National Wildlife Week March 14-20

"Save Our Wetlands" will be the theme for the 39th annual National Wildlife Week, March 14-20.

"Wetlands are a priceless and irreplaceable part of our national heritage," said Thomas L. Kimball, executive vice president of National Wildlife Federation. "They are important not only to wildlife but to man. They support a vast range of plants and wildlife, they aid in the natural purification of our water supplies, they provide unique scenic and recreational areas, and a good part of our food supply."

There are about 20 varieties of wetlands, including marshes, swamps, river deltas, estuaries, prairie potholes, lakes, streams, river bottomlands and farm ponds, Kimball pointed out. Nearly every part of the country has wetlands of one kind or another.

Ring Crosby is the honorary chairman for the 1976 observance. Crosby, who was also chairman in 1960, has had a long-time interest in waterfowl, which must have wetlands to survive. Crosby emphasized that this year's Wildlife Week is one in which many people can become involved. "Nearly every locality has some type of wetland nearby," he said. "Each of us can take stock of the wetlands around our communities and learn whether they are being protected or in danger of being destroyed. If they are threatened, we should find out how we can help save them."

president of the Carlsle Ministerial Association, chairman of the Blue Grass Area Development District Committee on Aging, vice-chairman of the Nicholas County Inner Agency Council, and has been an actively concerned citizen of the community.

Dr. Brown married the former Janie Perris Stevens. Born in China, the daughter of Presbyterian missionaries, she attended North Korea Boarding School and later returned to the United States where she graduated in 1936 from Mary Baldwin College in Staunton, Va. with a Bachelor of Arts Degree. Dr. and Mrs. Brown met at Monmouth, N.C., where they were married on June 27, 1936. They have three daughters and four grandchildren.

The Browns are moving Thursday, March 11 (today) to Winchester where they will make their home. Their new address is 108 Mallard Lane, Winchester, Ky. 40391.

A reception in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Brown will be held Sunday, March 21 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Carlsle Presbyterian Church. The church wishes to extend a cordial invitation to the community for this occasion.

supported the administration and operation of the national Bicentennial agency, including its ten regional offices.

"Yet, across the country there are millions of Americans actively involved in the Bicentennial. There are nearly 10,000 official Bicentennial committees, college campuses and military installations. Over 30,000 project programs and events are listed in the Bicentennial Information Network."

"Americans can be proud that the Bicentennial does not have a 'made in Washington' tag, but will be a truly magnificent commemoration, with lasting value, as a result of the sum of the efforts of the people themselves."

$46,131 Grant Needs Attention

On Tuesday morning, I talked with an official in an adjoining county that had to float a payroll tax to build a park. Here we are with $46,131 and all we need is a vote of City Council to make it legal.

I started shortly after purchasing the Carlsle School property in November, 1972; trying to get a federal grant, I've spent several thousand dollars in effort working with Gov. Wendell Ford, now Sen. Ford, Sen. Tom Ward, Sen. Walter Huddleston and Rep. Carl Perkins. Gov. Ford promised that he'd help in any way he could to get this grant for the help I and Nicholas county had done for his campaign.

If the BOR grant of $30,576 and Blue Grass Industries' $15,555 are not used, it is doubtful that we'll ever have this opportunity again. All other donations will be matched by the BOR grant.

City has a chance to own the property, cleared and available for anything they want to do with it in the future with little or no money of the taxpayer of Nicholas county involved.

The opportunity is here to get this unsightly building removed this summer. Anybody interested come to Council meeting Friday, March 12, at 7 p.m.
