Easter Seal campaign now underway

The 1979 Easter Seal Campaign got underway March 1 and continues through Easter Sunday, April 16. We urge your enthusiastic support of this special drive to help handicapped children and adults in our city, county and state. Giving is a personal thing. You give to help...to lend a helping hand to someone in need in an act of purest brotherhood. Yet all too often in this busy world we miss the point. Or we give to this act automatically, out of a vague sense of responsibility. Or, often we refuse to give because we don't really understand.

Thursday, March 1, 1957 Year-round observance of Daylight Saving Time may become a reality for Kentucky as well as many other Kentucky cities. Observance will begin the last Sunday in April.

The 'sue flu' bug

The 'flu we are seeing the spread of a new kind of epidemic. You might call it the 'sue flu.' While the malpractice suit started out as a viable mechanism for protecting patients, it is developing into a major calamity affecting the efficient delivery of health care.

Who suffers most from the 'sue flu' epidemic? The ordinary patient, going to the ordinary physician or hospital, are the real victims. You suffer because your doctor's bills are higher and your hospital's bills are too. The cost of hospital malpractice insurance has gone up more than 75 percent in the past five years, and the cost to protect your doctor's bills are higher and your hospital's bills are too.

ANSWER TO Q18183 HIS, HA AND T'GIEF Writings of the late Warren R. Fisher, Sr.

Tip to find the great snow melting under a sparkling sun and a warm south wind, where yesterday's crumple as powdered glass and rags drumble under the wheels of crawling wagons, and faint rime ploches fields moistened by April rains. It is but a hint, but a meaning, monitory, whiff to the nostrils, yet the song sparrow has sent it and a mocking-bird that has fed at my neighbor's bird lunch counter these days of snow and is thrilled by the treat of promise that he sings in mellow mimicry his song of spring.

one who loves what the little creatures love, can read with open heart and listening ears. It rushes upon you so suddenly, and with such force, after it is gone you will fall wondering if it was there at all or if you fancy it. I envy your Roman a bit shy about coming. It is the first living, breathing messenger from a long blue distance, and for this it is precious. After that, the bilizards may blow winds whif, snow may pile head high, but you will know and call out every little rill will know, and there will be more messengers, more signs, but none more sweet than this first venture messenger, in the heart of winter.

much to suffer, no doubt yet to feel once more the call of spring in the heart, the whiff of spring in the nostrils, to find once more the wise of youth? So much to walk in the cemetery on the hill despite its sadness. All about us the slant-gaze coats of moon as "the first robin and the sheltering evergreens, I to ringer in their white and grey approach. This, but plaintively and a very noise of spring, cover the carol of the meadow, hawk and soon we find a flock of these birds, the black heard his chattering alarm call now morning and now he bids fair to that spring has wintled and join the returning flock next month, a winter hardened veteran.
