Agnet puts danger sign on kitchen door

"Danger—enter at your own risk" is a warning that should be posted on many kitchen doors.

That's where most home accidents happen, according to Margie H. Wilson, Nicholas County Extension Agent for Home Economics. An assessment of falls, burns, cuts, electrical shocks, fires and explosions make it a hazardous place to be.

To safe guard your family, consider the following pointers on kitchen arrangement and use:

1. Doors should open against walls and be located so they don't interfere with traffic flow (swinging doors, while convenient, can cause accidents if not used properly).
2. Be careful of drawers or cabinet doors which extend out into the work space.
3. Ranges should be located at least 17" from a doorway so people won't brush against pot handles or the range itself. Always place the range away from a window or drafts, too.
4. Adequate counter space around the range for working with hot foods can help prevent burns or scalds. Fifteen inches of least resistant counter, such as wood or stainless steel, next to the range is best.
