Supplemental Security Income new social security program

The Social Security Administration is administering a new program called Supplemental Security Income. This is a program based upon need, and you must have limited income and resources to be eligible. In addition you must be age 65, blind or disabled.

Ed Byrom, manager of the Maysville Social Security office said when you file an application for Supplemental Security Income you will be asked about your income and resources, and requested to furnish proof substantiating these statements.

For example, if you have rents, wages, self-employment income, pension payments, contributions from relatives, interest income or any other type of income, this will have to be listed on your application. In addition, evidence of the amount received such as tax returns pay slips, W-2 Forms and Award Letters must be submitted.

Resources are such things as property, bank and savings accounts, promissory notes, stocks, bonds, and cash on hand. You will be asked to furnish evidence of these resources in the form of bank statements, property assessments, and evaluations of stocks and bonds.

Since the program is based upon need, an individual's resources must not exceed $1500 and a couple's not more than $2250. Some items of income and resources do not count against you; however, failure to disclose items of income and resources when filing an application for Supplemental Security Income could result in criminal prosecution.

If you have a question about Supplemental Security Income, contact your Maysville Social Security Office.

Senator Dee Huddleston

REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY

BUDGET REFORM SHOULD CUT DEFICITS

For many years critics of Congress and even members of Congress have been calling for reform of the method whereby Congress appropriates money and thereby enacts what amounts to an annual budget. I have referred to the present system as a "hydra-headed monster" in which there is no coordination between total spending and expected revenue, nor is there any effective means of making judgments about the priority of one program versus another because all program budgets are enacted separately with no overall limitation on total spending.

The Senate has now passed a bill aimed at reforming the budget process. I was fortunate enough to be a member of the subcommittee and the full Government Operations Committee which did the original drafting of this legislation. Although I would have preferred a somewhat stronger bill, I do believe that the one passed by the Senate, which must now go to conference with the House, provides the basis for a thorough reform of the Congressional budget-making process.

The key factor in the reform process is a requirement that each year new budget committees in the House and Senate recommend annual budget ceilings or guidelines, which would then be approved by Congress as a whole. Any later changes in the spending targets would have to be reconciled with the original guidelines. Hopefully, this would enable us to prevent some of these huge budget deficits that we have had in recent years.

The economic situation in our nation hits each of us squarely each day. We in Congress know that from our own experiences. We know that from the many letters we receive from constituents who find it difficult to meet the growing costs of such basic items as food and heat.

It is beyond time for change. Our economic house must be put in order; and, since charity begins at home, federal spending is a good place to start. Congress cannot live in a glass house of inadequate information and analysis and fragmented budget-making. Nor should we want to. The use of public funds is a special responsibility that should not be taken lightly.

Hopefully, with this legislation we are building the foundation of a process which will lead to detailed consideration and understanding of the federal budgeting process and the important part it plays in the overall fiscal and economic conditions.

The Light Touch

By Bill Thacker

Toughest thing about making a living is that you have to get up and do it all over again tomorrow.

• • • • • •

Going to the beach is like going to the attic — you're apt to be surprised at what you find in trunks.

• • • • • •

Wife to neighbor as husband waters garden: "Last year, all that came up was our water bill."

Gene Kelley, Blue Grass Industries Cost Accountant, discussed "The Ordinary Business Corporation" with the local "American Private Enterprise System" youth group. Evaluating the session are "APES '74" youth scholars Dixie Clay, Kathy Duncan, Ricky Bailey and Brenda Anderson. Nineteen juniors and seniors are enrolled in this eight-weeks study program coordinated by Sara S. Elmer, County Extension Agent for 4-H.

Basics of economics is subject at APES meet

The "APES '74" Youth Action group learned the basics of economics at their fourth session, held at the First National Bank, on Wednesday, March 20.

Emerson Baker, executive vice-president of the First National Bank, led the youth scholars in their discussion on the topic of "Why Economics". The discussion dealt with the consumer and producer decisions which shape our economic system, and the role of government in our system, in contrast with the government's control of the economic systems of other nations.

After the discussion, refreshments were served and it was decided that the next session will be held on Wednesday, March 27, 7:30 p.m. at the First National Bank. Ricky Bailey, reporter.

Area meeting set at Community Center

There will be a Target Area Meeting at 2:00 p.m. on Thursday, April 11, at the Nicholas County Community Center.

Everyone who is interested in the activities of the Center is urged to attend.

FHA week observed

March 31 through April 6 is being observed as Future Homemakers of America week. During this time members of the local chapter will do such things as decorate the teacher's table at school, hold a clean-up day, promote membership in FHA through posters, and wash car windshields.

Future Homemakers of America is a nation-wide organization. Its purpose is to promote home economics and related subjects. The local chapter has a total of 85 members.

LL dance Friday night

Little League players, cheerleaders, and team managers are invited to attend a dance from 7:30 until 10:30 p.m. which will be sponsored by the Little League.

The dance will be held Friday, April 5, at the Elementary gym.

Refreshments will be served for a dime an item and there will be no admission charge. You may bring one guest.

Chaperons will be provided by the League. If you or your parents have any questions you may contact Gearld Watkins, phone 289-5823, or one of the other League chairmen.

