

Kay's Kitchen

By Kay Fisher

How and where there is so quickly, I'll never know. Here it is time to start making and planning your Christmas baking. However, in the meantime one must eat, and too, be thinking about the Thanksgiving dinner.

In the meantime here is an old fashioned dessert you might like to practice on and later serve for company. I say practice because it took me several times to get it just right. To use for a buffet company dessert, bake in a round pyrex bowl or oblong one that will fit into a pretty holder. If you are going to serve it in sherry glasses from the kitchen that is necessary, but be sure to place the meringue so there is enough for each serving.

Mrs. J.M. Pitman is given surprise salute Sunday by church members

Mrs. J.M. (Margaret) Pitman who has served as an auxiliary leader at the Carlisle Presbyterian Church for the past 34 years was surprised Sunday, Oct. 13, as she was honored during the morning worship service.

Parish ministers of the church assisting Rev. Bert Eyster with the service were the Rev. W.H. Roberts, Zion Presbyterian Church, Heveta, W. Va., and the Rev. Harry Anderson, retired from the Transylvania Presbyterian living in Lexington. Special music for the worship hour included several numbers by the members.

Choir solos by Miss Ann King-solver and Daryl McFarland; both piano students of Mrs. Pitman and a vocal solo by her son Robert Pitman of Lexington, accompanied by his wife, Coraella.

A community reception and potluck dinner for members of the congregation and special guests followed the service. Custer Blair, Church Elder, presented Mrs. Pitman with a gift of appreciation for her years of dedicated service. It was also announced that a commemorative plaque will be presented to the church organ in her honor.

Margaret Wood was born to John and Alpha Wood on Dec. 24, 1922, in Jessamine county and had one brother. She received her primary and secondary education at the Jessamine County Schools. Later, she attended Transylvania University and the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

In the early 20's, Miss Wood came to Carlisle as a school teacher at Carlisle City School. While in Carlisle, she met and married J.M. Pitman, on Dec. 25, 1924. Together they ran the J.M. Pitman Jewelry Store, located on Main Street (now Sims Jewelry) from 1924 to 1959. After that time, however, she left her profession to rear her children. Pitman was placed on the Carlisle City School system during the 1950's. In the early 60's, she began teaching private piano lessons in her home and has continued this throughout the years.

Mrs. Pitman is a member of the Blue Grass Area Extension Homemakers Chorus; the Kentucky Extension Homemakers Chorus; and has worked with the Nicholas County Homemakers that have participated in the area and state fairs. She has served her church as District Chairman of the Women of the Church, past-president of the Women of the Church, Circle II treasurer; and Women of the Church historian; and as church director and organist for 38 years.

She has two children, Robert Wood Johnson, who married the former Corneila Caldwell from Georgia, and John Brooks Pitman (named after her brother) who married the former Rose of Bourbon county. She has three grandchildren: Kathy and Robert, and J.B. Jr., respectively. She and her husband have a total of 11 children.

Mrs. R.W. Pitman and family, Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Pitman and family, Rev. and Mrs. Harry Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Castle and family, Rev. John A. Daniel and son, all of Lexington; and Rev. Daniel's mother of Shelbyville, Mrs. Mattie Mae Glass and Mrs. Rose Lena Brumfield, Nicholasville; Rev. and Mrs. Edward Metta and Dr. and Mrs. S. Evans Brown, Winchester; Mr. and Mrs. Emory Clark Jr. and family, Flemingburg; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Cox and family and Mr. and Mrs. Clay Williams, Louisville; Proc Blair, University of Tennessee, Knoxville; Miss Lisa Reynolds, Centre College, Danville and Rev. W.H. Roberts, Heveta, W. Va.
