Doing business with our neighbors is much like doing business with ourselves

A dollar we pay to a home businessman for goods or services can pass through the hands of a dozen or more other neighbors . . . and back around to us again. Every time it changes hands among us, it is another dollar added to community trade volume, growth and prosperity.

Kroger opens new store in Paris

The pale pastels which have been featured in most food stores during the past 20 years are no longer in tune with the mood of the 1970's. The new Kroger store at Normandy Place Shopping Center, U.S. Highway 68 and 27 in Paris, which opened its doors for business this week, was given a new colorful look which can best be described as "earth-keyed", tones ranging from soft rich golden shades to a warm, vibrant brick-red.

The moment customers enter the new Kroger, one of the largest in North Central Kentucky, they'll discover the extra space has been well utilized to offer the housewife of today many more conveniences and specialty items.

One of these new conveniences is a delicatessen which has an expanded variety of lunch meats, cheese, salads and breads. This department should probably be more aptly named the Take-out Prepared Foods Department, as it offers many ready-to-eat meals such as fried chicken, barbequed ribs, fried fish, submarine sandwiches, and even a plate lunch. Whether you're planning a family picnic or a party for 100 people, Mildred Livengood, Head Deli Clerk, will be glad to cater it for you.

Another department made possible by this "Superstore" is the "International Foods" section. Whether you crave sukiyaki or tacos, you'll find all of the ingredients for your favorite Chinese, Mexican, Italian, or Jewish recipe for that change-of-pace meal.

A large portion of the 25,168 sq. ft. store has been devoted to expanding the non-grocery or general merchandise line. Such items as greeting cards, yarn, hosiery, even an auto care center will be available.

Virtually every department and service has been expanded to offer the people of Paris and the surrounding area one of the finest supermarkets in the state.

Shopping is Made Easier

Next to ironing, the one task associated with care and feeding of a modern family which the majority of women dislike most, is grocery shopping. The Paris Kroger "Superstore", as it is called by store manager, Mike Miller, " . . . makes shopping an adventure, not a chore."

Various sections of the store have been departmentalized through the use of distinctive colors, which will carry through even to the flooring.

Miller has eliminated one of the problems encountered in a new store, that of finding the location of the items you wish to purchase. A "Store Directory" will be made available to all customers to show them the location of major items. This will flip you down your shopping list at home, until you can become more familiar with the store.

What's A Grand Opening Without Prizes?

The opening of the Paris store is an event area folks will remember for a long time. The gala celebration includes prizes to be given away to lucky people in the Paris area. The prizes will be given away weekly during the next five weeks with the Grand Prize being that of a timely Shopping Spree. Co-Manager, Steve Glover, urges everyone to "enter often" to increase your chances of being one of the local winners.

Kroger Offers A Choice of Beef

Carl Bates, Head Meat Cutter, at the Paris Kroger store is very proud of the very large meat department he'll now be running. "With a meat department as large as this, I'll be able to provide my customers with the best variety at the best possible prices in this area", said Bates. Lunch meat, bacon, pork products, frozen entrees, and beef variety has been expanded greatly. Kroger offers both U.S. Govt. Inspected Graded Choice Beef as well as U.S. Govt. Inspected Tender, Lean Thrifty Beef to satisfy any and all of its customers.

Freshness Guaranteed

Freshness and quality of the many perishable products found in a supermarket are insured by Kroger's open-dating policy and the most up-to-date refrigeration equipment found in this new store. All Kroger products, where freshness is important to quality and flavor, are open-dated for your protection. Fresh meat, dairy products, bakery products, fresh fruits and vegetables, to name a few, are all open-dated. Open-dating is intended to promote fresh quality in perishable foods. Other Kroger products are not dated because they do not need this freshness assurance.

The freshness date on the package is the last date these packages will be sold in order for product to stay fresh for normal use at home. Kroger guarantees this freshness, or your money is refunded.

True today as in 1897, foods of finest quality at remarkably low prices. You still can cut out the advertising and today, sometimes money saving coupons, and take to the store nearest you.

THANK YOU!

For your business and patronage during my operation of the J & E Restaurant.

I regret having to close, but due to help problems, there was no other choice.

'Captain' Betty Blake behind Delta Queen success story

Over the years it has taken a tremendous struggle to keep the Delta Queen financially afloat. Now she has a hefty waiting list: some 12,000 cruised on her last year, and the boat is booked almost solid for the rest of the season.

According to an article by Patricia Fanning in the National Observer (May 31, 1975), the woman behind this remarkable success story is "Captain" Betty Blake. She is a native of Carlisle and the daughter of Sen. and Mrs. H. Stanley Blake.

In 1962 she was hired to get passengers for the Delta Queen, and she succeeded. Since that time Ms. Blake has shown a gift for public relations. She is now executive vice president and general manager of the Delta Queen Steamboat Company, which has recently christened a second boat, the Mississippi Queen.

It was largely due to Ms. Blake's efforts that the Delta Queen was saved. She took her Save-the-Queen campaign to public landings up and down the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers, begging both passengers and people on the bank to write their congressmen. She showed up at nearly every public gathering in or near Cincinnati, collecting Save-the-Queen signatures on petitions. She generated a deluge of mail which helped to save the boat.

Ms. Blake got her promotional start during childhood: "As a five-year-old, she went door-to-door in central Kentucky towns helping her father, Stanley Blake, win the first of six terms in the state legislature."

Employes and colleagues in Cincinnati agree that she is well organized, and handles her rapidly multiplying duties capably and energetically. Capt. Ernest Wagner, master of the Delta Queen, calls her Captain Betty. "The name really stuck," he says, "because she is the captain. She's the big shot." She steers a steamboat company instead of a boat.
