

Babe Ruth and Little League action

The Babe Ruth Giants caught a couple of wins last week and kept their winning streak, which has now become eight consecutive games, intact. The Giants knocked out the Senators, 13-4,

Tuesday night with a pair of catches by coach Leitcher and Timmy Wilson. Clifford Thompson stood out for the Senators as he went two for three. The Vets blanked the Dodgers, 16-0, on Ricky Mattox's 4th, shut out pitching performance. Mattox also led the hitting for his team with a double and single. Mark Mattox followed with a triple and another two for three. The Senators downed the Vets, 10-7, Friday night. Clifford Thompson led the Senators with another two for three. The Giants came up with two other long hits on triples by Damon Booth and Timmy Wilson. Earl Planck and Edward Earlywine got hits for the Dodgers' cause.

The Cubs edged the Blue Jays, 13-11, Monday in Little League play. The Cubs' homer for the Blue Jays didn't prove as successful as a pair of "doubles" by McEliffrey and Fryman.

The Reds beat the Athletics, 10-6, in the second "supersaver" of the day. Cukerson's big triple led the Redlegs over a Knappie double topped the Athletics.

The Flyers beat the Athletics, 9-4, Thursday. Earlywine and Allison came through with a triple and a double, respectively, for the Athletics. A couple of Chris Rose doubles led the winning team in their effort.

In the second game Thursday the Redlegs thumped the Dodgers, 7-4. The Redlegs were led by a Frederick triple and a Wells double, while Bensell and Haney had the only Dodger hits.

The Little League Flyers catcher, Jerry Hillander, Little League Athletic Hawks, chase down a ball to prevent a runner on third base from scoring.

Mrs. J. Edgar Freeland has heirlooms of past in her home

The wooden candlesticks on the left were made for Mrs. J. Edgar Freeland from a lamp post which was used as a hitching post in front of the Carlisle Cemetery. Mrs. Freeland obtained permission from Mrs. McCracken to retrieve the lamp post and Raleigh Scott, a carpenter, made the candlesticks. The Oliver Typewriter on the right belonged to Mrs. Freeland. It is approximately 75 years old and the type on each side crosses over to the paper as it is used. Mrs. Freeland used this typewriter to record Carlisle Cemetery records during the 31 years he was caretaker of the Cemetery. Janie Duncan photo
