Blue Licks site of major celebration

A major Bicentennial celebration in Kentucky will be held at Blue Licks Battlefield State Park, Aug. 18-22.
 Blue Licks, Kentucky's only Revolutionary War site, is where Daniel Boone fought in the battle that drew the Revolution to a close in Kentucky. Early in the morning of Aug. 19, 1782, nearly a year after the war was over but before news of Cornwallis's surrender reached Kentucky, the allied Indians (Cherokees, Mingoes, Wyandots, Delawares, Chippewas, Ottawas and Shawnees) led by British Captain William Caldwell, assisted by Alexander McKee, Matthew Elliot and the renegade Simon Girty, met and routed a pursuing force of Kentuckians at Blue Licks. Boone, who knew Indian tactics well, tried to warn the Kentuckians that they were going into a trap but they paid him to heed and lost a fierce and bloody battle.
 Boone's son Israel was among the casualties.

On Aug. 19, 1976, at 1 p.m., the Bicentennial Celebration at Blue Licks will open with a parade to welcome Governor and Mrs. Julian M. Carroll, Judge and Mrs. Bert Combs, representatives of the British Government, Indian Representatives, Kentucky Senators Walter "Doc" Huston and Wendell H. Ford, Representative Carl Perkins and other dignitaries including House Speaker William G. Kenton, a Robertson County landowner.
 After the parade and formal program Governor Carroll will place a wreath on the mass grave of the Kentuckians who died in the Battle of Blue Licks.

Other events during the four-day celebration will include performances of the outdoor drama "Simon Kenton," KCA-licensed canoe races and Indian and country dance shows.
 Further information may be obtained by contacting Jim Cravens, P.O. Box 73, Sardis, Ky. 41066, phone (606) 763-6664, or Joseph H. Conley, Nicholas County representative on the 10 county commission.

Council and interested persons of the Mathers Home Inc. expressed concern over the possibility of the city being unable to provide sewer to the new hospital should it pass the November referendum. This concern was reiterated by Administrator Ken Urtage.

 According to a recent Howard K. Bell Engineering Study, the sewer, designed to serve 2,000 people, is now serving 1,872 people—very near capacity.

Mayor Power read letters from residents of North and Walnut Streets stating that these low lying areas receive great amounts of run-off water, and that much more water will be created by the new subdivision.
 Mayor Power said that the plant is filtering at capacity now.
 Councilman Wills pointed out that about a year or so ago, the Environmental Protection Agency sent a letter to the City saying that both the sewer and water plants needed expanding—and that this must be done in five years. The cost at that time was estimated to be $1,000,000. Wills questioned how the

be able to afford this sum if it doesn't take more areas into the city limits.
 Mayor Power pointed out that Alexander had installed his sewer line through state property without getting the right-of-way. The state will not give the right-of-way without the City's approval. He said he would not sign it until the Planning Commission had had sufficient time to obtain traffic, sewer and water studies and make its recommendations to Council.
 In other business, Council voted: —to accept the Statement of Objectives and Principles of Planning and Zoning, the Zoning Regulations and Map, and Subdivision Regulations.

Mayor Power announced he has appointed the Adjustment Board members: A.V. (Doc) Allison, Woodrow Wilson and Stanley Caswell.
 —changed American Legion Blackberry Festival dates to July 5-10 —voted to accept Civil Defense Director Russell Bell's recommendation to pay half cost with Fiscal Court of CB equipment for emergency communications, and to buy radio weather warning equipment for the Police Station.

 —to oil and chip road to Green Valley apartments.
 Two bids were opened for painting two water towers inside and outside. Council postponed action on the bids.
 A May 30 letter from Councilman was read rescinding the motion accepting Veach Berry's resignation from the Planning Commission.
