Kurt Kelley joins firm as draftsman

His name is Kurt Kelley. Kurt and his wife, Laura, live in Carlisle and he commutes the 50 miles to Watkins & Associates in Lexington where he is employed. Kurt just joined the engineering firm as a draftsman. These facts are not unusual.

What is unusual is that Kurt is a paraplegic, which means he is paralyzed from the waist down. He drives that distance between Lexington and Carlisle in a car equipped with special hand controls. His new employer made things easier by installing a wooden ramp on the front of the building at 446 East High for Kurt's wheelchair to enter and exit and even built a special drafting table just for his use.

Kurt Kelley's back and spinal cord were injured in an automobile accident in January of 1977. He came to Cardinal Hill Hospital, Lexington, from St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington for rehabilitation first as an in-patient and later as an out-patient. While an out-patient, Kurt enrolled in the drafting program at Central Kentucky Vocational School. As a medical problem developed, Kurt was re-admitted to Cardinal Hill hospital and completed his studies with Vocational Education instructor Mike Newton this summer in the hospital's Vocational Development Unit.

Now 23, Kurt recounts his path into the ranks of the employed. He told his instructor, one day this summer, "I think I'm ready to go get a job. I won't know what kind of draftsman I am unless I go out and try." Kurt contacted several local engineering firms where he thought his skill would be marketable and happily made the connection with Watkins and Associates.

Jim Maggard, company vice president, says the engineering firm is no stranger to hiring the handicapped or involvement with handicapped construction projects. The firm employs another draftsman who has a respiratory condition and must use tanks of oxygen on the job. Watkins and Associates has been called the Mayor's Committee for the Elimination of Architectural barriers for its excellent work on handicapped ramps on downtown Lexington streets. It has also done handicapped design work for several local hospitals.

Kurt Kelley's supervisor is Bob Ely, principal engineer, who has guided his handicapped draftsman through a 56 mile waterline project and just assigned him the job of designing sidewalks in Vanceburg. Kurt's job calls for using a Leroy lettering set and doing line drawings.

The Executive Director of Cardinal Hill Hospital, Robert A. Silvanik, said, "We are very pleased to have had a part in the physical rehabilitation and vocational education and training." He commented further, "Kurt is an excellent example of what the hospital is trying to do through its comprehensive rehabilitation treatment and training programs by preparing handicapped individuals to achieve their fullest potential of physical, social, intellectual, emotional and economic self-sufficiency." Mr. Silvanik noted that Oct. 3-9 is National Hire the Handicapped Week. "We would certainly like to see more Kurt Kelleys have the opportunity to become useful and productive citizens by getting jobs in the community," Mr. Silvanik said.

Bluegrass unemployment lowest

FRANKFORT—Unemployment in the Bluegrass continues to be the lowest in the state, although there was an increase during August, shown by figures released by the Department for Human Resources. Nicholas county's rate is 4.5.

The August figures for this region were 3.6 percent compared to 3.3 percent in July, an increase of 0.3 percent. According to Robert MacDonald, chief labor analyst for the state, "The increase for the Bluegrass and the commonwealth as a whole may be attributed to layoffs in Kentucky industry."

MacDonald said the state unemployment rate rose 0.4 percent from 4.2 percent in July to 4.6 percent in August.

Lincoln county recorded the highest rate at 7.0 percent with Harrison county low at 2.4 percent.

New Horizons

By JANE FORREST

Dear Jane: I was disillusioned by my mother last month. I had always regarded her as the kindest, gentlest person in the world. On the day before her 75th birthday I paid her a surprise visit and when I came in the side drive was astonished to hear her giving a tongue-lashing to a man fixing her roof. She was apparently not satisfied with his work and was shouting at him rudely, using a few choice words I didn't think she knew. When she saw me she quickly reverted to her sweet old self. Her only explanation was that she'd lost her temper. Do you blame me for having my faith shattered?—Mrs. P.

Dear Mrs. P.: Mothers are only human, and subject to as many changes in mood and temper as the rest of us. We often endow elderly parents with superhuman qualities of virtue and, knowing this, fathers and mothers may strive to fulfill this saccharine image. But occasionally we catch them riding a tantrum and discover they're as subject to agger and passions as the rest of us.

MAGICWORD

HOW TO PLAY: Read the list of words. Look at the puzzle. You'll find the words in all directions — horizontally, vertically, diagonally, backwards. Draw a circle around each letter of a word found in the puzzle then strike it off list. Circling it will show a letter has been used but will leave it visible should it also form part of another word. Find the big words first. When letters of all listed words are circled, you'll have the given number of letters left over. They'll spell out your MAGICWORD.
