Texas spuds?
No--Moorefield

"Wish I knew someone in Texas to send these to," was the comment J. W. Crump made about these two sweet potatoes which he grew in a garden behind his home on the Moorefield Road. They would definitely make a bragging Texas sit up and take notice! The long spud [left] is 17 inches long, 12 inches around, and weighs four pounds. The small one weighs three pounds. Mr. Crump was given the plants, 40 in all, and they have produced four bushels of these unusually large potatoes. When asked if they were solid all the way through, he said they were, and tasted as good as any sweet potato—Duncan photo.

NCHS news

by Debra Knippenberg, Sarah Terrell, Connie Barbee, Kent Hensley, Gary Sallee

Approximately $200 was earned by student council in last week's homecoming activities. An additional $145 was made on concessions.

NCHS students participated in a homecoming pep rally Friday, Sept. 30. The NCHS band and JROTC colorguard participated. Football players and cheerleaders were introduced.

Nicholas County's JROTC will make its annual two-day trip to Fort Knox Oct. 8 and 9. The group will leave MMI at 9 a.m. the eighth and spend two hours en route.

The JROTC has also been invited to participate in helicopter rides at MMI the eighth. Cadets will be in uniform and will have written permission from parents. Thirty-five cadets plan to attend.

Gainful Home Ectnomics class taught by Mrs. Bonnie Metcalfe and two foods classes taught by Miss Kathy Green went on a field trip to Lexington, Sept. 29.

The foods classes went to Kitchen Planning Center and the Gainful Home Economics class went to a mini-school.

The three classes ate lunch at Fayette Mall, then had grocing assignments at Shillito's.

About 46 NCHS students are taking vocational training at the Harrison Co. Vocational School this year. Classes offered include welding, building trades, auto mechanics, machine shop, drafting, health careers, business and office.

Vocational students have the opportunity to join national organizations. Industrial class members can join Vocational Clubs of America (VICA), and business clubs can join Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA).

Bass keepers to be 30 cm on Jan. 1

FRANKFORT—The state Fish and Wildlife Commission acted to change the statewide size limit on bass from 10 to 12 inches or 30.48 centimeters. The new limit will become effective Jan. 1, 1978, Fish and Wildlife Commissioner Arnold Mitchell said, and was made upon recommendation of fishery biologists with the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

In other action dealing with fishery management, the commission authorized amendment of regulations which would legalize the use of live bait "Rakes" to take the corbicula (Asiatic clam) in all commercial fishing waters and to open the season for the taking of carp, buffalo and gar with a bow and arrow throughout the year in all waters of the state. (The season had formerly been closed during the month of May in non-navigable waters.)

Also, the commission moved to open all waters in the state to tickling and noodling for rought fishing during daylight hours; to close nine streams to gigging and snagging for rough fish and to open eight others to that activity. The closed streams are Little Kentucky River in Trimble county; Peters Creek, Barren and Monroe; Beaver Dam Creek, Edmonson; Cahada Creek, Wayne; Claylick Creek, Crittenden; Greasy Creek, Leslie; Little South Fork, McCreary and Wayne; Laurel Creek, Elliott, and Hook Creek, Johnson and Lawrence. Streams opened to gigging and snagging of rough fish are Russell Fork, Pike; Long Creek and Puncheon Creek, Allen; Little, Whippoorwill, Logan; Cloverlick, Harlan; Kinniconick, Lewis; Hurricane Fork, McCreary, and Bunchos Creek, Whitley.

All of the above changes, except the 12" size limit, will become effective, Mitchell said, as soon as the regulation amendment process can be completed, a procedure which usually requires 60 to 90 days.
