

Opinions

The danger has increased

Recently, a reporter from the Memphis Commercial Appeal asked Fred Schwarz, noted author and lecturer on the subject of Communism: "Is the situation in the U.S. better or worse than when you commenced the Christian Anti-Communism Crusade in 1947?"

Without hesitation Dr. Schwarz replied: "Much worse."

"In what way?" asked the reporter.

"In 1947 the USA was the strongest military power in the world. Now, most authorities agree that the Soviet Union has surpassed this country in military might."

"In 1947 communism had covered no country in the western hemisphere. Today a brutal communist dictatorship oppresses the Cuban people. In that people could walk the streets of most cities without fear. Today most people are reluctant to do this."

"In 1947 sexual license was not taught in schools in the education system. In 1947, hard core pornography was not presented in theaters, movie houses and bookstores in 24th Street, and the slaughter of the unborn was not a national scandal."

"In 1947 the economy was not threatened by a raging and uncontrolled inflation."

Dr. Schwarz explained that while these conditions might appear to be favorable to the problem of communism, they are, in fact, intimately involved in the communist strategy of conquest. That strategy can be expressed by the formula: "External encirclement, plus internal demoralization, leading to progressive surrender."

One does not have to look very far to find evidence of the three elements of communist conquest. It is this cause for the loss of hope! Dr. Schwarz thinks that. "This is a time when a new generation has become aware of the failure of national policies and the growing communist danger, and these young people are ripe for instruction and recruitment."

One does not have to look very far to find evidence of the three elements of communist conquest. It is this cause for the loss of hope! Dr. Schwarz thinks that. "This is a time when a new generation has become aware of the failure of national policies and the growing communist danger, and these young people are ripe for instruction and recruitment."

Clearly and immediately need will decline from 9 million barrels per day currently to about 1 million barrels per day by 1955. . . . Without new reserves, natural gas production in the same period will decline from 23 billion cubic feet to 1 billion. . . . This crippling decline in domestic oil production will result in a steady and slow or reversed, large new reserves must be developed. . . . The potential for discovery now exists in the offshore areas of the U.S. Continental Shelf. . . .

Agree or Not

FRANKFORT—Governor Wendell Ford is likely to be a quiet Freshman U.S. Senator when he takes the oath of office in Washington Jan. 3, following his victory in the election.

First off, he seems a good person to be in the government and has indicated that "select" programs would be the job. He cited the capabilities of this nation's nuclear developments and other crash programs such as putting a man on the moon.

He has suggested that Manhattan-type project should be organized to tackle the nuclear bomb. The Manhattan-type project would be organized to tackle the nuclear bomb. The Manhattan-type project would be organized to tackle the nuclear bomb.

There has been ample warning. Yet more time slips by as Congress debates and the nation's energy market much stronger than it is now.

Ford also may have another purpose in mind that can hopefully project him into the national spotlight. He supported Senator Henry (Scoop) Jackson for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination after Senator Edward Brooke of Massachusetts pulled out of the race.

His friendship with Jackson and his interests in energy, similar lines to Jackson could be very helpful to him as a potential candidate for the vice presidency in 1976.

It will be especially helpful in maintaining a coalition of grass roots communication directly to Capitol Hill, Preston said, adding: "The government feels if it can make contributions in this area he wants to do it. More and more our Congress is going to have input from the states."

The Democrats may manage more governments in this year's elections and this further would strengthen Ford's confidence in the nation if he is able to successfully establish this idea. The fact that one of his own people heads up the Democratic Government office in Washington would seem to

20 and 40 years ago

Thursday, December 9, 1934
A representative group of Carlsle's businessmen met Friday afternoon and organized a Carlsle-Nicholas County Chamber of Commerce. W. B. Buntin, Jr. was elected temporary chairman, and Oscar Blair, temporary secretary. Thomas Hughes, 30, son of John Hughes, injured himself Friday afternoon while killing hogs on the J. C. Livingston farm, when a 2-caliber rifle discharged a bullet into his left shoulder.

Mrs. William Hildner, 31, and of her five children were injured last Wednesday in an auto accident in front of their farm on the Jackson Pike. The accident occurred when Mrs. Hildner lost control of her car. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cord and little daughter have moved to their new home on South Elm Street. Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Crawford and daughter have moved to the Prater home on West Main Street.

MARRIAGE—Miss Joyce Loraine Hower to Stanley Lee McIntyre, both of Cowan, Friday in Dayton, Ohio. Jeanne Lynne Eisenman to Malshier P. Nichols, both of Seaside, Wash., Nov. 21 in Bellevue, Wash.

DIED—Horace H. Roberts, 62, at his home in Louisville Friday. Mr. Alice Hollis Snapp, 64, Friday in Lexington. Mrs. Mayne Dee Lester, 54, Sunday in Paris. Mrs. Pearl Florence Claypool Fields, 79, Sunday in Paris.

