First rate increase for auto no-fault insurance is approved by Commissioner

by Paula Alexander

FRANKFORT—State Insurance Commissioner Harold McGuffey has approved the first rate increase for auto no-fault coverage since an 18-month freeze on the rates ended Jan. 1.

McGuffey said the Travelers Insurance Companies have been granted a requested 21.2 per cent rate increase for the bodily injury and personal injury protection portion of auto insurance premiums.

Kentucky's no-fault program was implemented July 1, 1975, with a moratorium on rate increases until Jan. 1, 1977. A 10 per cent roll-back on auto insurance rates was ordered for one year.

Between July 1, 1976, when the roll-back ended, and early January, the Department of Insurance did not receive sufficient data from any underwriter to warrant a rate increase for no-fault coverage, McGuffey said. He said the increase is the first approved by him for bodily injury and personal injury protection since he became commissioner five years ago.

State Farm, Kentucky's largest auto insurance underwriter, will request an overall 13.1 per cent rate increase at a March 8 public hearing before the department.

McGuffey said that statistics submitted by Travelers show the company's rate increase would have been 39.2 per cent without the no-fault program. He cited a decrease in legal costs as contributing to the smaller rate increase.

Secondly, he noted that Travelers is currently charging some 20 per cent less for auto bodily injury and personal injury protection than in 1970.

Escalating medical costs contributed more to Travelers' rate increase than any other factor, McGuffey said. He quoted the U.S. Department of Commerce's consumer price index from 1973-76, which shows an overall medical expenses increase of 43 per cent.

Moreover, McGuffey noted that the average weekly wage had undergone an increase just under 20 per cent. Injured persons covered by no-fault receive their normal wages from their insurance companies until they are able to return to work.

McGuffey said full coverage policyholders with Travelers will experience only an overall 6.4 per cent increase since some two-thirds of the policy cost is for damage protection and the remaining one-third covers liability and personal injury protection. A policyholder carrying just the liability portion will be assessed the entire 21.2 per cent increase.

The Travelers Insurance Companies include the Travelers Indemnity Co., the Charter Oak Fire Insurance Co., The-Phoenix Insurance Co., and the Travelers Indemnity Co. of America. Travelers, the eighth largest Kentucky underwriter of no-fall, handles 2.7 per cent of all auto insurance in the Commonwealth.

McGuffey noted that he had denied a 30 per cent rate increase requested by Travelers just before no-fault went into effect. "At that time the request was not in keeping with the spirit of no-fault, which mandated a rate reduction," he said.

Almost 98 per cent of Kentucky's drivers have accepted no-fault.

Mining booklet discusses minerals

WASHINGTON—There is an urgent need for a better public understanding of issues affecting domestic mineral supplies, declares the American Mining Congress in a new booklet entitled "What Mining Means to Americans."

The AMC publication asserts that the U.S. is becoming dangerously dependent on foreign sources for many key minerals. These include 22 percent lead, 29 percent iron ore, 64 percent zinc, 71 percent nickel, 85 percent aluminum ore, and virtually all manganese, tin, platinum, chromium, graphite, and cobalt.

According to the new industry publication, this dependence is risky and is steadily growing because of the increasing population, improved standards of living and greater competition from the rest of the world for metals and energy supplies.

"At the same time," says J. Allen Overton Jr., American Mining Congress president, "exploration and development of new mineral deposits is being frustrated by governmental withdrawal of public lands and other inhibiting actions, as well as overzealous environmental concern. We believe, for example, that in the surface mining of coal, the industry must exercise good stewardship of its land and, wherever feasible, provide for return of the land to a condition for further use after mining. But shortsighted interests are trying to lay down impossible conditions that will make the U.S. a minerals pauper, despite its rich potential."

The AMC booklet points out that "although mining directly employs only a very small fraction of the U.S. work force, all other jobs and industries ultimately depend on it."

Calling adequate mineral supplies "the keystones of destiny" and "the bedrock of civilization," the publication declares that "our horn of plenty begins with a hole in the ground. We may be in trouble if we forget that."

Copies of the booklet are available at 25 cents each from the American Mining Congress, 1100 Ring Building, Washington, D.C. 20036.

MAGICWORD

HOW TO PLAY: Read the list of words. Look at the puzzle. You'll find these words in all directions — horizontally, vertically, diagonally, backwards. Draw a circle around each letter of a word found in the puzzle then make cross-off list. Circling it will show a letter has been used but will leave it visible should it also form part of another word. Find the big words first. When letters of all listed words are circled, you'll have the given number of letters left over. They'll spell out your MAGICWORD.
