Conservation essay and poster contest underway locally

All the Nicholas County High School general science classes are busy writing essays and the Nicholas County Elementary School students are making posters to enter in the 1976 Conservation Essay and Jim Claypool Conservation Poster Contests sponsored by The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times. "Forests—Use and Renewal for My Community" will be the subject for the contest.

The competitions are open to all Kentucky elementary and high school students.

The poster competition is being held for the fourth year. It is open to students in grades one through five. In it, students are asked to make original posters with the subject of the competition as the theme of the posters. U.S. Savings Bonds ($100, $50, $25) will be awarded to three state winners by the two Louisville daily newspapers. Winners in 121 conservation districts will receive personalized plaques.

The essay contest is in its 33rd year. In the contest, students in grades six through 12 are asked to write essays of no more than 1,000 words, and the top award winners—121 district winners and three state winners—will receive a total of $3,825 in Savings Bonds from the Louisville newspapers.

Co-sponsors of the contest, along with The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times, are the Kentucky Association of Conservation Districts and the Kentucky Department of Education.

Detailed information and reference material for the two contests have been sent to the principals of all schools in Kentucky.

Fire extinguished on Tincher Property

Woody Wilson, Nicholas County fire chief reported a run made by his department last week to the Billy Tincher property on Scrub Grass Road.

Wilson said Tincher was attempting to fill the gas tank on his truck and when he started the electric pump a spark ignited gasoline. Tincher removed his truck immediately from the vicinity saving it from damage. However, he neglected to remove the hose from the gas tank of his truck before he pulled it away, according to Wilson, so he pulled the end attached to the pump off.

The fire department arrived and extinguished the blaze in a matter of minutes with a chemical firefighting liquid.
