Slick roads cause accidents

A 1970 Maverick, driven by Mrs. George Gaunce of Lexington and a 1964 Chevrolet station wagon, driven by Dale Cassidy of Nicholas county were both badly damaged when they collided Sunday, Feb. 24 around 11 a.m. in front of the home of Chester Mattox on the Saltwell Road.

Sheriff Reese Smoot investigated the accident which he reported to be caused by slick roads. No injuries were reported.

Strikes parked car

Another accident on the Moorefield Road, around noon Sunday was investigated by deputy sheriff J.W. Ecton. Two cars were involved when a 1971 Plymouth, driven by Mrs. Ann House struck a car parked in the driveway of Billy Wayne Watkins. Watkins' car was badly damaged.

Leaves scene of accident

On Tuesday, Feb. 19, a 1963 Plymouth bearing an Ohio license plate struck a telephone pole on Highway 68 near the residence of Tommy Grimes.

The driver left the scene of the accident, leaving the car in the middle of the road.

The car has been taken to the Fred Burnaw Garage. To date no charges have been filed by the telephone company. Sheriff Smoot and deputy Ecton investigated the accident.

Gardening Tips from Extension Specialists at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture

Gardeners and non gardeners often debate over whether it's cheaper to buy vegetables or to grow them. In growing one's own garden, however, there are hidden benefits that far outweigh the few pennies difference in cost between a mess of roasting ears from a backyard plot and a similar mess secured from the neighborhood grocery.

This is not to depreciate the goodness of supermarket vegetables at all, but despite the speed and efficiency of our modern transportation system, the skill of commercial gardeners in growing fine products, and improved varieties of garden truck, few "bought" garden products have the quality and good taste possessed by those pulled fresh and hurried to the pot.

The reason is simply a matter of time, says C.R. Roberts, UK Extension vegetable specialist. Commercial vegetable fields are usually far removed from the marketplace and, in the time-lag occasioned by harvesting, packing, and hauling long distances, many vegetables lose a lot of their tastiness and possibly some of their nutritional values. In addition, vegetables such as tomatoes that must be shipped for some distance are picked before they are vine ripe.

Then, more than just a matter of better eating, there are other hidden payoffs in home gardening. For one thing, it can be a relaxing and productive diversion from the harassments of this swift-paced nuclear age. Spading, or plowing up the earth, planting a seed, and coaxing it to grow to productive maturity helps a person get back to fundamentals, better understand the mysterious forces of nature, and—as one gardener put it—"stabilize the mind."

To this and other psychological benefits, add the benefits of physical exercise entailed in cultivating the soil. That exercise out in the open air of spring and summer could possibly result in a much fitter physical condition.

And where can a person grow a garden? Just about any place where there is soil, water, and sunshine—a flower bed-sized plot in the yard, a fence row, or even a window box in a big city apartment.

There have been cases where city dwellers raised considerable quantities of lettuce, radishes, carrots, and even tomatoes in boxes attached to their window sills high above the streets. A fence row in the backyard can be made into an ideal "vertical garden" which will produce peas, beans, tomatoes, cucumbers, squash, and other vining vegetables.

Whether in a window box, in a pot on the patio, along a fence row, or on a one-half acre plot, some simple rules must be observed to produce satisfactory vegetables, according to Roberts. First the topsoil should be worked up and enriched with organic matter and some fertilizer. Then the seed must be planted and, if rains are not forthcoming, watered and kept watered. Also the plot must be kept free of weeds.

Your county Extension office has a wealth of information, available on request, about kinds of gardens and varieties of vegetables best suited for each.

Statement provides guidelines for canal treaty negotiations

The text of the joint statement signed by Foreign Minister Juan A. Tack and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger which contains the eight principles for the negotiation of a new Panama Canal treaty follows:

The Republic of Panama and the United States of America have been engaged in negotiations to conclude an entirely new treaty respecting the Panama Canal, negotiations which were made possible by the Joint Declaration between the two countries on April 3, 1964, agreed to under the auspices of the Permanent Council of the Organization of American States acting provisionally as the Organ of Consultation. The new treaty would abrogate the treaty existing since 1903 and its subsequent amendments, establishing the necessary conditions for a modern relationship between the two countries based on the most profound mutual respect.

Since the end of last November, the authorized representatives of the two governments have been holding important conversations which have permitted agreement to be reached on a set of fundamental principles that will serve to guide the negotiators in their effort to conclude a just and equitable treaty eliminating, once and for all, the causes of conflict between the two countries.

The principles to which we have agreed, on behalf of our respective governments, are as follows:

1. The Treaty of 1903 and its amendments will be abrogated by the conclusion of an entirely new interoceanic canal treaty.

2. The concept of perpetuity will be eliminated. The new treaty concerning the lock canal shall have a fixed termination date.

3. Territoriation of United States jurisdiction over Panamanian territory shall take place promptly in accordance with terms specified in the treaty.

4. The Panamanian territory in which the canal is situated shall be returned to the jurisdiction of the Republic of Panama. The Republic of Panama, in its capacity as territorial sovereign, shall grant to the United States of America, for the duration of the new interoceanic canal treaty and in accordance with what that treaty states, the right to use the lands, waters and airspace which may be necessary for the operation, maintenance, protection and defense of the canal and the transit of ships.

5. The Republic of Panama shall have a just and equitable share of the benefits derived from the operation of the canal in its territory. It is recognized that the geographic position of its territory constitutes the principal resource of the Republic of Panama.

