By Kay Fisher

There isn't a Christmas gift quite as rare and delightful as a gift of homemade bread. Year after year it can be made new and fresher, then given as a gift giving nearer Christmas Day. The pound cakes and coffee or breakfast cakes given this week may be made any time or later. They all freeze well.

The following bread is a sure winner for baking now since there seems to be a most generous supply of winter squash, pumpkin and nutmeat.

PUMPKIN LOAF
2 cups sugar
1 cup oil
2 eggs
2 cups pumpkin, cooked or winter squash
3 cups all purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg

Sift flour, salt, baking powder, baking soda, and eggs one at a time, beat until fluffy and light. Blend in pumpkin or squash, then add flour/batter. Divide batter among three greased loaf pans. Bake for 45 minutes. Let cool for 10 minutes before slicing. Regular loaf pans may be used, but the smaller size are nice for gift giving. Bake on rack at 325 degrees. Cool in juice one hour. Wrap separately and freeze. When ready to use, thaw frozen loaves unwrapped for 30 minutes. This is a good recipe try dusted with butter. It is not a loaf bread. The pumpkin or squash make this bread a nice moist loaf.

CINNAMON AND NUT COFFEE CAKE
1 pkg. dry yeast
1 cup very warm water
2 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 pound butter, melted
3 cups flour
1/2 cup butter, melted
1 cup raisins
1 cup chopped nuts
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup sugar

Sprinkle the yeast over the water and set aside. Scald the milk and let it cool somewhat. Beat the eggs in a bowl, add the sugar and beat until well mixed. Add milk, yeast, butter, and 2 cups flour. Stir well. Add 3 more cups flour and stir.

If dough is very sticky, add a little more flour, working it in with your hands. Turn the dough out on a well-floured surface and knead for 10 minutes, adding small amounts of extra flour if necessary. The cake should be soft and springy.

Place the dough in a greased bowl and then turn the dough over so that the greasy side is on top. Cover with a cloth. Let it rise for one and a half hours. Punch down, turn up, and knead for 10 minutes. Divide the dough in half. Roll each half into a rectangle. Brush with melted butter. Combine the raisins, nuts, cinnamon and sugar and cut into center strips along with lightly moistened fingers. Press the strips into, then remove from pan. When cool frost with confectioners sugar frosting.
