Cave Run vacationer's paradise

For the vacationer planning to take to the water for a few days or weeks, the Daniel Boone National Forest offers a lake within an easy drive of Cincinnati, Louisville, or Ashville, and all points in between.

Cave Run Lake, an 8,770-acre reservoir built and operated by the Corps of Engineers, is near Morehead off Interstate 64. The U.S. Forest Service manages the surrounding land for recreation, wildlife, timber and watershed. Through a multiple-use administration, the lake offers swimming, boating, fishing and camping, while providing an active and unique hunting area.

Twin Knobs, the first major recreational development on the lake, will open May 2 with 80 single and double camping units. A nominal fee of $4 for single and $5 for double units will be charged per night. This fee includes free use of the 1,000-foot beach and adjoining bathhouse scheduled to open Memorial Day weekend. There will be no concessions available at the beach.

Carlisle arriving for a day's visit will be charged $1 for beach use, while those arriving by bus, bike or walking will pay 50 cents. Bathing is allowed to picnic at the beach.

An additional 13 camping units and 1,000 feet of beach line will open through the summer. Forest Service officials anticipate the dam level will keep the water at the beach at least 4 1/2 feet deep.

When completed, Twin Knobs will offer more than 250 camping units, most equipped to handle both trailers and tents. A trailer-sanitation station now gives vacationers a chance to clean and fill their water and sanitation tanks.

Boat ramps at Scott Creek, Twin Knobs, Warts Run, Claylick, Bangor, Twenty-six, and Leatherwood allow boaters and fishermen to safely enter and leave the water. The lake has a population of largemouth bass, bluegill, crappie, catfish and muskie. Some 4,000 six-inch muskie will be stocked in June or July. Water skiing is allowed in designated areas 9 a.m. until dark.

The Miner E. Clark Fish Hatchery, operated by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, is just below the earthen dam. Visitors can see the fish breeding operation for stocking the varieties of fish all over the state.

Cave Run Lake's southern edge borders the 7,300-acre Pioneer Weapons Hunting Area. It tests sportsmen against grouse, deer, turkey and squirrel. Only percussion cap and flintlock rifles, longbow and crossbow are permitted in the area. The state controls game management and hunting regulations in the Pioneer Weapons Hunting Area.

There are more than 16 miles of trails in the area for year-round use by hikers and backpackers.

Clear Creek Furnace, with 24 camping units, adjoins the hunting area on Forest Service Road 179. It offers scenic trails and picnicking, as well as a rifle range. From the remains of an iron furnace, visitors get an idea of the thriving iron industry which made Kentucky the nation's third largest producer in the 1830's.

Situated within the city limits at Morehead, next to the district ranger's office, is Duthen Hollow camping and picnic ground. Elevators are open for tents and trailers up to 22 feet long. The picnic area has a shelter and barbecue pit. A loop hiking trail is available and both camping and picnic areas have drinking fountains and flush toilets.

The Morehead district ranger has additional information on features near Cave Run Lake.

Visitors are encouraged to contact the local ranger's office, or the forest supervisor's office in Winchester, when making plans to travel in the Daniel Boone National Forest. Information covering camping and usage, as well as brochures on other scenic and historic sites, is available upon request.

The Bikes-Thon for Cystic Fibrosis, held Saturday morning, had 21 entrants. Nineteen finished the Morehead to Carlisle run. Ricky Carter, left, was the first to reach the courthouse.

Tate Carter, third, and Tommy Fooks, fourth, finished the Morehead to Carlisle run. Ricky Carter, left, was the first to reach the courthouse.

Bike-a-Thon nets nearly $200; 19 finish seven mile ride

Saturday's Bike-a-Thon netted approximately $200 for the National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. Proceeding awards at the finish line was Rusty Scott, son of Mrs. Judy Scott.

Ricky Carter, son of Mrs. Russell Shaw, finished the Morehead to Carlisle ride first and was awarded a trophy. He was sponsored by Teddy Shaw. Joe Wilson, sponsored by Waggoner and Wilson, finished second and was awarded a blue ribbon.

Also receiving ribbons were Tate Carter and Tim Fooks, finishing third and fourth, respectively. Tate was sponsored by Carter's Clothier and Tim by Kathy's Beauty Shoppe.

Jody Duncan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Duncan, was awarded a silver dollar for having the most sponsors. Those were Heese Smoot, Joe Crouch, Insurance and Rusty Lawrence. Jody was the youngest rider in the Bike-a-Thon.

