

What to do in September

Now comes September and a time for starting away—a time for extending the eating joys of summer by taking care of excess vegetables left in the garden after all the canning, freezing, pickling, and drying jobs have been completed. Among the late vegetables that and themselves most readily to be stored...

Flemingsburg passes food stamp resolution

The Flemingburg City Council passed a food stamp resolution like the one recently passed in July by the Carlisle County. Allen Clay Stone was the coordinator and speaker at the meeting held Sept. 4 in Flemingburg. Jerry Blount, a Flemingburg merchant, was present to represent a number of businessmen and interested local people. The resolution passed four to one and one member did not vote.

MEDICINE CHEST

by H. MOWELL YORK, R. PH.

Why do people react differently to the same drug? Patrick K. People will react differently to the same drug because of differences in their genes. The color of our hair and eyes, the shape of our teeth and noses, etc., are predetermined by our genes. The way in which our bodies react to drugs also depends upon our inheritance. It's almost unmistakable indication of our individuality.

How can I get rid of bubbles which form in my insulin one I put it into my syringe?—A.D. Hold the syringe in the vertical position and give a sharp tug with your finger against the barrel of the syringe. When the bubbles float to the top, push it out with the plunger. Roger Hickson has a new pamphlet called "Some Helpful Tips on Using Your Insulin Syringe." For your free copy, send a form to: Well-Advised, stamped envelope, to me with your request.

GET YOUR $ WORK

COPIING WITH THE GASOLINE SHORTAGE. It's the most obvious way to lower gas consumption is to drive less. Cutting down on your mileage isn't as difficult as you might think. Try to combine trips to the supermarket, drugstore or bank. What about getting together with your neighbors to pool passengers? Why not take two cars to a party or a golf date when you can leave one at home? And think about using public transportation more. You'll find it's often cheaper and faster, particularly in big cities.

Feeding the Money Throats (100 gallons U.S. average) you're burning each year—are they regular or premium gas? Premium is the best. You'll get the most mileage for the money. If your owner's manual for your car recommends premium, that's the gas you should use. Having expensive premium gas in your car is like putting a high speed engine in a low speed car. You'll get the most mileage for the money. You'll find it's often cheaper and faster, particularly in big cities.