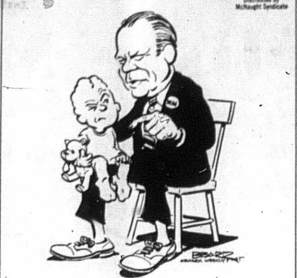

Mercury vapors

by Warren R. Fisher

I believe the following from the Page News and Courier, of Lenoir, Va. was written just as I could reprint it:

TIME MARCHES ON
The ticking of the clock is one of the most important things in the world. It marks the passage of time. It reminds us that another second, another hour, another day, another year, is passing. And yet, despite this constant reminder, most of us are busy waiting time, using it aimlessly, failing to get out of it either an enjoyment or the satisfaction of accomplishment.

We know that the opportunity which

— AND HE ATE ALL HIS FOOD, AND HE SAVED HIS PENNIES, AND HE WENT TO BED EARLY AND HE LIVED HAPPILY EVER AFTER!

Food Poisoning

Food poisoning is a common illness according to the county extension agents. It is caused by bacteria which are present in food. The most common cause is undercooked meat. Other causes include spoiled milk, eggs, and vegetables. Symptoms include nausea, vomiting, and diarrhea. Prevention includes proper food handling and cooking.

Dear Debbie

My husband and I belong to this organization that gets together once a year. Last week we attended their annual dinner. Someone we vaguely knew there with a woman I didn't recognize. I had a little too much to drink and in the power I told her that the man she was with was married to a woman I knew. She was leaving her. The woman smiled and said she was Debbie. I found out SHE was his wife. I didn't recognize her because she had a great deal of weight this year and looked like a completely different person. I have been upset all week thinking about this incident. They are not people we see but I would like to call and tell her how sorry I am. My husband says I should forget it. What do you think?

Dear Debbie

What do you think of an office that chips in to buy the boss a Christmas present every year when he's never given you so much as a greeting card? What's worse, his wife calls up this toady who always does the collecting and tells her what she should buy! Last year it was an expensive clock. This year it is an ice bucket but now she has the nerve to give us the brand name and style number of one SHE'S already picked out. All of these gifts wind up their home. The weird thing is nobody had me see anything wrong with it but tell everyone my boss can afford to furnish his home with my help and I won't go to Chicago in any more. Now my co-workers barely speak to me. Am I crazy or what?

Dear Debbie

Are you assuming you weren't obtuse in explaining your position and didn't try to blow them into joining you, their behavior is understandable. As for your boss, his behavior is tasteless in the extreme and your patience might just stop your Jimmy where her mouth is.

If you have a problem, sometimes it helps to write to me in care of this newspaper. Personal replies aren't always possible, but I'll answer the letters of widest interest in this column. (c) 1974, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Farm and home

County extension agents
Paul J. Neffinger
Sara Elmer
Mrs. Margie Wilson

Food poisoning is a common illness according to the county extension agents. It is caused by bacteria which are present in food. The most common cause is undercooked meat. Other causes include spoiled milk, eggs, and vegetables. Symptoms include nausea, vomiting, and diarrhea. Prevention includes proper food handling and cooking.

GRAFFITI
WOULD YOU CALL WINE EXPERT A PORT AUTHORITY?

IN QUOTES
"WHAT I GAINED IN FRANCE WAS THE DISGUST WITH MY OWN COUNTRY."
— Winston Churchill

Letters

LIGHT LINES
I have a question about the light lines in the newspaper. They are very faint and hard to read. Can you do anything about this?

Dear Debbie

My husband and I belong to this organization that gets together once a year. Last week we attended their annual dinner. Someone we vaguely knew there with a woman I didn't recognize. I had a little too much to drink and in the power I told her that the man she was with was married to a woman I knew. She was leaving her. The woman smiled and said she was Debbie. I found out SHE was his wife. I didn't recognize her because she had a great deal of weight this year and looked like a completely different person. I have been upset all week thinking about this incident. They are not people we see but I would like to call and tell her how sorry I am. My husband says I should forget it. What do you think?

Dear Debbie

What do you think of an office that chips in to buy the boss a Christmas present every year when he's never given you so much as a greeting card? What's worse, his wife calls up this toady who always does the collecting and tells her what she should buy! Last year it was an expensive clock. This year it is an ice bucket but now she has the nerve to give us the brand name and style number of one SHE'S already picked out. All of these gifts wind up their home. The weird thing is nobody had me see anything wrong with it but tell everyone my boss can afford to furnish his home with my help and I won't go to Chicago in any more. Now my co-workers barely speak to me. Am I crazy or what?

Murray instructor receives Teacher of the Year Award

Clara W. Humphrey, a Murray High School English instructor for 13 years, was selected as Kentucky's Teacher of the Year. Dr. Lyman V. Ginger announced recently.

