Homemakers meet

Parks

The Parks Homemakers met Thursday, Nov. 4 at the home of Mrs. Ruth Tincher. There were nine members and one new member, Mrs. Sarah Fryman, present.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Kash Grimes, president. The roll call was answered by naming "Something I'm Thankful For."

Mrs. Grimes gave some highlights of the Area annual meeting. Miss Ernestine Eads gave the devotional. Each chairman gave her various reports.

The lesson "The Slow Cooker" was given by Mrs. Ruth Tincher. The members were served at a decorated table with the food prepared as the lesson.

Club membership is open to anyone regardless of race, color, sex or national origin.

Miranda

Mrs. Lovell Shaw served a potluck supper to the Miranda Homemakers at her home recently before the meeting was called to order by Mrs. Edgar Scott, president.

Mrs. Albert Vice led the devotional. The club has one new member, Mrs. Harold Crowe. Nineteen other members attended along with two guests, Mrs. Wallace Ledford and Miss Ernestine Eads, county president.

The lesson on Covered Cushions and Pillows was given by Mrs. Carl Hughes. Mrs. Edgar Scott gave the lesson on Slow Cookery in the Crockpot.

The next meeting will be held Dec. 7 at the home of Mrs. Malcolm Wills. A potluck supper will be served at 6:30 p.m. Members will exchange Christmas gifts at that meeting.

Fish and Game Club changes meeting date

The Nicholas County Fish and Game Club will meet a week earlier than their usual meeting date this month due to the Thanksgiving holiday.

The meeting, including a potluck supper, has been changed to 7:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 19 and will be held at the clubhouse.

Miss Tammy Hales

Miss Hales places second

Miss Tammy Hales placed second and received a trophy in twirling competition in a recent meet at Whitley County High School in Williamsburg.

The contest, open to any girl in Kentucky, was sponsored by the Southeastern Kentucky Twirlettes and sanctioned by the U.S. Twirling Association.

Miss Hales, daughter of Mrs. Bobby Tedder, was in the 15 years of age and over category.

Free nurses lecture at UK Dec. 3

Lulu Wolf Hassenplug, well-known nurse and educator, will speak on "Nursing—Past, Present and Future" on Friday, Dec. 3, at the University of Kentucky.

Open to all nurses without charge, the lecture will begin at 10 a.m. in Seay Auditorium in the Agriculture Science Center North, Nicholasville Road and Cooper Drive.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served at 9:30 a.m. Following her address, Dr. Hassenplug will meet with graduate students and faculty of the UK College of Nursing, which is sponsoring the event.

A former dean of the UCLA School of Nursing and professor emeritus, Dr. Hassenplug has made significant contributions to the improvement of nursing service and nursing education during the past 25 years.

She has served as consultant in nursing education to a number of universities in the U.S. and foreign countries. She has been a member of the Surgeon General's Consultant Group on Nursing and a member of the Nursing Advisory Committee of the Department of Defense.

Cemeteries required to start trust fund

FRANKFORT—All cemeteries in the state are now required to establish a trust fund for the "perpetual care and maintenance" of the grounds prior to beginning operation.

House Bill 483, enacted by the 1976 Kentucky General Assembly, created a new section of KRS 307, known as the Kentucky Cemetery Law, which mandates that all cemeteries in the Commonwealth register with the state Department of Banking and Securities before beginning business.

The legislation also requires the creation of a trust fund to provide for the future care and maintenance of the cemetery.

The legislation is binding for all cemetery companies, that is, any group that sells burial places to the general public. In addition to family graveyards, religious society grounds, municipal corporation cemeteries and fraternal burial associations are exempted from the law.

According to the language of the law, "cemetery" includes both mausoleums and columbariums, above-ground vaults, as well as the familiar graveyards.

Funding for the trust fund will come from an initial trust deposit and a percentage of the subsequent sales.

A cemetery in a county with a population of less than 50,000 is required to make an initial deposit of $10,000; 50,000-90,000 population, $15,000; and a population of 100,000 or more, $25,000.

According to Peter Held, an attorney in the state department, only those cemeteries that made an offering of future care were required to set up a fund prior to the passage of the legislation.

Held said that the department plans to obtain all the required registrations and then conduct "spot checks" for compliance with the trust fund requirement.

Parked auto hit in BGI parking lot

Allen Earlywine, Carlisle Police Chief, investigated an accident on Wednesday, Nov. 10 involving vehicles belonging to Anita Richmond of Owingsville and Donna C. Hamm of Route 4, Carlisle.

Ms. Richmond inflicted considerable damage to the rear end of her auto, Earlywine said, when she backed it into the Hamm auto while attempting to back out of a parking space in the Blue Grass Industries parking lot. The Hamm auto, he said, was barely scratched.

4-H officers training tonight
