School to begin Monday

Summer vacation is almost over, Nicholas County students will return to school Monday, Aug. 28, for orientation. Tuesday will be the first full day of the 1978 school term.

Buses will be on the same schedule as last year, arriving at the schools from 8 to 8:30 a.m., when classes begin dismissal will be at 3:30 p.m.

Home room teachers for high school students have been announced in alphabetical order, they are as follows:

Freshman - Jimmy Alexander through Sidney Fryman report to Jim Brumage; Frank Giles through Kirk Mattar report to Mrs. Catherine Casper; Larry McFarland through Johnny Smoot report to Mrs. Judy Leth Letcher; Mark Shapp through Stacie Young report to Donny Tackitt.

Sophomore - Jack Anderson through Jeffrey Doyle report to Mrs. Sue Kirby; Forrest Duncan through Billy Hubbard report to Mrs. Pat Massey; Richard Hunt through Patricia Robinson report to Mrs. Bonnie Metcalf; Bridgette Sault through Robert Workman report to Mrs. Martha Sue Taylor.

Junior - Barbara Bach through Wilmer Halcomb report to Bill Anderson; Steve Hamilton through David Young report to Rob Lane; Eddie Parcell through David Young report to Mrs. Kay Wills; junior vocational students report to Edwin Donavan.

Seniors - Brenda Astory through Tammy Hake report to Ms. Kathy Green; Randy Hunter through Ron Hooper report to Mrs. Victoria McCannell; Mark Ruddell through Linda Wilson report to Wallace Rice; senior vocational students report to Wilbert Winkie.

The Nicholas County Board of Education has adopted a new policy toward the attendance of those students who are not covered by the Kentucky Compulsory Attendance Law, namely students of age 16 and over.

Those students who have missed 10 days of school, or are tardy 10 days, unexcused, are to appear with their parents, before the School Attendance Committee to discuss the reason for such absence or tardiness. This School Attendance Committee will be composed of the school principal, the director of pupil personnel, the guidance counselor, and the student's homeroom teacher. This committee will recommend to the principal any action they deem feasible in the particular situation but the final disposition of the situation will be left entirely with the principal. Any appropriate action may be taken by school authorities, including expulsion in extreme or aggravated cases.

The following reasons, while not deemed to be exclusive, will be considered unexcused: over-sight; car trouble, including flat tire; babysitting; taking another student for driver's test; have sufficient credit; travel or vacation; work, except 10 days for harvest; tobacco; parent/student indifference; and suspension from school for disciplinary reasons.

Immunization certificate

The Nicholas County Health Center has asked once again that parents ensure their child has an up-to-date Immunization Certificate. The certificate is mandatory because of new state regulations and children not holding one may face a delay in entering school. Immunizations are available at the Health Center or at a family doctor.

1968 CLASS REUNION TO BE HELD

The 1968 class of Nicholas County High will hold its ten year reunion on Oct. 7, 1978 at 6:30 at the home of Lorrain Frey Smoot, Millersburg. Potluck supper will be served. Any member needing more information please contact Lorrain Smoot at 494-2209 or Phyllis Hardwick Sims at 289-2581.

CANCER SCREENING CLINIC

A Cervical Cancer Screening Clinic will be held at the Nicholas County Health Center Thursday, Aug. 24. Clinic hours will be 9:11-30 a.m. and 1:15-6 p.m. There will also be screening for oral lesions and breast exams. A film will be shown on self breast exam.

All women who have not had a Pap smear in the past year are urged to attend.

1935 MUSKETEERS/A team to remember

There is no mistake about it, Carlisle is fast becoming a football town again. Nicholas County High school has won 39 football games in the past two years and now Ben Pumpfrey's Bluejackets are the team to beat.

Just mention Nicholas County is almost over the state that is even vaguely familiar with high school sports and you can be sure that one thing will work its way into the conversation - FOOTBALL.

But for those too young to remember, (myself included), this football fever that has opponents dreading to board a bus headed for Carlisle is not something altogether foreign to this town.

The year is 1935. FDR is in the White House; Happy Chandler is hot on the gubernatorial trail; Betty Davis has just won the academy award as best actress of the year; and the colors are green and white. Not since Alexander Dumas released his swashbuckling novel has the name, "Musketeers", aroused such an air of excitement as now.

For this year boasts the football team that all other local teams are to be measured by. It is a year of the single wing, the flying block, the drop kick, the spitzer. It is a year that echoes such names as "Greasy" Smoot, "Black Jack" Blount, "Chicken" Carlisle, and "Bugs" Greene. It is 1.5 yards per carry. They amassed 104 first downs during the season, to their opponents' 29. They completely dominated the opposition in every phase of the game.

Two of the star players from the team were named on post season ALL-STATE Squads. Malcolm Armstrong was chosen as an end, while "Bugs" Greene cracked the lineup as a running back. Another star, "Chicken" Carlisle, was named an All-Star the following season.

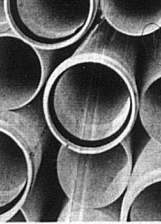

At the end of the season, Greene had amassed all previous records by gaining 1,24 yards on 183 carries, for an average of 6.13 yards per carry. One of the most colorful personalities on the team was a guard by the name of "Black Jack" Blount. Now "Black Jack" was said to be the meanest player on the team and he would reportedly do most anything to rough things up a bit, (i.e., bite, scratch, claw, etc.). He managed to build a rather notorious reputation around the CKC for some of his antics. His most famous play was derived from his habit of chewing tobacco during games. When he would line up across from an opponent and the quarterback would start to call the signals, he would spit the tobacco juice right in the face of the opposing lineman. Needless to say Blount accomplished his goal of heating things up.

Whether or not Blount's little trick was a substantial factor on the outcome of the games, the Musketeers swept through their eight game season without once tasting defeat. They faced and defeated:

Irvine	36-0
Georgetown	47-0
Ladlow	14-0
Mayville	7-0
Stanford	62-6
Cynthiana	28-0
Lewersburg	26-0
Winchester	48-0

County road supervisor's job left open by Fiscal Court; salary is set at $200 per week

County Judge/Executive Reese Aug. 16. The recommendation was turned down by a 3-2 vote of the second Fiscal Court meeting in a row.

Magistrates Bus Atkinson, Bob Livingood and Melvin Fryman voted against hiring Mr. Ecton for the position vacated when Joe Smart resigned July 14. Magistrates Paul Tischer and James Anderson voted to hire Mr. Ecton, the only applicant who has been certified by the state to date.

At the prior Fiscal Court meeting, on Aug. 8, Judge Smoot's recommendation to hire Mr. Ecton was tabled until the next meeting by the same 3-2 vote of the magistrates.

Aside from unanimously agreeing that the road supervisor's salary will be $200 per week, no further action was taken by the Fiscal Court on this matter.

Ben Ford attends meeting

State Sen. Ed Ford attended the meeting with some supporters of Allan Clay Stone's idea to dam Coon Creek to form a 900 acre lake, creating a reservoir.

Don Hassell, accompanied by Larry Conners, both of the Bluegrass Area Development District (BGADD), said that the project is a "long shot" because the benefits would be recreational only. But, he said that federal aid state funds could become available more readily if the Fiscal Court was behind the project.

Mr. Hassell suggested that the Fiscal Court request studies be done by both the Soil Conservation and the Corp of Engineers. Since the studies would cost the county nothing, the Fiscal Court agreed to request them.

Sen. Ford assured the group that he would lobby for the project only if the Fiscal Court supported it.

Mr. Stone's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Stone, represented him at the meeting.
