'Drinking coffee and jawing' paid off for Henry

CORBIN—When six or eight men get together here to "drink coffee and jaw" late at night at a local restaurant, they consider their time well spent. Their jaw sessions recently resulted in the building of a house for a friend who had nowhere to go.

A social worker, an electrician, an automotive parts salesman, a retired truck driver, a contractor, and a tire salesman all sat around a table one night and formed the "Cosmos Construction Company".

The company went out of business—at least temporarily—after building the house for their friend Henry. Henry is 52, disabled, and draws a small social security check each month.

When eviction became apparent, Henry's case was referred to Bob Lockhart, a social worker for the Department for Human Resources, and a friend of Henry's since they were boys.

"You see, Henry was about to be put out on the street because his landlord was selling his place," said Lockhart. "We held off the landlord for more than a month by sending someone to talk to him. But time was running out and it was getting close to Christmas."

Lockhart explained that one night he was sitting at the restaurant talking with a local contractor about Henry's plight. "Well, my contractor friend flipped over a place mat and started drawing a house. When he was through, he put together a list of materials needed to build it.

"Students at the vocational school did a blueprint of the plans, and a lumber man found out about the project and gave us all the lumber free," said Lockhart. "And all the insulation was donated, and people started giving money and other materials. Before we knew what was happening, we had what we needed to build Henry's house.

The Lions Club, the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis Club and others helped terrifically with donations.

"We never even began to tap the resources in this town. We even got a sewage disposal system worth $1200 for just $100," he said.

Lockhart's supervisor admits that most of the resulting $7,000 project would be difficult to document in paperwork for Human Resources, "but the service got delivered."

"And it cost more than the books show," said Lockhart. If labor was counted, the cost would double.

"We named this short-lived volunteer construction company the Cosmos Construction Company. We took three times more liabilities than assets and came out with a balanced budget. We used 40 per cent inspiration and 60 per cent perspiration to make up the difference," reads a letter of appreciation to contributors.

"It wasn't planned—it mushroomed. It came out of an emergency. Henry had no place to live," said one of the Cosmos workers who met for lunch at the restaurant. All the men preferred to remain anonymous.

"A town like ours, with 16,000 people in it, should never let a man starve to death or go without a place to live," said one of the men. "People are eager to take a hand in things; they don't want to stand back and watch."

Lockhart has already started to interest his friends in the idea of painting houses for needy families in the area. And before another cold winter rolls around, he wonders, how many houses could be warmed with insulation?

The Corbin social worker thinks these and other plans may pan out. "There are enough people who are interested in doing the work and it won't cost the taxpayers anything. This winter has proved to us that people get cold. Maybe next year they could be warmer," he said.

Henry, sitting on his couch in his little house on Idaho Street, smiled an appreciative body grin when Lockhart paid him a recent visit to see how his friend was getting along.

"Some folks think I have some pretty hair-brained ideas," said Lockhart. "But it's all worth it just to see Henry smile like that. After all, Henry and I grew up together."

None of its members know for sure if or when the Cosmos Construction Company will ever go back into operation, but chances are good that anyone willing to donate his time for a good dose of satisfaction in return could be hired on the crew as a "Cosmonaut". One retired truck driver spent 170 hours working on Henry's house and says he'd do it again.

Henry's pride is his new house, constructed by friends in his hometown. When Henry faced eviction last year, his friends, and various charitable organizations in the Corbin area pooled their resources to build the structure.

ORDINANCE

BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of Council of the City of Carlisle, Kentucky, as follows:

1. Any person, firm, partnership or corporation residing in or employed in, the City of Carlisle, or operating a place of business therein, who or which operates a motor vehicle of any kind within said City, shall pay to the City an initial license fee of Five Dollars ($5.00) for each and every motor vehicle so owned and operated. All motor vehicle dealers shall procure one license for each dealer tag or plate held by them. Said license will be obtainable at the office of the City Clerk-Treasurer.

2. Upon the purchase of each such license from the City Clerk, the purchaser will receive a license sticker which shall be placed in the lower right side of the windshield of each motor vehicle, or in some other prominent place on vehicles having no windshield.

3. The period for which license shall be valid is the calendar year, January 1st through December 31st, and the last day for purchasing licenses each year shall be March 1st.

4. Any motor vehicle which first comes under the application of this ordinance after March 1st of any year shall be subject to a pro-rata portion of the license tax, but in no event shall the tax on each vehicle be less than Two Dollars and Fifty Cents ($2.50). Possession of a State license or license tag shall be conclusive proof of ownership and operation of any vehicle covered by this ordinance.

5. Transfer from one motor vehicle to another of any license issued pursuant to the provisions of this ordinance shall be unlawful.

6. Any person, firm, partnership or corporation who or which transfers a vehicle for which a license has been procured, and acquires another vehicle in its stead, shall pay a license fee of One Dollar ($1.00) for each such additional license procured.

7. Any person, firm, partnership or corporation found to be in violation of the foregoing provisions of this ordinance shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not less than Ten Dollars ($10.00), nor more than Twenty Dollars ($20.00) for each such violation.

8. All license fees collected hereunder shall be placed in a special account to be known as the "Streets and Alleys Account", and shall be used solely for the construction, repair and maintenance of streets and alleys in the City of Carlisle.

9. If any part of this ordinance is for any reason declared to be invalid, such invalidity shall not affect the remaining parts.

10. All previously passed ordinances or parts thereof in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

11. This ordinance shall become effective immediately after its passage and publication as required by law.

WHEREUPON, on motion of Councilman Wills, seconded by Councilman Fay, and upon a majority vote of all Councilmen, present in quorum, this the 14th day of March, 1977.

Approved:
/s/ William Power, Mayor
City of Carlisle, Kentucky
Attest:
/s/ Joyce McIntyre, Clerk
City of Carlisle, Kentucky

MAGICWORD

HOW TO PLAY: Read the list of words. Look at the puzzle. You'll find these words in all directions—horizontally, vertically, diagonally, backwards. Draw a circle around each letter of a word found in the puzzle then strike it off list. Circling it will show a letter has been used but will leave it visible should it also form part of another word. Find the big words first. When letters of all listed words are circled, you'll have the given number of letters left over. They'll spell out your MAGICWORD.

THE CARLISLE MERCURY

LAUGH OUT

Two Irishmen, newly arrived in America, had put up in a small room. One night, pestered by mosquitoes, they kept slapping at the pests until they could get to sleep. About two o'clock in the morning a firefly happened to sail through the open window.

"It's no use, Pat," said one. "Here comes one o' the critters a-watchin' for us wid a lantern!"

POLITICAL LISTINGS
