Farm and Home

by Mrs. Sharon Wilson
It's just about time to begin project work this year. Leaders will be contacted in the month of February for woodcraft, clothing and arts and crafts. 4-H is a good organization for starting your talents with youth. As we begin to call and search for leaders, keep in mind the intrinsic joys of helping youngsters acquire new skills. County record judging was completed last week. Junior record winners are as follows: Angela Brumagren, bicycle; Margaret Hamm, foods and clothing; Robbyn Carter, horse and pony and gardening; senior record winners are Sarah Hamm, dog and clothing; Michelle Knapke, foods. Winning records were returned to the youngsters with suggestions for improvement, since they will be representing Nicholas County in Area Competition Monday, Feb. 20. This accomplishment provides the youth an opportunity to meet with other county champions in the Bluegrass area at a banquet in early March. Applications are now being accepted for the 4-H Older Youth Conference to be held in Washington, D. C. April 4-15, 1978. To qualify for the trip, delegates should be freshman and sophomores in high school, plan to continue in 4-H, willing to serve as a teen leader, and interested in promoting better citizen ship.

Highlights of the trip include speakers and discussions on citizenship, a boat trip to Mt. Vernon, an evening at the theater, a visit to Capital Hill, visits with Kentucky congressmen as well as visits to famous monuments and Kennedy Center.

If you qualify and want to attend applications are available at the Extension Office located in the basement of the courthouse. Nicholas County will serve as host for the Area 4-H Council on Monday, Feb. 13. Delegates from each county in the Bluegrass area will attend the dinner to be held at Central 4-H Camp. Carlisle West Homemakers will serve the banquet.

The snow has taken its toll on program delays, however we are ready to shovel our way through to new heights in 4-H.

County is farm safety survey

Nicholas County is one of 30 counties that have been randomly selected to participate in a state-wide farm safety survey, according to Mike Phillips, county Extension agent for agriculture.

The survey is being conducted by the UK College of Agriculture and the Cooperative Extension Service to find out what the accident situation is on Kentucky farms. Mr. Phillips says that the results of the survey will be used to develop educational programs that will be more effective in helping farm families prevent costly accidents that occur every year.

He points out that national statistics indicate that farming is one of the most hazardous occupations in the nation.
