backward. Draw a circle around each letter of a word found in the puzzle. Then look at the list of words. Circle the letters you find. You'll have the words. When letters of all words are circled, you'll have the MAGICWORD.

Kay's Kitchen

— By Kay Fisher —

I have had quite a few requests to run past Kay's Kitchen column in the new format that fits in by 11, three ring notebook. This week is a first review and you are ready to make just the rolls, it will be still enough.

BASIC BREADS
The following bread recipes are the basic breads used by a typical family. Sometimes it is bread from the grocery store, a ready mix, frozen or what have you. However since in a while nearly every cook will want to try her hand at making a bread of her own.

If you really want to put your best foot forward for a company dinner, you can't miss with these rolls. This recipe is one given to me by O. H. Lambert.

PEPPER ROLLS
Have a pound margarine in large bowl. Scald 1 cup milk and pour over flour. Add 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup shortening. Stir until smooth. Add 1 yeast cake or 1 package dry yeast dissolved in 1/2 cup lukewarm water and 1 heaping tablespoon sugar; 2 teaspoons salt with 1/2 cup sugar and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Stir in 1/2 cups sifted flour.

THIS ONE-CALL BASIC ROLLS
Heat 1 cup milk, add 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup shortening. Stir until smooth. Add 1 yeast cake or 1 package dry yeast dissolved in 1/2 cup lukewarm water and 1 heaping tablespoon sugar; 2 teaspoons salt with 1/2 cup sugar and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Stir in 1/2 cups sifted flour.

For sweet rolls, use above recipe. Knead of dough lightly and cut into oblong shape about 1/2 inch or less thick, cover with brown sugar, broken pecans, butter and cinnamon. Roll, dough into logs and for jelly rolls, roll into 4 or 6 more inches in a warm place. Bake approximately 15 minutes at 350 degrees. Rolls should rise triple or more in size.

Dough will keep 5 to 6 days in refrigerator or you may make them all out at one time, keep and freeze those not used.

When ready to use, make into rolls, roll in warm place several hours. Bake 20 minutes at 350 degrees. From this dough, one could make 2 small loaves & bread. Divide into ball, knead slightly and shape into loaf and place in greased loaf pan.

WOMAN'S WORKWORLD

The nation's unkept can be the wellspring of a good job for you. You need no investment capital for such jobs as manager, assistant manager, front office manager, executive housekeeper, cabinet purchasing agent, room clerk, or any of the myriad of other jobs found in hotels and motels.

Disappearing from the American scene, however, are the small, roadside, home-stay, or pop-motel type of lodging. This is an important business. You need specialized training for the better-paying jobs unless you have the kind of experience, such as clerical or bookkeeping, which could be transferred to the hospital industry.

Other training available in 4-year college programs in hotel and restaurant administration, specialized training is available in many 2-year junior and community colleges.

An accredited correspondence course is offered by a nonprofit organization. The Educational Institute of the American Hotel and Motel Association, 608 Seventh Ave., New York, N.Y. 10016 (see write to the Association at Michigan State University, Kellogg College, Lansing, Mich. 48924). A list of other accredited hotel/motel home study courses can be obtained by writing the National Home Study Council, 16001 Lightbridge St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20009.
