Spurlock Station to serve 900,000

The completion of a new generating station near Maysville in late 1976 will add 319,000 kilowatts to the 18-member system serving electricity to 900,000 Kentuckians.

The new plant, the H.L. Spurlock Power Station, was dedicated on June 11, and is the third station in the East Kentucky Power system. The William C. Dale plant at Ford provides 176,000 kilowatts and the John Sherman Cooper Station near Burnside has a 356,000 KW capacity.

On hand for the dedication were J.K. Smith, governor of the National Rural Utilities Cooperative Finance Corporation (CFC) in Washington; John Delinger, president of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association based in Washington; Martha Layne Collins, clerk of the Kentucky Court of Appeals; and Kentucky Attorney General Robert Stephens. David Hamil, administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration (REA), presented the dedicatory address. H.L. Spurlock, general manager of East Kentucky Power for 23 years until his retirement last July, gave a response to the naming of the plant in his honor.

Built in Mason county on a 589-acre site known as Charleston Bottoms, the new plant will be coal-fired and will burn coal mined almost exclusively in Kentucky. Actual construction of the station has been underway for nearly four years. Planning and purchase of equipment is now in progress for a second unit of 500,000 kilowatts at the Spurlock Station.

Cost of the Spurlock plant project will total $125 million and will include 110 miles of related transmission lines. Financing is being provided by REA in Washington, the CFC and six major insurance companies.

Of the total cost, nearly $11 million is being spent for pollution-control equipment in the plant. Ronald Rainson, East Kentucky General Manager, reiterated that the Cooperative "will continue to equip all our plants with the best and most efficient proven environmental protection devices available."

Projections indicate the use of electricity in the East Kentucky system will continue to double every six years. For this reason and because of a shortage of natural gas and oil, planning for additional generating capacity is a continuous effort at East Kentucky.

Harrison RECC annual meet scheduled July 13

Miss Harrison RECC 1976 will be chosen and crowned. A church served by the Cooperative will receive $30 credit on its electric bill for having the most members registered at the special Church Registration tent.

Family entertainment featuring the Plainsmen Quartet, one of America's best-known Gospel and Country-Western groups, will be presented. There will also be special entertainment for the children.

Old memories to ride rails at Railfan Day July 25

by Helen Price Stacy

It's been more than three years since trains have run over the rails of the Morehead and North Fork Railroad, but rail fans and their families will have an opportunity to renew their acquaintance with this four-mile railroad at the first Railfan Day on July 25.

Visitors may take rides in a diesel Baldwin RS-12, view a steam locomotive, tour the railyard and station, participate in special photography sessions and attend a flea market, swap meet and fish fry. In addition, the newly named Morehead and Morgan Fork Railroad has a scale model steam-powered train for visitors to ride.

The Bluegrass Railroad Museum, an organization devoted to the restoration and preservation of the state's railroad history, will sponsor the first Railfan Day.

The M & NF Railroad, which began operation in 1905, has had a colorful past.

During a season of heavy rainfall, Supt. M.C. Crosley and Engineer L.C. McClelland were bringing a 13-car train of coal from Redwine in Morgan county to Clearfield in Rowan county. When they reached Adkins Curve in Morgan county, five cars left the tracks. After leaving Wrigley Station, the men lost four more cars at Lost Point Cut in the Winding Stairs. Near Paragon on Licking River, another car jumped rail, leaving the men with "faces redder than a switchman's lantern" by the time they reached Clearfield with the remaining two cars.

Oldtimers also remember the day a car vanished. The late Elmer Sulzer, in his book "Ghost Railroads of Kentucky", described the embarrassment of the conductor when he stopped at Wrigley to cut off the last car.

"One can picture his surprise when the car could not be located, although his crew was certain the train left Clearfield with it," wrote Sulzer. "On its return trip the crew sighted the missing car reposing in the water of North Fork at Cuba, another point in the Winding Stairs section."

Citizens in both counties loved the M & NF. Crews ran specials when revivals were in session anywhere along the line. They ran a special at a moment's notice if a group got a picnic crowd together or if anyone needed a doctor in a hurry. There were specials to Riffe Springs at Wrigley, a noted spa, and to other points along the way.

The era ended in 1933 when the tracks, except the four miles in Rowan county, were removed.

The Railfan Day, beginning at 10 a.m., will feature a mid-day fish fry with corn-on-the-cob and hush puppies. Tickets are $10 for adults and $7 for children under 12. Information is available from Dr. Wesley F. Ross, 1749 Bahama Road, Lexington, Ky. 40511.
