JEFFREY ROSE MIKE RAWLINGS ANN MARSHALL

Valedictorian, Co-salutatorians chosen by 1976 graduation class

Jeffrey Rose, son of Stanley Rose and Mrs. Sannie Jo Rose, has been named Valedictorian of the Nicholas County High School 1976 Class.

Miss Ann Marshall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Marshall, and Mike Rawlings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wayne Rawlings, were named Co-Salutatorians of the class.

Rose has been in the top five percent of his class throughout his high school years. He is a member of pep club, the scholastic team, Math and Chess Club, Science Club, the National Honor Society and a member of the basketball, football and track teams. He was a member of the all-encore football team in his freshman year and captain of the football team in his senior year. He was a delegate to Bluegrass Boy State and the SPOKE conference in his junior year. He was the recipient of the mathematics award as a sophomore, the "Dare Yeast Award" and the Nicholas County High School English Award, the Kentucky Society of Engineers Award and the National Honor Society Scholarship in his senior year. He is a member of the Carlsle Christian Church.

Rose says he plans to enter the pre-pharmacy program this fall at the University of Kentucky. His hobbies are hunting, football, basketball, fishing and travel.

Miss Marshall has been a cheerleader at Nicholas County High School the past four years and was co-captain of the squad her senior year. She has also been a member of FFA all through high school and has held offices as reporter, secretary and assistant historian of the organization. She has been a member of the National Honor Society the past three years and was secretary her junior and senior years.

Ann served her class as secretary as a freshman and again as a senior. She was a member of the Math and Chess Club and the student council. She is a recipient of the DARE Award and was named to Who's Who Among American High School Students, the Society of Distinguished American High School Students and Outstanding Teenagers of America. She was Football Homecoming Queen in her junior year and was named Snow Queen in her senior year. Her hobby is crafts.

Ann plans to attend Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond, in the fall where she is the recipient of the four year Presidential Scholarship.

Rawlings has been a member of the Nicholas County High School Band, the stage band, pep club, football and track teams, Drama Club, National Honor Society, Worldview C. J. Service and the Science Club. He has received awards in Physics, History, English and Band. He has been named to the Society of Distinguished High School Students and to Who's Who Among American High School Students and is a recipient of a National Honor Society Scholarship.

His hobbies are astronomy, bicycling and book collecting.

He plans to enroll at Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond, and study pre-dentistry.

Sen. Ward to seek re-election '77

State Senator Thomas M. (Tom) Ward of Woodford county announced at a recent picnic at Blue Lake Battlefield State Park that he will be a candidate for re-election in 1977.

Ward was married to the former Louise Harston of Louisville and they have four children, Morgan, Louise, Peggy and Taylor.

James Wells honored by Rotarians

James A. Wells, president of the Carlsle Rotary International, has been selected Rotarian of the Year, 1975-1976, by his fellow club members. On behalf of Ralph A. Tinsener, Rotary District 674 Governor, Wells was presented with a plaque commemorating this honor by Dr. Leon Riggs, chairman of the Nominating Committee, at the regular meeting, May 20.

Among other things, the club has supported the Nicholas County Carlsle Recreation Park, sponsored a Little League Baseball Team, the Nicholas County High School Athletic Banquet and Awards Night, and a Christmas Dinner for underprivileged children in the county during the past year. While serving as club president, Wells has worked untiringly on all programs, activities and has had a near perfect attendance.

The Carlsle Rotary International Club was originally formed in 1944. It has been active over the past 32 years in many worthwhile community projects and at the present time, has 25 active members.

Plan study

Calvin Snyder, Chief Planner of Lexington's Howard E. Bell Engineering Consultants, reported at a public meeting Monday night that a 201 Facilities Plan is underway locally.

The 20-year sanitary sewage facilities study will include an area around Carlsle, including Lake Carroon. The Lake area is having problems with sewage disposal. It was stated.

Bill Moore of UKH said that Carlsle's sewer plant is designed to serve 2,000 people. Figuring 2.3 people per hook-up (141), the city is now serving near capacity—an estimated 1,872 people.

This study is required for all cities by law, he said, and necessary in order to receive any federal funds.

Planning, Zoning to meet June 7

The City Planning and Zoning Commission will meet on June 7 at 7 p.m. The three original members who resigned recently have reconsidered and plan to serve on the Commission.

They are Veach Berry, chairman, Merrill Evans and Clarence Clarence Cord. The other two members are S.H. Berry and John Ring.

Gov. Carroll to appoint Municipal Statute Revision Commission

Governor Julian M. Carroll will appoint within the next week a 15 member Municipal Statute Revision Commission.

The Governor made the announcement Thursday at a Kenton Press Association symposium in Elizabethtown, attended by Mrs. Joseph H. Conley, editor of The Carlsle Mercury and Pat Conley, recent University of Kentucky Political Science graduate.

The Commission was created by House Bill 57 of the 1976 General Assembly in March. The group will be charged with structuring a Model Municipal Code for Kentucky. The Governor has pledged $300,000 for the Commission and will provide more from the Contingency Fund if needed.

House Speaker William G. Kenton said the present thick book is a "mess." Every citizen ought to be able to understand and find the law of the city, which he cannot now do, Kenton stated. He said, as an example of outmoded laws, his home town, Lexington, can't afford to become a first class city, where it belongs geographically. One of the ridiculous requirements of a first class city is to be on the Board of Directors of the University of Louisville. Lexington did not want to do this, he quipped.

Mayor of Lexington Foster Pettit, president of the Municipal League, said that an ordinary ordinance would go broke quickly under the same regulations as cities have to face. The statutes are difficult to find, usually drawn up, inconsistent, and oftentimes absent. He suggested Home Rule might be an answer.

Open Meetings, Open Records, and Publication of city audits were discussed by the panel and the press.

One editor indicated that her paper publishes the city audit the cheapest of any advertising in the paper can do this because the city does the typing instead of the newspaper.

KPA head Bob Carter of Hopkinsville gave an example of "intimidation" of newspapers as one of the reasons newspapers might be forced not to print the audit if it were not a requirement of law. One publisher was forced into bankruptcy in Kentucky because advertising was withdrawn after the paper refused to stop digging into a story, Carter said.

Kenton said he was aware of both sides—the cost of publishing the audit as a problem on one side, and the right of the people to know, on the other. He states a "happy medium" needs to be found to satisfy both sides.

Governor Carroll said that he appointed a county commission earlier in the morning which will work with the municipal group. The two groups will make their recommendations to the 1978 General Assembly.

William E. Biggs, Professor of Law at U of L, explained that 80 senior law students from UK, U of I, and Chase Law School interviewed elected officials in Kentucky last week. Carlsle Mayor Bill Power was interviewed about a year ago by one of these students, he said.

UK Professor of Law Eugene Mooney said that the most significant findings in the report are coming from the underdog, part-time politician who knows more about the structural and social problems of the people. One message, coming from the study, is that we are not doing enough for our elderly.

This report is now being prepared and should be released around July 1. Both Law Professors will probably be appointed to the Commission.
