

Studying the contents of landfills in the Bliggars area this summer are David Simpson, David Beasley, (pictured left to right) and Frank Hayden. The study is being conducted by the division of solid waste in the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection. By the end of the summer work should be completed in Nicholas and eight other counties. This state solid waste inspectors will use their information to determine the life expectancy of each landfill, to diagnose problems during the past year, to prescribe how to correct those problems, during the past year, to be running and the national average—seven pounds a day from each household.

also recycled the most. The national average is 875 pounds of solid waste for each student. Individual industries in the Bliggars area generate between 1,200 and 2,000 pounds of waste during a week. Household waste seems to be