Mrs. Wilson to attend home economists workshop

A free lance author known for her campaign to inform the consumer, a home economist who speaks of the appliance industry's dilemma and a spokesman of TVA who considers the alternatives for the consumer will speak to home economists in Bowling Green on April 4 during the second annual Consumer Education Workshop.

The workshop is co-sponsored by Electrical Women's Round Table and Kentucky Home Economics Association at the Red Carpet Inn in Bowling Green prior to the KHEA annual meeting.

More than 300 home economists from across Kentucky are expected to attend. Mrs. Margie H. Wilson, County Extension Agent for Home Economics, will be among the participants.

Virginia Habeeb, free lance author, will challenge the participants with a discussion on the informed consumer and equipment.

Wilma Scott, a North Carolina Extension Specialist, will discuss the "informed consumer and home furnishings." On Thursday afternoon, Janet Felmeth of Westinghouse Electric Corporation will inform consumers of the industry's dilemma. The alternatives available for the informed consumer will be the topic of Mildred Alexander from Tennessee Valley Authority.

A special evening symposium on managing energy is open to the public. Dr. Joyce Rasdall, Western Kentucky University, will moderate a panel discussion.

Participants are: Joreka Loomis, Field Home Economist, General Electric Company; Mary Lynn Goddard, Director, Hoover Home Institute, Hoover Company; Kathleen Meyer, Acting Director of Home Economics, John Oster Manufacturing Company.

The symposium will be held at the Red Carpet Inn, 7:30-8:45 p.m.

NEXT WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

By Clay H. Pollan

Note planetary ruler of your birth symbol

FOR WEEK BEGINNING MONDAY, APRIL 8, 1974

★ If your birthday occurs this week . . .
. . . you are an exceptional person with more than your share of charisma. You take pride in your shrewd mind and capacity for intense concentration. You also take delight in solving problems — the more difficult the better. You have a tendency to discount the opinions of others and tend toward sarcasm.

Aries | Mar. 21 - Apr. 19 | Pluto ♇
An excellent week, favorable for grooming, shopping for wardrobe items, and for improving the general appearance of your environment. Let your creative personality come to the fore and make others aware of your talents and skills. Put on your gayest smile and concentrate on cheering your partner.

Taurus | Apr. 20 - May 20 | Venus ♀
During the week give attention to your health; relax, rest and engage in outdoor sports. Favorable aspects exist for photography and for other hobbies. You have a lot going for you — more than you imagine. Some exciting changes are due. You could receive a message that sends your pride soaring.

Gemini | May 21 - June 20 | Mercury ☿
Feel your way for the time being. It may be well to see just how the tide is going to run. It probably wouldn't be good to start anything new at this time. Stick to basic issues. Refuse to be satisfied with superficial explanations. Insist on the truth. Pisces plays a prominent role now.

Cancer | June 21 - July 22 | Moon ☾
Begin the new week with all the confidence available to you under present influences. Tax, insurance, spending and business matters are stimulated favorably. Decisions and opinions shouldn't be forced. A conference can find you at your best. Show gratitude to someone who has always been helpful.

Leo | July 23 - Aug. 22 | Sun ☉
Prevailing vibrations favor visits with bankers, financial advisors and people you hope to do business with in the future. Be serious about money; handle it carefully. Improvement in working conditions is indicated. Make the most of it. Push important matters. Seek interviews with superiors.

Virgo | Aug. 23 - Sept. 22 | Mercury ☿
You may be the fortunate recipient of a promotion or increase in income. Sudden changes indicated in the place where you work. The evenings bring emphasis on cultural and social pursuits. Favorable for selling, advertising, romantic affairs and making decisions about money. Avoid quarrels and gossip.

Libra | Sept. 23 - Oct. 22 | Venus ♀
It is not a good period in which to buy any large items, though you may want to very much. Shop for clothes if you have the urge, but cut your buying short. Hold off on trips and important moves. The opinions of others and tend toward sarcasm.

Scorpio | Oct. 23 - Nov. 21 | Mars ♂
Duties, obligations and responsibilities can be multiplied under this week's aspects. Motor travel is subject to delays. Guard possessions well. Check security measures carefully. It may be well to consider changing keys or locks. Take things as they are and accept other people quietly.

Sagittarius | Nov. 22 - Dec. 21 | Jupiter ♃
There will be a distinct change in the current of your activities. As a result, you'll find yourself busier and happier. Avoid action based on impulse. Give logic a chance. A lover's quarrel is much in your future and could be important. Buy the best and beware of extremely high heels.

Capricorn | Dec. 22 - Jan. 19 | Saturn ♄
There is excellent prospect of concluding negotiations which have been under way for some time. You are tempted to skip essentials. Get to the core of things. Do important things first. Refuse to be pushed, rushed or forced. Let your partner tackle those pains-taking jobs.

Aquarius | Jan. 20 - Feb. 18 | Uranus ♅
Travel is favored. Discussion about a vacation can send you out to buy new clothes or attractive luggage. A change turns out to your advantage now. Less haste and less speed is advisable. One of your associates is being impatient, careless. You may imagine someone is slighting you.

Pisces | Feb. 19 - Mar. 20 | Neptune ♆
You will find the opposite sex more cheerful, lighthearted and sociable during this cycle. A letter from someone a long way off will set you thinking about vacation time. Your mate delights you by doing the unusual. Many hands make your work much lighter now. Call, write, communicate.