6. The Republic of Panama shall participate in the administration of the canal, in accordance with a procedure to be agreed upon in the treaty. The treaty shall also provide that Panama will assume total responsibility for the operation of the canal upon the termination of the treaty. The Republic of Panama shall grant to the United States of America the rights necessary to regulate the transit of ships through the canal and operate, maintain, protect and defend the canal, and to undertake any other specific activity related to those ends, as may be agreed upon in the treaty.

7. The Republic of Panama shall participate with the United States of America in the protection and defense of the canal in accordance with what is agreed upon in the new treaty.

8. The Republic of Panama and the United States of America, recognizing the important services rendered by the interoceanic Panama Canal to international maritime traffic, and bearing in mind the possibility that the present canal could become inadequate for said traffic, shall agree bilaterally on provisions for new projects which will enlarge canal capacity. Such provisions will be incorporated in the new treaty in accord with the concepts established in principal 2.

Henry A. Kissinger, Secretary of State of the United States of America. Juan Antonio Tack, Minister of Foreign Affairs of The Republic of Panama.

NEXT WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

By Clay R. Pollan

Note planetary ruler of your birth symbol

FOR WEEK BEGINNING MONDAY, MARCH 4, 1974

★ If your birthday occurs this week . . .

. . . you will find that letters and deliveries will be important and will somehow affect your plans and outlook. Things don't seem to turn out as you would wish. Some news may be disturbing. A proposition that you had presented may be turned down. However, you'll have chance to make favorable changes.

♈ Aries | Mar. 21 - Apr. 19 | Pluto ♇

Change things around a bit this week. Do something different just for the sake of change, even if it is just moving the furniture around. Buy things to make life at home more cheerful. Team up with a prosperous Leo-born person. Emotions tend to dim your logic. Be deliberate in decisions.

♉ Taurus | Apr. 20 - May 20 | Venus ♀

A week of tangled aspects. Apparently there is need for better methods. Refuse to be harried or hurried. Be sympathetic toward one who confides in you, but avoid becoming involved. You could innocently upset an associate. May be welcome news from a distant place. Give ideas time to develop.

♊ Gemini | May 21 - June 20 | Mercury ☿

The stars indicate an unusual week with many surprises. Your companionship will be much in demand and your helpful advice will be welcomed. You're on the threshold of an exciting discovery. Those in high authority favor you now. If something hangs fire, clear it up without much ado.

♋ Cancer | June 21 - July 22 | Moon ☾

There's a tendency to vacillate during this cycle. Stay on the wavelength of people who're compatible. Companions will respond cheerfully, when encouraged. A change of scenery would be refreshing. It's time to think of a Spring vacation. Visit a travel agency and pick up interesting folders.

♌ Leo | July 23 - Aug. 22 | Sun ☉

Financial actions are favored now. You can feel safe in signing papers, especially where money is involved. Try to develop a new source of income. Sales pitches should stress your reliability and expertise. Discretion is needed in private matters. Talks with elders would result in sound advice.

♍ Virgo | Aug. 23 - Sept. 22 | Mercury ☿

Finish any boring tasks as quickly as possible. Be wary and look ahead to avoid trouble. Show appreciation to one who makes an effort on your behalf. Your timing improves. Creative endeavors are likely to succeed. Members of opposite sex show interest in you and pay meaningful compliments.

♎ Libra | Sept. 23 - Oct. 22 | Venus ♀

Social life is good this week, but avoid those who try to pry into your affairs and offer unsolicited advice. Financial side of your affairs needs more attention. Put more concentrated effort in your work. Conditions change much in your liking. Good luck is with you. Hard work wins. Study pace preferable.

♏ Scorpio | Oct. 23 - Nov. 21 | Mars ♂

Good news can come when you're feeling low. Share your festive spirit and entertain friends at home. New ventures started now have high hopes of success. A good time for bringing your influence to bear. There's prospect of a happy encounter with an old flame. Romance is in the air.

♐ Sagittarius | Nov. 22 - Dec. 21 | Jupiter ♃

Plenty of action this week. Don't take too long in making decisions when you're asked to do so. Dress things up to please the older and more conventional generation. Adventurous trip you've longed to take is coming closer to realization. Impulsive and heart-warming generosity is shown by friends.

♑ Capricorn | Dec. 22 - Jan. 19 | Saturn ♄

Some adverse aspects this week. Take good care of yourself. Lift no heavy objects and risk no falls. There can be intrusion and interruption in your course. Draw limits and let others know that you have important work to do. Debts can be paid and collected. Valuable information comes to you.

♒ Aquarius | Jan. 20 - Feb. 18 | Uranus ♅

People are receptive to your ideas and more accessible than usual. Favors may be granted and then some. You are recognized and praised. Keep clear of highly strung, neurotic types, for they would let you down. Finish assignments. Don't offer excuses for delay. Follow through on any tip.

♓ Pisces | Feb. 19 - Mar. 20 | Neptune ♆

An interesting week. A mystery may be in the offing. You'll just love trying to fathom an unexplained incident. Your unsolicited advice may not be welcomed. You can talk yourself out of difficulties. You may discover you've been misled in a private matter. Banish worry. Future looks brighter.

MAGICWORD by JULIE QUART

HOW TO PLAY: Read the list of words. Look at the puzzle. You'll find these words in all directions — horizontally, vertically, diagonally, backwards. Draw a circle around each letter of a word found in the puzzle then strike it off list. Circling it will show a letter has been used—but will leave it visible, should it also form part of another word. Find the big words first. When letters of all listed words are circled, you'll have the given number of letters left over. They'll spell out your MAGICWORD.
