How often do we give youth a "Do Be" message? Do to be good. Do be on time. Do be what I expect you to be. It is perfectly acceptable to have high expectations of youth, because many times they will motivate them to work at optimum capacity.

However, youth have expectations of adults, also. They look to them for guidance to grow into responsible adults. A young lady from Georgia wrote a list of "Do Bees" for her 4-H leader and it has many implications for all adults, who are in contact with youth. It reads as follows:

Please do be:

READY to accept my affection.

LOVING. I need love to grow and be CONSISTENT. That makes me trust you.

CORRECTING me in private if at all possible.

Trying to keep up with how quickly I am growing.

SHARING with me your values, but let me develop my own.

TALKING quietly. I'll attend more to what you're saying.

MAKING me feel bigger than I am. I'll make fewer dumb mistakes.

REMEMBERING that I love experimenting. I can't get on without it.

FIRM and fair with me. I prefer it. It makes me feel more secure.

LISTENING CAREFULLY. Sometimes I can't explain my action accurately.

Senators, Dodgers, Giants win in last week's games

Baseball got under way Tuesday with a 1-1½ win for the Senators over the Giants. The Giants held the lead until the last inning when a double by Frank Hamilton drove in the tying and winning run. Tony Ho w a r d pitched a good game but got the loss while Steve Fryman who was replaced by Newton Reed got the win. Eleven hits for the Giants came from Barry Bretz, Dean Hinton (2), Tony Howard (2), Ronnie Sadler (2), Mike Webb (2), Steve Hamilton and Mike Parviz. The Senators seven hits were made by: Shory Duncan, Donald Markland (2), Steve Fryman, Frank Hamilton (2) and Timmy Fryman.

The last game was a blow-out as the Dodgers rolled over the A's 18-1. Mike Boykin made the only run for the A's and made one of the three hits by Steve Hamilton (2), Robert Sosby, Timmy Hunt and Eddie McComb. Mike Woodley pitched the three hitter while the A's used three pitchers. Timmy Hunt started and got the loss. He was replaced by Darrell Faulkner and Steve Lintville. They gave up 14 hits to: Donald Small (3), Kirk Mattix (2), Todd Allison (2), Mike Woodley (2), Mark Taylor (2), Robert Sosby, Timmy Witrow, Doyle and Danny Howard. The Senators just barely got by the A's Friday night for a 1-2 victory. Mike
