James Letcher new director of FHA here

Mr. Letcher

James Letcher, a native of Nicholas County, is the new director of the Farmers Home Administration (FHA) for Nicholas and Harrison Counties. He has transferred from Owenton where he had similar duties and has replaced Kelly Thompson. Mr. Letcher, 32, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Letcher of Route 4, Carlisle and a 1964 graduate of Nicholas County High School and graduated from Morehead University in 1969. He has been an employee of FHA since that time. Mr. Letcher is married to the former Miss Judy Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mitchell of Locust Street, Carlisle. They have two children, Tim, seven years old, and Kevin, seven months. Mr. Letcher's agency, FHA, is a government program which extends loans for homes or home improvement and for other related needs. The FHA is located with the County Extension offices at the Courthouse in Carlisle. Mr. Letcher will be in his office on Tuesdays from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. and on Thursdays from 8 a.m. to 12 noon. Mr. Letcher presently resides in Owenton but plans to buy a home near Cynthiana.

Miss Harper to attend seminar

RICHMOND, IND. — May Ann Harper, 279 Chestnut Street, Carlisle, plans to attend a Preview Day at Earlham College April 15 which will feature the humanities. About 50 high school students will take part in this one-day introduction to the teaching of the humanities at Earlham. Informal discussion groups with faculty and Earlham students will alternate with workshops. Visitors will see video cassettes on Japan, produced by Jackson Bailey, professor of history and director of the school's East Asian Studies Program, hear presentations on the psychology and literature of fairy tales, and attend a brief concert by the Earlham College Chamber Singers, among other opportunities. Earlham College is a private liberal arts, four-year co-educational college with a Quaker affiliation. It was founded in 1847 and maintains a student population of about 1100.

Teacher completes CPR course

Mrs. Laura Gray (Hon) of Carpenter Pike has recently completed the Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation course, (CPR) offered by WEDCO and the American Heart Association held at the Bourbon County Health Department. The course included mini-lectures, practical practice, performance test, and a written test. Mrs. Gray is now certified in the following areas of procedures: unwitnessed cardiac arrest, one and two rescuer procedure, obstructed airway, and infant resuscitation. Mrs. Gray is a teacher at Nicholas County Elementary.

Matthew Guthrie attends workshop
 Matthew Guthrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Guthrie, attended a workshop this weekend in Louisville entitled "Tomorrow's Settlers: Settling the Southwestern Institute and was presented by Dr. Lynn Bondavani, former education officer at the National Air and Space Museum. The workshop was to explore ideas of constructing model space stations.

Dr. Bondavani stated, "By the year 2000, settlements in space will be a reality." Further allowing, "The model rooms you create today may be the groundwork for manmade worlds of tomorrow."
 Matthew will return to Louisville next week to attend the second workshop which will be the actual construction of space equipment.
