

Food shared generously spreads Christmas spirit

Christmas Day is almost here, a day that most of us look forward to with happy anticipation.

A day of brightly-wrapped presents under the tree and a table laden with turkey and all the trimmings for a traditional Christmas dinner.

For some—the poor, the lonely, the families who cannot afford Christmas dinner or gifts for a tree—the Christmas season can seem the unappetizing of times when the bustling, cheery affluence of most people emphasizes most poignantly their own need.

For more than 80 years, since 1893, the Salvation Army has worked diligently to help make Christmas happier for millions of unfortunate people. Just last year alone, more than two million received help through the "Share in Caring" program of red kettles, street corner donations.

This year, for the second time, there's another way to help—a good collection program especially appropriate in these days of ever-rising food costs.

The Salvation Army is joining with local Kentucky Fried Chicken stores all over the country to collect food for the needy.

From now until Christmas Day, our local Kentucky Fried Chicken stores will have special containers for collecting your donations of canned foods of all kinds.

The Salvation Army will collect all these donations and distribute them to needy families right here in our own community.

You enjoy the busy what of holiday preparations this year, we hope you'll remember those who are not so fortunate. Take a few minutes to drop off your donations to the KFC store nearest you.

It's a small effort, but it makes a difference. All of us will share the Christmas spirit of spreading it all across our area.

Jackets fall to St. Patrick, 81-54

A trip to Mayville last Tuesday proved to be disastrous for the Nicholas County Bluejackets when they fell at the hands of a free-up St. Patrick team.

St. Patrick returned a host of experienced players from last year which are led by Jimmy Fardon. Fardon scored in 47 points against the Bluejackets to set a new school record in the scoring department.

The game began with the Jackets playing shaggy and falling behind, 1-1, before four free throws by Raymond Compton brought them back to within five points at 4-4.

The Jackets, who were playing without Junior forward Ricky Hicks because of an injury then began to give way to a well balanced St. Patrick team and dropped to 16-4 by the end of the first quarter.

Throughout the second and third quarters St. Patrick just continued to stretch out their lead. They looked especially good on their offensive boards, getting second and third shots on numerous occasions.

In the fourth quarter the Jackets seemed to show some belated signs of life. Led by Raymond Compton and Wallace Edwards they outscored the Bluejackets 10-4.
