PUBLIC HEARINGS ON COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT NON-METRO DISCRETIONARY FUNDS BLOCK GRANT PROGRAM

Federal grant money is available to fund a wide range of community development programs in Carlisle. The City of Carlisle will be holding two public hearings soliciting citizens participation. Said meetings will be held at the Nicholas County Court House on December 1st and December 9th at 7:00 P.M. All citizens are encouraged to attend stating their community needs, enabling formulation of a preapplication for grant money to be submitted to the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Without excellent citizen involvement, it is felt an assessment of city needs will be incomplete. Therefore, please attend. It is of particular importance that all minorities attend to further outline city needs. Citizen participation is essential to successful application for these grant monies. 11-20-1tchg.

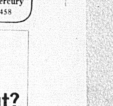
Dear Debbie

Letters to DEBORAH WHITE



DEAR DEBBIE:

Our teenage daughter's skin has the most severe case of acne that I have ever seen. She is so shaken by this that she hardly leaves her room anymore. It's become almost impossible to get her out of the house in the morning and off to high school. On weekends she barricades herself in her room. No dating, no friends, nothing. I don't know which is worse, her skin problem or her embarrassment about her skin. My husband and I sympathize with her and try to understand, but we feel she should make more of an effort to overcome her problem. In my opinion, it is her sudden drop from one of the prettiest girls in school to believing (in her own mind) that no one likes her anymore, that has really made her skin problem become magnified out of proportion.

LESLIE

DER LES:

You sound like an intelligent, understanding mother. But what I can't understand is why you haven't mentioned taking your daughter to a dermatologist. You haven't been treating an extreme skin condition with a commercial product, have you? Most of the packaged stuff is great for minor skin irritations, but they don't solve the problems you describe. Make sure your daughter keeps her skin clean and free of excessive makeup, and above all, take her to a dermatologist. Believe it or not, when she overcomes this problem, she'll be a stronger character than before—at least that's what I read in the psychology books: Overcoming extreme personal problems strengthens the ego.

* * *

DEAR DEBBIE:

I divorced my husband after 19 years of marriage and a year ago married a wonderful man who works for the government. My two oldest children are in college and I have another little girl at home. My older daughter resents her stepfather and me because we didn't buy her a new car (we can't afford a new one for ourselves!), and her father has fanned the flames by telling her he gives me enough support to allow me to easily afford a new car for her. And this kind of instigation from a man who is a highly successful lawyer! Now my daughter writes insulting letters to my husband every week—accusing him of squandering her support money.

OUTRAGED

DEAR OUTRAGED:

Your oldest children are old enough to be told "like it is." Next time they're both home, make a big pot of coffee, sit them down with your husband (their stepfather), and read them the facts and figures you have to live with—including their college tuition and board—in an inflated economy. You might also tell your former husband what his stake is in causing conflict and dissent in your already broken home.

Remember when Army pay was nothing to talk about?

It's something to talk about now, because we've just raised it. Again.

The Army starts you at $361 a month (before deductions). That's what you'll earn while you learn a skill.

If you qualify, you can choose to learn how to drive a tank, how to build a bridge, how to use a camera, or how to do just about any kind of job you can think of. And we'll guarantee it in writing, before you enlist.

After four months you'll get a raise to $402 and since so many things in the Army are free—meals, housing, medical and dental care—you can save a lot of it. And that's something to talk about.

Burley prospects

Burley tobacco production in Kentucky as of Nov. 1 is forecast at 441.8 million pounds, the same as Oct. 1, but 3% above 1974. Yield is expected to average 2350 pounds per acre, unchanged from last month, but 95 pounds below the 1974 yield. About ¼ of the crop received some housebum, but most damage was light. Leaves are shorter than usual this year and the weight is varied over the State. As of Nov. 1, about 13% of the crop was stripped compared with 11% a year ago. Auction markets are expected to open Nov. 24.

For the Burley Belt (Kentucky and seven nearby states) production is expected to total 637.2 million pounds compared to 612.6 million pounds produced in 1974. Yield for the Belt is expected to average 2277 pounds.

NEXT WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

By Clay R. Pollan

Note planetary ruler of your birth symbol

FOR WEEK BEGINNING MONDAY, NOV. 24, 1975

★ If your birthday occurs this week . . .

. . . you are pretty much set in your ways – very inflexible when your mind is once made up. Many think that you are stubborn, but the fact is you are able to convince people peacefully even against their wills. You are a dynamic, loyal, lovable person, and stick to your friends through thick and thin.
