REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY

WASTE TREATMENT GRANTS

Certainly one of the greatest incentives for good that this country has made in recent years has been the Federal grant program to construct waste treatment facilities. This is truly a program that will benefit both ourselves and generations to come.

But this fine program has been frustrated for the past several years by administrative postponements and by delays caused by ever-changing Federal regulations.

When Congress passed the Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972, it authorized the expenditure of $18 billion over the next three years for the construction of waste treatment facilities. Yet during the three following years the administration has imposed half the funds allotted by Congress.

The Fiscal Year 1975 budget, announced in January, included only $4 billion of the $7 billion made available by Congress. This creates a very serious problem for many cities and communities, which will probably not be able to meet secondary treatment requirements by the July 1, 1977 deadline. It seems inconceivable to me that the administration is stalling with the necessary tools and authority would forego our commitment to cleaning up the environment by appropriating money appropriated by the Congress.

Just this past week, after much work by my office and other members of the Kentucky delegation we were able to secure the release of numerous reimbursement grants to help meet some of these costs. We were also successful in getting the E.P.A. from reducing Kentucky's share of these funds.

There is another problem facing many Kentucky communities - the military costs of construction which have made many of our local grants from the Environmental Protection Agency inadequate. Recently I wrote Robert H. Train, E.P.A. Administrator, pointing out the problem faced by these Kentucky communities and hundreds of others throughout the country.

Some of these communities were originally approved under the old 55 percent program but which have not begun construction of delays, largely the result of changing Federal regulations and requirements. During the pay Federal approval and the present, construction costs have skyrocketed to the point that the original grant no longer represents 55 percent of actual costs. In fact, in some cases it is more like 30-40 percent.

The same thing applies to many cities which received 75 percent grants but have not begun construction. Their costs have likewise gone up, up, up.

I have appealed to Mr. Train to review E.P.A.'s legal interpretation of the intent of Congress in the 1972 law to see if these grants cannot be increased to help meet the added costs. Congress intended that every effort be made to help those communities making a good faith effort to clean up their environment, and I hope E.P.A. will quickly come to that conclusion.

Fish and Wildlife Commission announces hunting-fishing rules

The Fish and Wildlife Commission has broken with tradition and set a rabbit and quail hunting season that will extend through February, instead of ending Jan. 31, and a five-day gun deer season for December, instead of November, but voted to retain the 10-inch size limit on black bass, fish and Wildlife Commissioner Arnold Mitchell said following the commission meeting in Frankfort.

The commission's deliberation on whether to change the 10-inch size limit on black bass was made at the request of several sportmen groups who had sought a 12-inch size limit. The decision came after several months of study by the commission.

The season for rabbit and quail hunting-and for grouse and turkeys-will open Nov. 21, close during the gun deer season, Dec. 7 through 11; reopen Dec. 12 and continue through Feb. 28. No change was made in the bag and possession limits, and they remain 10 daily and 20 in possession for quail; six and 12 for rabbits; four and eight for grouse; and no limit for turkeys.

Only one deer per hunter per year may be taken, whether by gun or bow, and only bucks with forked antlers or antlers will be legal game during the November gun hunt except in Barren, Hart and Edmonson counties, where either sex deer may be taken. All counties except Clay, Powell, Harlan, Jackson and Owensley will be open for deer hunting.

(Archery deer hunters may hunt Oct. 1 through Nov. 15 and again Dec. 16 through Dec. 31, and a five-day gun deer season for December, instead of November, but voted to retain the 10-inch size limit on black bass, fish and Wildlife Commissioner Arnold Mitchell said following the commission meeting in Frankfort.)

The squirrel season, also set by the commission, will open on the traditional third Saturday in August, the 17th, continue through Oct. 31; reopen Nov. 21; close through the gun deer hunt (Dec. 21); open again Dec. 12 and continue through Dec. 31. The squirrel season, also set by the commission, will open on the traditional third Saturday in August, the 17th, continue through Oct. 31; reopen Nov. 21; close through the gun deer hunt (Dec. 21); open again Dec. 12 and continue through Dec. 31.

limits remain six and 12. In other action the commission adopted a requirement that all gun hunters wear either a vest, or coat, or coveralls, or cap or hat of "hunter orange" as a safety factor. (Previous regulations stipulated only some "hunter orange" on the chest and back.) The commission also voted to close the land between the Lakes to fishing and deer gigning and relaxed the restrictions on LBL to allow gigning after midnight.

And, the commission ordered closed to all hunting three wildlife management areas-Grayson Area in Carter and Elliott counties; Pipe Mountain Area in Letcher county, and Beaver Creek Area in McCreary and Putnam counties. These areas were closed in an effort to rebuild the deer population there, Mitchell said.

The Economy Call is like an economy car.

Both save you money on long distance visits. But the economy car needs gas and time and your energy to get you there. And the Economy Call needs only a finger to dial One, plus the area code, plus the out-of-town number. That takes only a few seconds. While it's nice to travel there in person, right now, can you think of a better alternative than the Economy Call?
