feed mills at Winchester and Park City and a large supply distribution center near Roanoke, Va. Completion of the distribution center is scheduled for spring 1976, and the feed mills for January 1977.

Mullins revealed an all-time high volume total for local farm supply and petroleum cooperatives and retail branch services during the year of over $51 million, up almost 22 per cent over the previous year. Net savings for the retail units totaled $20.7 million for the same period. "This will mean that about $9 million in cash will be paid back to patrons, and about an equal amount will be added to the operating capital and net worth of the cooperatives and branches," he said.

Operations of the Southern States Grain Marketing Cooperative were also successful, he added. Nearly 18 million bushels of grain were marketed and dollar volume exceeded $75.5 million. Net savings totaled $50.0 million allowing for the payment of a refund of 32 cents per bushel.

Public Offering Notes
Feland, in commenting on events during the past year, pointed out that for the first time the co-op was involved in a public offering of Industrial Development Revenue Bonds to finance the feed mill at Winchester, and the distribution center at Roanoke. The total offering amounted to about $9 million. "These bonds apparently found a ready market and attest to the acceptance of Southern States securities with the investing public," he said.

He also said that the past year was an unsettled one for the petroleum industry, but added that Southern States' supply situation has eased and "we are expanding our distribution and services on petroleum products and would be able to continue this effort."

Feland told the delegates that the new inter-regional cooperative known as International Energy Cooperative of which Southern States is a member, sponsored the acquisition of a prospecting company called LVO natural resources. Senator Ward said concessions in Greece and Egypt and has pending applications in other parts of the world.

"Seismic work is being completed on a concession in Egypt."

New Musk Oil Cologne Spray Mist by Jovan. The Understatement of the Year.

Jovan has just created another way to wear musk oil Musk Oil Cologne Spray Mist. As you might expect, it comes on soft and subtle. But don't be fooled.

It's powerful, provocative and lingering just like Jovan Musk Oil Perfume.

The cologne says the very same things about you as the perfume does. That you're sensuous. Womanly. And warm. But says it a little more lightly (Which could be the most powerful way of all).

Try this new fragrance understatement by Jovan Musk Oil Cologne Spray Mist. Because it isn't what you say. It's how you say it.

Grade advance rates for 1975 crop Burley tobacco announced

The U.S. Department of Agriculture recently announced advance rates by grades for the 1975 crop Burley tobacco ranging from 70 cents to $1.02 a pound. The rates reflect an average support price of 84 cents per pound, about 12 percent above 1974. Increases over 1974 grade rates range from five to 11 cents per pound.

As in past years, growers will offer their tobacco at auction markets in the are available at no charge from the county Extension Office, basement of Courthouse (phone: 289-2312). Or if you need help in identifying a particular weed, bring or send the plant to the Extension office—include foliage, as much of the roots as possible, and fruit or flowers, if available.

When you're sure what weeds you need to control, select the herbicide which will do the best job against them. Sifters or 4-4 or a combination of these two or 2-4-D plus dicamba (Banvil) D give good results. During the next few weeks is also a good time to file your lawn.

Small grain used as a winter cover crop will protect soil from erosion and can produce extra feed and extra income from your land. Seeding in a small grain will help control erosion on land which has been in corn, tobacco or other cultivated crop land. On tobacco land, a cover crop will tie up residual nitrogen and hold it until next season. When no cover crop is used, nitrogen is lost by leaching.

A cover crop will cut down the weed competition for next year's crop and provide a match for no-till planting of corn or soybeans next spring. A small grain also can be used as a companion crop for overseeding grasses and legumes in the spring.

A small grain crop also can increase feed production per acre. Small grain harvested as silage will produce 4.0 tons of extra feed per acre. If used for grazing, the crop will produce 3-4 tons of feed per acre. Wheat will produce the most silage, while barley will have the most value as a feed grain.

If you need a cover crop only to control erosion or to graze, the best small grain to use would be wheat or rye, depending on which would be the most economical to seed. Rye is more winter-hardy and would be the best choice if you are seeding late.

Ward is appointed

State Senator Thomas M. Ward, Democrat of Versailles, has been appointed to the Natural Resources Task Force of the National Conference of State Legislators Intergovernmental Relations Committee. Ward is a member of the Committee on Agriculture and Natural Resources in the Kentucky Senate and has been a leader in the protection of natural resources. Senator Ward said he was honored by this appointment and hoped that it would enable him to gain information and insight into the complex problems of our environment which would be helpful in Kentucky.

Toll-free information is sponsored

FRANKFORT—The Kentucky Department of Agriculture and the U.S. Department of Agriculture will cooperate in a toll-free information service during this year's burley tobacco auction season, according to a spokesman at the state agriculture department.

The telephone service will be available following each day's trading activities and will include a cumulative total of information for tobacco markets across the state. Information subtracted from next year's quota. As in the past, no advances will be made on any tobacco graded No. 1 and No. 2 (No-Grade, U, U (Unsound), W (Doubtful Keeping Order), or scrap. Marketings of these grades, however, will be charged against the 1975 quota.

Additional copies of the rate schedule may be obtained from the Tobacco and Peanut Division, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Burley tobacco is grown primarily in each day's sales will be available at approximately 7 p.m. the day of the sale. Figures available will include total poundage and average price.

The information service is being coordinated by the Kentucky Department of Agriculture's division of markets. The number to call is 1-800-432-9632. The burley tobacco markets open in Kentucky on Nov. 24.
