Carlisle native to go round the world to promote Bicentennial

Betty Blake, executive vice president and general manager of The Delta Queen Steamboat Co., is the Press Information Officer for the 40 ambassadors for America who are making a whirlwind world-wide tour to promote the Bicentennial.

The 40 are all members of the Society of American Travel Writers (SATW) which originated the idea. With the sponsorship of the U.S. Travel Service, support of the U.S. Information Agency and encouragement of the White House, the group will meet media leaders in eight of the world's key cities—London, Paris, Frankfurt, Rome, Athens, Istanbul, Hong Kong and Tokyo.

In addition to The Delta Steamboat Co., Miss Blake, a Carlisle, Ky. native, also will represent the University of Kentucky, Discover America Travel Organization, Women in Communication, Sons and Daughters of Pioneer Rivermen and the Propeller Club.

According to the leader of the delegation, Mrs. Carolyn Patterson, president of SATW and senior assistant editor of National Geographic Magazine, the goal of the around-the-world flying mission is "to make friends for the USA and encourage such friends to come to the U.S. during the Bicentennial period."

In order to accomplish this, the delegation will invite newspaper, television, radio and magazine representatives to meet with the entire group for sessions consisting of speeches, panel discussions and question and answer periods.

Individually, members will pay

Bicentennial interest groups and appear before women's clubs, university students and journalism guilds.

Mrs. Patterson believes the trip's "long-range consequences could be considerable" in attracting foreign travelers to the United States and in creating good will between the U.S. and the rest of the world.

The SATW round the world tour departs Washington, D.C. on Sept. 13. Arrival back in the United States is in San Francisco on Oct. 2.

School board meet reported

by Jeff Kerr

The Nicholas County Board of Education approved the close estimate budget for the school year for the 1975-76 school year at the regular meeting Saturday night.

Superintendent Edler told the board that figures for gas and utilities might be higher than first anticipated because of cost increases in those categories that have taken effect recently or are scheduled to take effect in the near future.

In other budget-related business the board voted to apply to retain Capital Outlay funds in the General Fund for current expense purposes during the 1975-76 fiscal year.

The board opened bids for bus number 11. The board voted to accept a bid of $500 from the New Hope Assembly of God Church for the bus.

A new scoreboard was approved for the gym. The scoreboard will be partially funded by a $600 gift from the First National Bank and also through school funds.

The board also adopted a mileage guideline from the state, setting mileage expenses for private cars used for official business at 14 cents per mile. The state recently revised this figure up from 12 cents per mile.

Another means of reporting grades for first grade students during the first nine weeks of school was approved by the board. The change was requested by the first grade teachers who reported that the conventional grading method doesn't give the parent a true picture of the child's progress in that period.

The board also approved the installation of an Army ROTC class at the high school beginning the second semester of this year. The class will be based out of MML, will be co-educational and will be open to students age 15 and over.

Approval for use of the elementary school stage Oct. 26 for a ballet revue was given to Mrs. Paul Hardin. The revue will be from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

A leave of absence was granted Mrs. Barbara J. Hatten. The leave will be from Sept. 19 to Nov. 3.

Local natural gas rates to increase 8%

City Council unanimously adopted an ordinance Monday night which will raise gas rates approximately 8% on Oct. 1. This increase should provide $40,000 more revenue a year, provided there are no gas curtailments, according to Mayor Bill Power.

A synthetic gas supplier has already informed the city that synthetic gas will be limited to 45% of the contract volume through March of 1976. Columbia Gas Company has not issued any curtailments as yet. But, Mayor Power said he feels that the company will do so or not "depending on the weather this winter." If we have a cold winter, gas may be in very short supply.

The new gas rates will be:

Present	New	Usage
2.45	2.50	1,000 and min.
1.35	1.60	1,000
1.25	1.45	2,000
1.30	1.35	10,000
1.10	1.20	over 15,000

The Councilman agreed to advertise for bids to build a new police station building at the corner of Locust and Main. Bids will be opened at the Oct. 13 meeting.

The Fiscal Court agreed in April to give a 50 year lease to the City at $1 per year net.

G.W. Sexton and his attorneys, Dick Getty and Chap Rice, appeared before Council. Getty related to Councilman Sexton's complaints about the individual water meters installed by the City. The minutes of the February 27 Council meeting indicated that Sexton was at the meeting and that the City did agree to switch from a master meter to individual meters.

Any decision was tabled for a week so that the parties can agree on a sewer rate and the installation of a master meter or not.

Monroe & Associates, a CPA firm, was hired to do the 1974 and 1975 City audits in January of 1976.

Mrs. Virgie Simon asked Council to do something about the traffic problem at the corner of Dorseville and E. Main. Since Main is a state highway, the state Traffic Department will be consulted on this matter. At the same time, Main and Dorseville and Main and Walnut traffic corners will also be brought to the state's attention.

The tax rate was set at 54.7 cents per 100 of assessed valuation. The rate was the lowest in the county. It has been over $1,000,000 of growth in the city during the last year.

The City voted to purchase a new heating system for the Sewer Plant. A building permit was granted to Clifton Fryman to remodel his porch on E. Main Street.

Mayor Power read a letter to the City from the High School thanking the officials for the participation of the fire truck for a recent pep rally.

Religious Bicentennial exhibit at local United Methodist Church

An exhibit for the Bicentennial which illustrates the development of religious freedom in America is on display in the Education building of the Carlisle United Methodist Church and will last through Sunday, Sept. 14. The public is invited to view the exhibit during the hours of 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and all day on Sunday, Sept. 14, in the pasteur Richard Chamberlain.

Developed by the Kentucky Council of Churches, the display consists of 17 limited edition screen print posters and contains a listing of historical productions and informative text relating to religious liberty. The idea behind the display is to show Americans how much and appreciate the continuing development of our heritage of religious liberty in this country," according to the Rev. John C. Bush, executive director of the Kentucky Council of Churches. The exhibit covers historical events significant to development of First Amendment guarantees of religious freedom from the early days of the American colonization to the present.

Theme for the display is taken from Leviticus 25:10, the scriptural sentence which appears on the Liberty Bell: "Proclaim liberty throughout the land to all the inhabitants thereof."

The display was in the Capitol in Frankfort and in the Fayette Mall in Lexington and after the exhibit here will go to the Ozoneer Center in Louisville.

Feed grain, wheat program provisions listed for '76

"There will be no acreage set-aside requirement for the 1976 feed-grain and wheat programs," Paul E. Hall said. It will be the third consecutive year for the feed grain and wheat program, in which no set-aside was required.

Some provisions for the 1976 programs were recently announced by the Department of Agriculture (USDA).

"Feed grain and wheat producers are not being encouraged to take cropland out of production next year," Hall said, "because even though this year's corn and wheat crops are expected to be at record levels, export demand is strong."

Hall said announcements of the provisions will provide farmers with information they need to make their 1976 crop planting decisions. Additional provisions will be announced after USDA reviews more 1975 production data.

Hall said Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz reaffirmed his announcement of 1973 that there will be no acreage base requirement for the duration of the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act, and the Secretary will not use his discretionary authority to limit feed grain and wheat plantings to a percentage of allotments. The Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 is effective through the 1977 crop year.

For 1976, as in the present year, producers may substitute any non-conserving crop (except marketing quota crops) or any conserving crop (including approved volunteer cover) used for hay or for grazing in order to preserve their wheat or feed grain allotment.
