
Col. Griffith commands Operation Snowblow II

U. S. Army soldiers from Ft. Hood, Texas lent a helping hand to their New England neighbors recently when one of the worst storms in the area's history literally "froze" activities in parts of Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

A task force of engineer assets from the sprawling military installation of Ft. Hood quickly responded to the Federal Disaster Assistance Agency mission to fly north to assist in OPERATION SNOWBLOW II.

The order came late in the afternoon on Feb. 7. Within a few hours nearly 400 Ft. Hood soldiers were packed and ready to fly to Hartford, Conn. Their mission: To aid the snowbound citizens there in clearing and removing the snow. OPERATION SNOWBLOW II was underway.

Weather conditions at Ft. Hood did little to cooperate with the Army's deployment efforts. Ice Wednesday night and fog Thursday morning delayed the movement of troops and heavy equipment to the area. Freezing rain followed by fog caused the Air Force return flights to be diverted to Little Rock Air Force Base, Arkansas and Bergstrom Air Force Base at Austin, Tex.

Commanded by Colonel Gerald S. Griffith, Deputy Chief of Staff for III Corps and Ft. Hood, the operation task force was manned with Ft. Hood troops from the 17th Engineer Battalion, 2nd Armored Division; the 8th Engineer Battalion, 1st Cavalry Division, and the 62nd Engineer Battalion, 13th Corps Support Command (COSCOM).

Col. Griffith, a native of Ewing and the first task force elements were greeted at Bradley International Airport in Hartford, Conn. by Gov. Ella Grasso and other members of the state government. The Task Force headquarters was set up in the National Guard Armory in Hartford, and Col. Griffith quickly dispatched three teams of 100 personnel each plus their equipment to the Norwich and New Haven areas. An additional element was diverted to the snow laden Boston area to operate on an independent basis.

In the five days of snow removal, the engineers from Ft. Hood worked around the clock and removed over 147,000 cubic yards of snow. This equates to about 18,000 dump truck loads.

Col. Griffith, a 1950 graduate of Kentucky Military Institute, commented that the operation was one of the most satisfying of his career. "It was personally rewarding to be able to assist so many people who needed help. The spirits of the soldier personnel involved were sky-high...we were amazed at the hospitality of the local communities."

Gov. Ella Grasso met the Texas soldiers when they arrived in Connecticut and she was there to bid them farewell as the first elements departed to return home. The citizens of Connecticut showed their gratitude by presenting a huge sign to the soldiers upon their departure. The sign read: "Thanks from the state of Connecticut to the Fort Hood Snow Diggers of '78."

Col. Griffith is married to the former Ann Asbury, daughter of Mrs. Hicel Asbury and the late Mr. Asbury of Carlisle.

Griffith commanded the operation. Left, equipment loading and tie down was a big job for the engineers from Ft. Hood, Texas during the initial deployment to Connecticut for Operation Snow Blow II. C-5A's (the world's largest aircraft), C-14's and C-130's were used to transport troops and equipment to and from the New England area. Above right, a scooploader makes it clear who is boss. CARD OF THANKS: We want to thank all those who were so nice and showed so much interest in me and my wife while I was a patient at Nicholas County Hospital and after I came home.

To Dr. Kingsolver, Dr. Harmon the nurses and aides and all the Hospital staff.

The Ministers that visited and all the many prayers. The beautiful flowers and a host of cards which I received.

The men that sat with me at night and those that provided transportation for my wife to and from the hospital while the roads were so bad.

Thanks again to all who helped in any way.

May God bless you all. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Grey.

CARD OF THANKS: We, the humble family of the good God, Matt, Hisn and Antoun, give thanks to our Holy Family, Jesus, Mary and Joseph, who took care of us in our recent illness. We thank also those who helped us in their prayers and kindnesses, especially Father Kamlage, Doctor Morford, Mr. Urbage, and all the nurses and aides at the hospital and nursing home, in particular Geneva Reed, Mary Catherine Knapke, Becky McDavitt, and all who worked my shift with me. We, too, thank our compatriots who gave up everything to be with us: Licha and Rose Marie Farah, Ignatius and Tarexe Koury, and James and Juliette Torbey. Also we would like to thank the parishioners of the Shrine of Our Lady of Guadalupe and all the people of Carlisle who took us in and made us one of their own when we came and had no place to go. May God bless you all. The Matt Motouk Family.

MAGICWORD

HOW TO PLAY: Read the list of words. Look at the puzzle. You'll find these words in all directions — horizontally, vertically, diagonally, backwards. Draw a circle around each letter of a word found in the puzzle then strike it off list. Circling it will show a letter has been used but will leave it visible should it also form part of another word. Find the big words first. When letters of all listed words are circled, you'll have the given number of letters left over. They'll spell out your MAGICWORD.
