Why pay taxes

For some 75 million American taxpayers, April 15 is rarely a day to be welcomed. We expect to receive the bill for the year just ended in the past.

When taxes are due, revenue to whom we're owed is due. It certainly do not question our right and even our duty to the responsibility of blood.

Especially at times like this that Paul's words should not be dismissed too lightly. When we object to taxes, we are not being good reasons, but I suggest there is also involved a failure to

Among the several hundred pieces of legislation passed by the 1974 General Assembly, House Bills 10 and 22 were laid upon the state as major amendments to the new Kentucky Commonwealth.

Representatives 93-94 by a minor and good amendment applied pertinent federal regulations to the open records requirement.

More than a year ago, the nation is taking measure of spring and summer with a hot handle. This year family vegetable gardens will be sprouting for about 10 out of every 100 households in the effort to fight climbing prices of an grocery store.

Picture is blurred

WASHINGTON-The major federal legislation assisting local school systems has been enacted. The bill will mean additional millions of dollars coming into the state, and it will be on conference committee to make sure that equity prevails.

Most of the funds referred to in the program are usually known as Title I. It is part of the legislation which was originally sponsored by Rep. Perkins in 1965, and which he fought through to passage.
