Willoughby signs UK letter of intent

University of Kentucky basketball coach Joe B. Hall, whose Wildcats finished second to UCLA in the NCAA championship finals at San Diego recently, took a giant step in returning to the tournament next year when he signed one of the nation's top prep prospects, Bill Willoughby of Englewood, N.J., to a Southeastern Conference letter-of-intent.
Willoughby, a 6-foot-6, 205 lb. forward, led Dwight Morrow High School to the Group Two New Jersey State Championship this year and to a 27-2 record. The much sought Willoughby averaged 31.6 ppg., 17 rebounds, and six blocked shots while hitting 55 per cent of his shots. The Maroon-Warriors had a three-year 71-12 record behind the high-leaping Willoughby.
He is a three-time All-State selection and two-time prep All-American.
"Bill is one of the most exciting players I have ever recruited," Hall said. "And he will be one of the most crowd appealing players ever at Kentucky because of his style of play. He is a different type player than we are used to seeing, and like most other players from the East, he plays with more intensity from playing against tougher competition."
Willoughby had all the major schools after him, but narrowed the field to Kentucky, Michigan, North Carolina and North Carolina State.
"I have seen Kentucky play a few times and when I visited UK's campus, they played Vanderbilt," Willoughby said. "I liked what I saw in the total program. I liked the way they play basketball and I felt I could fit right in."
Asked if he had seen the NCAA finals on television and if he thought he could have helped the Wildcats, he replied affirmatively to both questions.
As a junior, Willoughby averaged 33 ppg, 25 rebounds and nine blocked shots. His three year scoring total 2,475 points, was approaching the state four-year record of 2700.

Nitrogen Side Dressing

Side dressing with nitrogen will help stretch available supplies on corn and tobacco. More county farmers are fusing this practice as prices increase and supplies decrease. Dry nitrogen can be broadcast over corn at almost any stage of development. There will be some burning of leaves but the corn grows out and the symptoms soon disappear. Tobacco cannot be side dressed in this way. The nitrogen pellets will lodge in the bud and will kill the growing point. Tobacco should be side dressed with cultivator attachments or by hand, making sure none of the fertilizer gets in the top of the plant.
Farmers are looking for ways of making the fertilizer dollar go farther. This is one way to do this and still not reduce yields. Possibly the best time to side dress corn is 4-6 weeks after planting. This has been shown by tests at the: University of Kentucky Experiment Station.

Spring Clean-up

There are few jobs less inspiring to contemplate yet more satisfying to behold when completed than spring clean-up.
How much soap, water and elbow grease you choose to invest in cleaning up is between yourself and your time, energy and standards of neatness. But how much you do to clear away clutter and unneeded fawnmables, improve storage space, check tools and equipment and fix hazards and other potential injury-makers is very important to your safety.
Aside from grooming the old place and doing your part to fight eye poliution, why not include a few safety goals in this year's clean-up/fix-up?
Getting rid of clutter and accumulations of unneeded flammables will satisfy both aesthetics and accident prevention. Clutter is a real falls and fire hazard as well as a nuisance and consumer of valuable space.
Take out those newspapers, magazines, old clothing, broken toys and household items, empty containers, broken or worn equipment parts and pieces. Also, search the stairways, ledges, shelves, cabinets and every other nook and cranny for empty, or near empty, bottles or containers, odd bits of chemicals and medicines and broken objects.
Scout around, find and fix hazards—all those things that could hurt someone or cause trouble. Check ladders. Check electrical appliances, power tools and heaters—clean and service them. Check electric wiring and grounding systems.
What about those steps and stairs? Are there handrails handy, and are they strong and adequate? Are there loose floor boards anywhere that could trip you, or protruding nails or other sharp objects that could snag your clothing or scratch you? Are the things which are hung up or stored overhead secure so that they won't fall on someone?
These are only a few thought-starters to get you going on your own clean-up-for-safety campaign.

Carlisle West Homemakers

The Carlisle West Homemakers met in the Fellowship Hall of the Carlisle Christian Church on Friday, April 11, with Mrs. Ben Pumphrey Sr. and Miss Lucille Buntin, as hostesses.
The meeting was called to order at 1:30 p.m. by Mrs. Grimes Caywood, president. Roll call was answered by 11 members and Mrs. Charles Wilson, Extension Agent, with "our sense of spring."
The minutes were read and the landscape report given. Mrs. Wilmer Halcomb and Mrs. Wilson gave the lesson, "Teaching Values."
A dessert course with coffee, nuts and mints were served during the social hour.

Child's tiny lungs can't protect self

Young children can't speak up like teenagers and adults, and tiny lungs have trouble protecting themselves. They have to depend on you, their parents.
The health of your child's lungs—even his life—lies in your hands. And if those hands hold a cigarette, chances are double that your baby will have pneumonia or bronchitis.
Researchers in London found that children who don't have to breathe second hand smoke. Another study showed that respiratory illness of all types is twice as common among children whose parents smoke at home.
A child who suffers from respiratory disease early in life is more susceptible to chronic and acute breathing problems later on; worse yet, pneumonia and bronchitis still can be killers.
The Kentucky Lung Association urges you to think twice about that cigarette in your hand. It may be a matter of your child's life and breath.

ELECTRICITY GENERATES JOBS FOR YOUR TODAYS & THEIR TOMORROWS.
Jobs for this generation. More jobs for the next. Everyone of them depending on a reliable supply of electricity. Imagine your job with electricity off for a day. Or an hour. Or just frequently. Or a new plant being built without assurance of a reliable source of electric power.
To maintain jobs for today's workers, a dependable supply of electricity for industrial plants and commerical establishments is vital.
To create jobs for tomorrow's workers requires attracting new industry and encouraging our present industries to expand. And our assurance that more electricity will be available when needed. And that requires huge investments in generation and transmission facilities.
Job security for you. For your children. For their children. The one essential is ample, reliable electric power. That's our job . . . and we do our best to deliver that electric power.
Electricity . . . use it wisely.