Clara W. Humphrey, a Murray High School English instructor for 13 years, was selected as Kentucky's Teacher of the Year. Dr. Lyman V. Ginger announced recently. She has been selected as Kentucky's Teacher of the Year. Dr. Lyman V. Ginger announced recently.

Dear Debbie
My husband and I belong to this organization that gets together once a year. Last week we attended their annual dinner. Someone we vaguely knew there with a woman I didn't recognize. I had a little too much to drink and in the power I told her that the man she was with was married to a woman I knew. She was leaving her. The woman smiled and said she was Debbie. I found out SHE was his wife. I didn't recognize her because she had a great deal of weight this year and looked like a completely different person. I have been upset all week thinking about this incident. They are not people we see but I would like to call and tell her how sorry I am. My husband says I should forget it. What do you think?

Dear Debbie
What do you think of an office that chips in to buy the boss a Christmas present every year when he's never given you so much as a greeting card? What's worse, his wife calls up this toady who always does the collecting and tells her what she should buy! Last year it was an expensive clock. This year it is an ice bucket but now she has the nerve to give us the brand name and style number of one SHE'S already picked out. All of these gifts wind up their home. The weird thing is nobody had me see anything wrong with it but tell everyone my boss can afford to furnish his home with my help and I won't go to Chicago in any more. Now my co-workers barely speak to me. Am I crazy or what?

Dear Debbie

Are you assuming you weren't obtuse in explaining your position and didn't try to blow them into joining you, their behavior is understandable. As for your boss, his behavior is tasteless in the extreme and your patience might just stop your Jimmy where her mouth is.

If you have a problem, sometimes it helps to write to me in care of this newspaper. Personal replies aren't always possible, but I'll answer the letters of widest interest in this column. (c) 1974, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Little Indians begin the First Thanksgiving at the Carlsle Kindergarten class last week.

Kindergarten children popping corn for Thanksgiving celebration. The Carlsle Kindergarten class last week.

Kindergarten children dressed in pilgrim hats having Thanksgiving feast of popcorn and Kool Aid.

Dear Debbie
Letters to DEBORAH WHITE

Dear Debbie
My husband and I belong to this organization that gets together once a year. Last week we attended their annual dinner. Someone we vaguely knew there with a woman I didn't recognize. I had a little too much to drink and in the power I told her that the man she was with was married to a woman I knew. She was leaving her. The woman smiled and said she was Debbie. I found out SHE was his wife. I didn't recognize her because she had a great deal of weight this year and looked like a completely different person. I have been upset all week thinking about this incident. They are not people we see but I would like to call and tell her how sorry I am. My husband says I should forget it. What do you think?

Dear Debbie

What do you think of an office that chips in to buy the boss a Christmas present every year when he's never given you so much as a greeting card? What's worse, his wife calls up this toady who always does the collecting and tells her what she should buy! Last year it was an expensive clock. This year it is an ice bucket but now she has the nerve to give us the brand name and style number of one SHE'S already picked out. All of these gifts wind up their home. The weird thing is nobody had me see anything wrong with it but tell everyone my boss can afford to furnish his home with my help and I won't go to Chicago in any more. Now my co-workers barely speak to me. Am I crazy or what?

Dear Debbie

Are you assuming you weren't obtuse in explaining your position and didn't try to blow them into joining you, their behavior is understandable. As for your boss, his behavior is tasteless in the extreme and your patience might just stop your Jimmy where her mouth is.

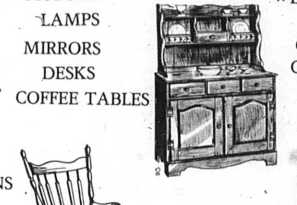

If you have a problem, sometimes it helps to write to me in care of this newspaper. Personal replies aren't always possible, but I'll answer the letters of widest interest in this column. (c) 1974, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Garrett's Furniture

GIFT IDEAS for the home

Garrett's Furniture has stressed good solid values in all home furnishings. Give a gift that all the family can enjoy. LIVINGROOM SUITES, BEDROOM SUITES, DESKS, CEDAR CHESTS, COFFEE TABLES, ROOM DIVIDERS, HASSOCKS, DININGROOM PIECES, HOUSEHOLD ACCESSORIES, GE FREEZERS, REFRIGERATORS, WASHERS, DRYERS, ELECTRIC RANGES, GE RADIOS, TV'S, STEROS, General Electric and Garrett's Furniture are giving away on Dec. 31

this "Stone of the Future"

Come In and Register Second Prize Big Reclining Chair. The Super Versatronic® Oven System is the Only System in America That Lets You Choose Your Way! — Goes with Microwave Oven — Cook Cook Both Ways at Once

Model 856
Self-Cleaning Microwave Oven
COOKS AND BROWNS IN MINUTES!

BE PENNY WISE - BRING IN THESE PENNIES NOW!

First National Bank
KENTUCKY GROUP BANKS

Garrett's Furniture Co.

CARLSLE PHONE 289-2308