Miss Allison featured in Who's Who book

Diana Lynn Allison, a senior at Nicholas County High School, was recently notified that she is to be featured in the Eighth Annual Edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1973-74, the largest student award publication in the nation. Students from over 30,000 public, private and parochial high schools throughout the country are recognized for their leadership in academics, athletics, activities or community service in the book. Less than 3% of the junior and senior class students nationwide are awarded this recognition.

Miss Allison is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Allison Jr. of Carlisle. She is active in Future Homemakers of America, F.H.A., Drama Club, Honor Society, Annual Staff, and the Carlisle United Methodist Church.

In addition to having her biography published in the book, Miss Allison will also receive for one of her scholarship awards of $600 to $1,000 funded by the publishers and will be invited to participate in the firm's annual "Survey of High Achievers" later in the academic year.

Miss Allison plans to attend Eastern Kentucky University in the fall.

The Light Touch

Someone figured it out: we have 35 million laws trying to enforce 10 commands.

You never realize how patient you can be until the fellow who is arguing with you happens to be your boss.

If we admitted what we really worship, banks would have stained-glass windows.

The world is composed of takers and givers. The takers eat better, but the givers sleep better.

Who to husband watching TV: "How do you know they aren't just watching the same ball games over again this year?"

Watch that ball game in color, for as little as $29.99 per month. Call 800-801, Mark X.T.V. for information.

Five campuses to get buildings

Gov. Wendell H. Ford announced that the State Executive Department for Finance and Administration has awarded the contracts for five new buildings and seven renovation projects on five Kentucky campuses.

University of Kentucky, Morehead State University; Murray State University; Western Kentucky University and Northern Kentucky University.

According to Charles Pryor Jr., commissioner of the State Executive Department for Finance and Administration, total construction cost of the 15 projects is estimated at $30 million.

The list of the contracts were for planning at the University of Kentucky, Morehead State University, Murray State University, Western Kentucky University and Northern Kentucky University.

Standard for participation in the Food Stamp Program are the same for everyone without regard to race, color, religious creed, national origin, or political beliefs.

Head starts travel to Zoo

On Thursday, May 9, 30 Head Start children, 16 parents and five staff members went to Cincinnati to see the group took a sack lunch and ate in the picnic area at the zoo.

The children enjoyed all the animals but especially the elephant cutting the grass with his trunk and then putting it in his mouth. Some of the children thought the penguins reminded them of people. The little boy liked the snakes because they were having their lunch which consisted of white mice. Several of the children liked the fish in the aquarium.

Most of the children slept on the bus coming back to the Head Start Center and were ready to tell their friends about all the things that they had seen that day.

Each child had a pennant from the zoo to take home with him.
