

Kidney Foundation designates March 'Gift of Life Month'

March has been designated "Gift of Life Month" in the State of Kentucky. All citizens are urged to assist the Kidney Foundation of Central Kentucky in its efforts to save the lives of the victims of kidney disease. The University of Kentucky Medical Center facilities for kidney transplant are being expanded. Medical science has developed kidney transplant techniques to the point that more than 60% of the transplants are successful. When the transplant fails the patient resumes use of the artificial kidney machine. The rate at which the community makes kidneys available is now a major factor in determining how many lives can be restored by kidney transplants. Needless death and confinement to kidney machines is a problem in our state. A person who has kidney disease and is dependent upon an artificial kidney machine for assistance has one chance to someday lead a normal life again—a cadaver kidney transplant.

These cards are available from members of the Carlisle Junior Woman's Club and Mrs. Ralph Taylor, county chairman. James Turnbow, Middleboro, Ky.

"Sure insulated against care, woes and cold in our electrically heated mobile home!"

"Life's much simpler in our mobile home. And electric heat helps plenty. With good insulation, we're comfortable as those bugs in the rug. And the insulation keeps electricity costs down... just as the system itself keeps maintenance costs way down. We haven't spent a nickel since we installed it."

Take a tip from the Turnbows. If you're in the market for a mobile home, insist on electric heat for the utmost in comfort and convenience. Insist on a quality home insulated to electric heat standards to keep that comfort inside and help keep heating costs to a minimum.

Electricity... for a cleaner home, a cleaner world.
