

Bureau helps 38 in county

FRANKFORT—Kentucky ranks among the leading states in the nation in helping unemployed persons reach their full potential as wage earners.

According to figures compiled by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), Kentucky stands fifth in the United States for expenditures for rehabilitation of the severely handicapped Kentucky ranked even higher—standing second in the nation.

Ben J. Coffman, assistant superintendent of education for Kentucky Bureau of Rehabilitation Services, said: "A total of 1072 persons in Kentucky were rehabilitated out of some 25,016 served."

Coffman went on to state that in Nicholas county, the state Bureau of Rehabilitation Services helped 38 people and rehabilitated 17.
