A Bicentennial—what's that?

by H. Dallas Hugg

Even after a year's planning and vigorous promotion there is many in Nicholas county who remain ignorant to what it is all about when you know a Bicentennial Celebration.

First, the celebration is a time when we recognize the first 100 years of the celebration of Kentucky, at least from 1776 to the date emphasis is placed on happens that in 1974 we are recognizing the 175th anniversary of Nicholas county. The whole affair is not a celebration in 1974 when we celebrate the 200th anniversary of our country. It is a celebration that is a Bicentennial Celebration in all about.

But behind the scenes there is a lot of work that needs to be done, and at this point only a comparatively few people seem interested in doing it. The Bicentennial Committee has practically begged on their knees for money, for money, for just a little interest. The surprising thing about the whole celebration is that persons who are the "newcomers" who are the most interested. These persons who have lived here for a lifetime seem to take it for granted that everything will "fall in place". Anything of the magnitude of a Bicentennial celebration just does not fall into place.

Of course, there is money involved. And where will this money come from? It will come from the citizens of Nicholas county. The business people who support everything else will have to support this celebration too. Bicentennial gifts are tax deductible. The whole affair is not a celebration in 1974 when we celebrate the 200th anniversary of our country. It is a celebration that is a Bicentennial Celebration in all about.

How much Money? Who really works that needs to be done, and at this point only a comparatively few people seem interested in doing it. MERCURY by Warren R. Fisher Mercury—remodeling at Garrett's Furniture on the building housing of Elm and Main Streets—the former location of H. Dallas Hugg's home. A hand letter says Home Hardware, a letter was written by Dairy Electric church dated 1958. The building is very old, but they did bring back a flood of thoughts. The foremost one being in painting the hand areas and the rest manufactured by C.R. and shipped far and wide.

One of the first things I ever had was painting these contraptions for the grocery store of 25 cents per dozen or 50043 cents as price, and as time went on, I became proficient enough to produce 12 dozen a day—43 cents was considered a right good wage for a lad in those days.

MAGICWORD by JULIE QUARTY. HOW TO PLAY: Read the list of words. Look at the puzzle. You'll find these words in all directions—horizontally, vertically, diagonally, backwards. Draw the words with a pencil. Circle the words in the puzzle. Write the words in the space provided. If you have a small word, I find the big word first. When letters of all kinds are correct, you have the words. Write the letters left over. They'll spell out your MAGICWORD.

Kentucky religious communities to observe Bicentennial Sabbath

By David Kemmerer. The 1974 Kentucky Bicentennial Celebrations and the 1975 national Bicentennial are commemorated by important events in our state.

Warner W. Adair, Israel Temple of Louisville, a member of the committee, said "to have people in all Kentucky churches and synagogues emphasize the origins, traditions, hopes and ideals of the Commonwealth of Kentucky."

Man is master of all he surveys - with or without his briches. Illustration of a man with a bow and arrow.

Once every 10 or 15 years, my mirror goes into the trunk of my car. I survey my wardrobe and decided to wear a suit. Last week was it. So I went out and bought 2 1/2 that would have made it. At Capone's store. One of those soft pants with glistering stripes. The storekeeper told me I look awfully good. He probably never thought he'd ever get a customer with such exquisite taste. My wife told me, "You may have a problem continuing," she sobbed. I rubbed my belly and scratched my nose to show her I was still as good as ever.

What I mean is, you'll need to choose a shirt, tie, socks and shoes that will go with it," she said. "I have my fluorescent purple shirt that will go with that polky dot necktie you keep hiding from me. Shoes are no problem since I only got one pair." I told her, she began to cry again, mumbling something about "I hope the first shoe becomes the last." I don't know who women get so uptight about men's clothes. After laying things like the sack shoes, miniskirt, square-toed shoes, women's handbags and neckties on us, you'd think they'd be a little more tolerant of men's dress.

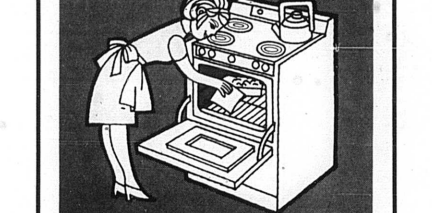

Man is master of all he surveys - with or without his briches. Ghengis Khan conquered half the world in a dinky shirt. Carrot cut a sizeable chunk of geography in a smoking jacket and Andean animals followed him. The movement out of Europe. Even the great Gandhi sat around in a dinky shirt and millions of followers. No one told them they were not coordinated, which shows that clothes do not make the man. Columbus would have made it to America in a Nehru jacket or a bath cloth, if the queen of England missed an indecency zap on him.

lift his weight in reender, holler louder than anybody else and run with an unbelievable speed from Kodak bears. He got this way because of a slipping haul, which protected him from the debilitating effect of such things as lime and the one-day vitamin pill. He relied on beam power to support himself through hard times. Anywhere you find malnutrition, you'll find the red bean missing. The bean is also one of the most attractive foods. There are few things to bring gladness the eye than a pot of beautiful red beans simmering in a hot pot, especially if you don't have anything else in the house. Beans should be eaten by the bid, better than the bowl.
