City planning commission ordinance

City Council passed an ordinance Monday night to provide for an Independent Planning Commission for the City of Carlisle. The vote was 5-0 with Clarence Cord absent from the regular meeting.

Council and Mayor Bill Power will soon appoint a five-member board—one of whom will be a councilman. A Board of Adjustment, consisting of three members, two of whom can be on the Planning Commission, will also be needed.

Donald H. Barrell, District Planning Officer of the Bluegrass Area Development District, Inc., explained the procedures for re-establishing the new district Planning and Zoning Commission. The commission must meet six times a year.

Other motions passed are: To permit Oliver and Veach Berry to build a 50 foot sidewalk at their homes; to permit the Carlisle Nicholas County Housing Commission to build an addition; and to permit Vernie Winkling to place a metal storage building on his property at 223 North St.

To say Hobert Crump for trash cleanup on July 4 and on the Sunday after the 4th for cleaning the city streets. He was commended by Councilman Veach Berry for the good job he has been doing.

To repair the bridge over the creek on Walnut Street up from the City Barn.

To purchase parking stickers from Advertiser for 12 cents for 2,000 for a three year period. A contract will be entered into.

To purchase a sweeper for the city office.

To raise deposit rates for water from $10 to $20; gas from $25 to $50. To charge tapping fees of $65 to $150 for water; $50 for gas; and $25 for sewer. The City Attorney was directed to draw up an ordinance reflecting these increases.

To permit Gayle Vanlandingham to repair gas lines and purchase materials for work as he sees fit. Vanlandingham submitted a lengthy report on the status of city gas leaks.

Council discussed the 17% reduction of gas consumption expected this winter. If the city uses more than the allotted amount a penalty will be charged. Council agreed that no new gas customers can be accepted. Those customers already approved will be permitted gas, but no additional customers will be approved. All unused gas meters will be held until a later date.

Mayor Power commented that Brushy Fork Creek "looks real good." The cleaning of the creek has been finished.

Options noted in '75 commodity loan programs

Paul E. Hall has reported producer options for obtaining anniversary loans under the 1975 commodity programs. Wheat and feed grain loans no longer have identical maturity dates but will mature 11 months following the date of the month in which the loan is made, as announced last November, he said.

Hall said that loans for wheat, oats, barley and rye may be obtained from harvest through March 31, 1976. Loans on corn and sorghum from harvest through May 31, 1976.

"As in the past, the producer has the option of storing his grain under loan either on the farm or in an approved warehouse," Hall said.

To obtain a farm-stored loan, the producer needs to certify at his ASCS county office the number of bushels of grain he has in suitable storage. The loan amount will then be computed by multiplying the eligible quantity of grain in storage times the loan rate for the county in which the grain is stored. The producer has the option of taking a loan on a quantity of grain less than the total eligible and of paying off all or part of the loan at any time during the loan period. A requirement under the loan agreement is that the producer maintain the quality of the loan collateral and that he notify the county office prior to using or selling any of the grain pledged for loan.

Warehouse-stored loans will be disbursed on the basis of the full county loan rate which means the producer will have to prepay storage to the maturity date of the loan.

To be eligible for a warehouse-stored loan, the producer needs to store his grain in a warehouse approved by the Commodity Credit Corporation under provisions of the Grain Storage Agreement. The producer must obtain a warehouse receipt which is used by the ASCS county office to compute the loan based on the specific quantity and quality shown on the receipt. Another requirement for loan eligibility is that the warehouse receipt show storage has been prepaid to the last day of the eleventh month following the month in which the warehouse receipt was issued; the loan will mature on that date regardless of when the loan is made.

If the producer does not wish to obtain a loan until sometime after the warehouse receipt is issued, he has two options by which he may obtain a loan for the full (12 months) loan period: (1) the producer may return to the warehouse and pay the additional storage required to obtain the 12 months loan or (2) he may, at the time of deposit of his grain, prepay storage charges for 13 or more months, depending on the date he intends to take out a loan.

As with a farm-stored loan, a warehouse-stored loan may also be redeemed at any time during the loan period by paying the principal plus interest for the time the loan was outstanding. Currently the interest rate on loans is 6 1/2 percent. On Oct. 1, 1975, the loan interest rate will be reviewed.
