Lexington market only one open now

Volume of sales continued to lighten during the eighth week of Burley tobacco sales. Only three markets were in operation by the end of the week. Shelbyville closed Thursday, Jan. 3, and Carrollton closed Monday, Feb. 3. This will leave only Lexington holding auctions. The Federal-State Market News Service reports grade prices slipped a little from last week and parity was about the same. Association receipts increased slightly.

Gross sales for the week ending Jan. 29 totaled 6,824,184 pounds and averaged $96.24 per hundred. This was the lowest weekly average so far this season and dropped $1.79 from the week before. For the year 660,251,140 pounds returned $114.05. During the same period last season (32 sales days) 694,037 pounds were auctioned for an average of $92.36.

Traffic deaths zero in Nicholas during 1974

More than 60 per cent of Kentucky's 120 counties recorded a reduction in the number of traffic fatalities during 1974, according to the latest but still incomplete statistics contained in a state police report.

The report, compiled on Jan. 15, 1975, says 73 counties in 1974 recorded decreases in highway deaths compared to a year earlier. Thirty-three counties showed increases, however, and 14 counties reported the same deaths last in 1973.

Edmonson, Menifee and Nicholas counties, which had a total of nine traffic deaths in 1973, so far have reported none for 1974. But that record was offset by a change for the worse in Hancock, Hickman, Robertson and Trimble, all of which had clean slates in 1973 but continued for nine deaths last year.

The statewide highway death toll for 1974, as of Jan. 15, was 798, as compared to 971 recorded at the same date a year ago. The final 1974 figures won't be compiled until Feb. 28, the official cut-off date set under state police reporting regulations.

Unemployment rates vary; locally 4%

FRANKFORT—Kentucky's unemployment rate varies from a low of 2.4 per cent in Madison county to a high of 13.3 per cent in Menifee county, according to figures released recently.

Robert MacDonald, chief statistician in the Bureau for Manpower Services, released estimates above the estimated state average of 6.1 while the Bluegrass, Northern and North Central areas of the state have rates below the average.

The Nicholas county rate is 4.6.

Three Nicholas men attend ASCS state conference

Kentucky farm program officials from the Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) met Jan. 29 and 30 at the Oak House, Louisville, to discuss better service for farmers, farm programs, and the image of the farmer in today's urban society.

Attending the meeting from Nicholas were: Edgar Allen Durrell, vice-chairman County Committee; Matthew Kennedy, member County Committee, and Paul E. Hall, Executive Director.

The principal speaker was Kenneth E. Frick, Administrator, ASCS.

Frick told the nearly 500 attending that agriculture is the least subsidized and the most forward segment of our economy. He urged the farmer-commitment to hold on to their gains in income and to resist temptations to retreat old farm programs. "I ask all farmers to take a firm stand against controls and government payments, and against all of the other interferences that centralize decision-making and mean more government and less independence."

Frick called for a recycling of basic ideas of the country's heritage stating "that new approaches are needed for new problems." He also called for the "revival of integrity, independence, and the work ethic in the nation." "Our past farm policies cost this nation billions of dollars in payments, billions in food aid, and billions in storage costs—without achieving farm family incomes equal to the non-farm sector, without appreciably increasing the world's food security, and without truly protecting the farmer. The farmers I have talked with never want to return to the system of Washington determining their farming patterns or to get back into a cheap food policy."

ASCS' top official continues, "ASCS can be very proud of its role in helping move decision-making back to the farm where it belongs. I have only praise for the work of ASCS people. ASCS is the best service agency in government in responding to needs, and farmers view ASCS as being very capable of serving agriculture."

Frick indicated he thoroughly enjoyed his Kentucky visit and characterized the ASCS employees here as "energetic, bright, and responsive."