Others participating in the ride and their sponsors were Carla Curtinger, sponsored by Carlisle Drug Company; Elaine Riggs, D&A Grocery; Ken Smoot, Mrs. Cecil Rogers; Lee Walton, Waggoner and Wilson; Angela Wilson.

Refreshments for riders were furnished by the Carlisle Junior Women's Club. Hiding with safety officers were Tony Smith, who could not participate due to a broken leg.

County 4-H'ers attend Washington conference

Three Nicholas county 4-H'ers were part of the 27-member Kentucky delegation attending the annual Kentucky 4-H Older Youth Conference at Washington, D.C. April 22-24.

The county's delegates were Jadeboe, Ginger Lee Myers and Sheila Jones, members of the Queen What's Teen 4-H Club.

During the annual conference planned especially for Kentucky youth, the 4-H'ers received advanced training in citizenship and leadership. Representing every area of the state, those attending were freshmen and sophomores in high school who will share with their high school classes.

The delegation left Kentucky Saturday, April 12, by chartered bus for the National 4-H Center, where they spent the week. They began their week in Washington by attending Sunday services at the Washington Cathedral and the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception.

The conference opened officially Sunday afternoon with an assembly which the delegates and their sponsors. Highlighting the conference were speeches, discussions and tours relating to the heritage of a U.S. citizen. Each delegate also served on a conference committee which will have sessions holding their first meeting on Sunday.

A night tour of such historical spots as the Washington Monument, Jefferson Memorial and Lincoln Memorial were featured that night, with a pre-acquainted party completing Sunday's program.

Monday's program opened with another assembly, where the group discussed youth's role in the United States, following a talk on that subject by Hope Daugherty, 4-H program leader for older youth with the Federal Extension Service. A representative of the Federal Energy office also spoke during the assembly.

A boat ride down the Potomac River on Monday afternoon took the delegation to Mt. Vernon, where they toured the home of the first president. That night, 4-H'ers heard a speaker, Jimmy Walker, chairman of Carlisle Jaycee Little League Basketball.

Joint emergency tornado procedures to be subject of May 1 community meet

A joint meeting of the Nicholas County Fiscal Court and the City of Carlisle Council was held Monday night to discuss emergency operation procedures to be used by the joint governments in tornado preparations. A community meeting will be held on Thursday, May 1, at 7:00 p.m. in the Nicholas County court house for the purpose of presenting the emergency operations tornado planning progress to the public and to ask for volunteers and suggestions for specific duties. A short film entitled "Tornado" will be shown and tornado safety instructions community receives a tornado warning that severe weather is on the way, the present fire siren will be sounded in five blasts with one minute intervals. A tornado warning means a tornado is approaching and to take cover. A community meeting will be held on Thursday, May 1, at 7:00 p.m. in the Nicholas County court house for the purpose of presenting the emergency operations tornado planning progress to the public and to ask for volunteers and suggestions for specific duties. A short film entitled "Tornado" will be shown and tornado safety instructions will be presented. It was determined that the community needs to prepare a weather spotter's network to locate possible tornadoes and to pass along the information to the local authorities to trigger the warning system. If anyone is interested in becoming a certified weather spotter, please attend the above meeting or contact Duane Williams, Carlisle-Nicholas County Civil Defense Director at 289-7109. The support of the community is required to formulate a good workable operations plan for the citizens of Carlisle and Nicholas county.

Cheryl Lowe elected state FHA historian

At the 30th annual state meeting of the Kentucky Association of Future Homeowners Appreciation Day at the Nicholas County Chapter was elected state historian Cheryl Lowe.

Miss Lowe was installed along with nine other officers by the closing session. She will serve as state historian during the 1975-76 school year.

Also attending the meeting from the Nicholas County High Chapter were Susan Duncanson, Nancy Dunham, who along with Miss Lowe, received State Homeowner Degree. Patty Fryman also attended as a delegate from the local chapter.

Mrs. Bonnie Metcalfe and Mrs. Martha Taylor, Home Economics teachers at Nicholas County High School, accompanied the group to the convention.

The banquet speaker was Dorothy Emerson, National 4-H Foundation Consultant, who discussed how the young people can develop their potential as citizens and as worthwhile individuals.

Wednesday evening with meetings of the group then visited Georgetown, one of the older sections of Washington, and went on to Arlington Cemetery, where they saw President Kennedy's grave and the Custis-Lee Mansion. While at Arlington, they took part in a special wreath ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknowns, with representatives of the delegation placing a wreath there.
