message, delivered to Congress in January, that there must be a slowdown in government spending. "If that is so, the country will face the alternatives of higher taxes, higher interest rates, increased inflation, or all three."

His new budget, for the coming fiscal year, calculated on the basis of full employment and an expanding economy, calls for personal taxes of $163.3 billion, or $11.3 billion more than is being collected this year.

If Nicholas county residents are to carry their share of this increase, overall income in the area will have to rise by about 7.4 percent, it is estimated.

Bruce P. Debo, president of the Lexington Rotary Club, said the initial seminar called to close 1973 hopes to meet a need of preparing today's youth "to face and solve bewildering world problems."

All working sessions and the seminar luncheon will be held in the UK Student Center.

Democrats urge dollar check-off

American in 1973. For the first time, will be able to participate in the voluntary dollar-checkoff for contributions to the 1976 Presidential election.

The voluntary check-off is available to any taxpayer with a Federal tax liability of $100 or more. Internal Revenue Service tax form 473 should be used. It allows free choice of party designation so that the taxpayer can say where he wants his contribution to go.

Form 473 is included with the 1969 tax returns, both long and short versions. It may also be obtained separately from the Internal Revenue Service.

The $100 check-off is taken from the amount due in tax payments. It is not an added cost to the taxpayer.

Democratic Party Chairman J. R. Miller explains that this is an excellent opportunity for all taxpayers to participate in the process of selecting the President of the United States, on an equal and voluntary basis.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Prisoner at Large!

Security was so lax at a state penitentiary that prisoners could get whiskey, drugs, and even guns without too much trouble. One night a hardened criminal stole a gun and made good his escape.

He was recaptured within a few hours, but not until he had trampled a nearby horse and shot a housewife in the leg. In due course, the demanded damages from the state.

"They run that jail too carelessly," she charged in court. "Escapes are common. Furthermore, they knew that this particular criminal was dangerous. Therefore, the government is to blame for my being shot."

The court agreed, and the woman won a substantial verdict.

Installment debt locally $2,572,000

How much does the average family in Nicholas County owe in the form of installment debt? To what extent are local residents using the buy-now, pay-later plan in their purchases of big ticket items?

More than they did a year ago, according to the findings. There has been a steady increase in recent months, locally and elsewhere, in the use of installment credit.

What it means is that consumers have finally loosened their purse strings, after a period of restrained buying, to purchase the cars, dishwashers, furniture, hi-fi equipment and other expensive articles that they have long been wanting. And, as spending for such items picks up, so does the demand for credit.

The net result, nationally, is that installment debt at the beginning of this year reached approximately $1.5 billion, or about $19 billion more than in January, 1972.

It was equivalent, on the average, to about 10 cents out of every dollar of family income, after taxes.

In Nicholas County, based upon the latest local income and spending figures and upon national studies by the Federal Reserve Board and others, the amount of installment debt outstanding is estimated at $1,190 per family.

That is the average. It ranges from no debt at all, in some families, to considerably more than average in others.

The largest part of it consisted of loans for automobile purchases. The remainder was for other installment buying, for personal loans and loans for home repair and modernization. Not in this category are mortgage debt, charge accounts and single payment loans.

Making repayments at a regular rate takes nearly $1 out of every $6 that a family has left after taxes.

In Nicholas County, that amounts to $106 per month per family, on average.

The big question among bankers and credit men is whether the American public is taking on more debt than it can carry.

Their experience has been that most people use their credit with discretion and do not go overboard.
