Transportation Week named by Ford

Prime F. Osborn, president, Louisville & Nashville Railroad, and chairman, National Transportation Week, in Kentucky, announced recently that Governor Wendell H. Ford, has proclaimed May 13-19, 1972 as "Transportation Week" in the Commonwealth.

In his proclamation, Governor Ford stated that the history of Kentucky and the United States cannot be separated from the successful development of this American transportation industry. He said that the observance of this week is a tribute to the men and women, who day and night, move our people and our goods throughout the land and around the world.

In his proclamation, May 13-19, 1972 as "Transportation Week," Governor Ford urged that all citizens of Kentucky recognize and appreciate fully the vital role America's great and modern transportation system plays in their lives and in the welfare of the nation.

Osborn, the Louisville railroad executive, is coordinating all promotional activities of National Transportation Week among the carriers, transportation companies, various transportation organizations and associations throughout the Commonwealth.

WATERGATE, TRUTH, and HOW CANDIDATES GAIN TRUST

"Truth is the cement of all societies" — Dryden

From the beginning of civilization, the way man governs himself has never been a purely secular affair, but a thing of the spirit, involving such qualities as truth and justice.

For democracy to work, the public must be able to trust their public officials. Trust and truth are indeed the cement of society.

Occasionally, someone asks me, "Why would a minister want to be in politics?" My reply is that politics and government just may be where those with deep convictions about truth and trust are needed the most.

You and I cannot afford to be cynical about politics. You and I cannot afford to think ourselves too good for politics. Because decisions are made daily by politicians which affect the quality of our lives and the lives and future of our children and grandchildren.

"Etil prospers when good men do nothing"

I promise you complete honesty and integrity — my very best in the age-old struggle for justice and truth. I offer the editorial below as evidence of the kind of responsibility that I feel a candidate and public official owes the people.

How Candidates Gain Trust

Tom Ward has set a good example for the other Democratic Congressional candidates in the Sixth District by publishing a personal financial statement, listing his income, assets and stock holdings.

Earlier in the campaign, a similar report was made by Walter Dee Hudson.

Respectfully and sincerely yours,
