Central Kentucky Youth Music group to audition

The Central Kentucky Youth Music Society, second oldest independently chartered such organization in the country, wishes to announce its annual auditions for new members. These auditions will take place on the campus of the University of Kentucky in the Fine Arts Building during the weekend of May 19, 20 & 21. Selection is made on the basis of musical ability, competence and maturity, as well as current needs of the Society in instrumentation.

The Central Kentucky Youth Music Society currently sponsors two youth orchestras. The Concert Orchestra holds a membership of 85 young musicians and functions as a preparatory ensemble for the Youth Symphony. The Youth Symphony holds a membership of 70 student musicians ranging from grades eight through twelve. This ensemble concentrates on the performance of standard orchestral literature in its three concert appearances during the season.

Since its inception, the Central Kentucky Youth Music Society has striven to provide the best in symphonic music, free of charge, to the people of Kentucky. Through sponsorship of the Kentucky Arts Commission, the orchestras have been able to travel to other parts of the Blue Grass State, besides its regular Lexington concerts, to carry good music to those communities which do not have such opportunities. A number of out-of-state performances have also been given over the years in such places as Cincinnati, Chicago, New York, Washington, D. C., Atlanta and Indianapolis.

In addition to weekly three-hour rehearsals during the regular school year, an annual summer workshop is held which consists of a week of intensive study in an informal atmosphere.

Transylvania University in Lexington will sponsor a Summer University Abroad during June and July of 1978, which will be open to college and university students and give them an opportunity to travel and study in major European cities under the direction of Transylvania University faculty. The tentative dates for the Summer University Abroad are June 26 through July 24.

Tips on energy saving offered

By Dr. Jerry Howell
Director of Environmental Studies
Morehead State University

The energy crunch affects us all and each of us must do his part in conservation. The last article summarized ways of conserving home heat energy. This installment examines ways we can save money and energy through hot water conservation. The average hot water heat in Kentucky costs about 12 cents per person per day or about $45 per person per year. It is one of our most expensive household energy users and anything we do to help cut its working time profits us all by saving money and freeing fuel to be used elsewhere.

The key word in hot water conservation is insulation. In adequately insulated heaters should be covered without blocking off air vents. Hot water pipes leading to and from the heater should also be insulated.

Sediment buildup in the bottom of a water heater can waste energy. Most can be flushed out periodically.

Take showers rather than tub baths; showers generally require only about two-thirds as much hot water. Clothes and dishes should be washed when there are full loads. Dishes should be air dried and the "rinse hold" control should not be used because this device uses an additional five gallons of hot water. Clothes should be washed in warm water and rinsed in cold. Suds savers on washers should be used; they save several gallons of hot water per washing.

Leaky faucets should be repaired because one drop of hot water per second can waste as much as sixty gallons per week. As much household cleaning as possible should be done with cold water.

One of the most important hot water savings can be accomplished by turning the water heater temperature down. Unless there is a dishwasher in the house, water heaters do not need to be set at 140 degrees or higher. A setting of 110-120 degrees can provide adequate hot water for most families. Money and energy savings are in that example, more money is saved when a heater is turned down to 120 from 140 degrees than when turned down from 130 to 110 degrees, even though there is a 20 degree difference in both cases. By reducing a water heater, then, to 120 instead of 140 degrees, the most expensive 20 degrees are eliminated. This 20 degree reduction can save 18 per cent of the energy used at the higher setting. ### Feed grain/wheat program has sign up Nicholas County farmers wishing to participate in the feed grain and/or wheat program will have an additional two weeks to sign up, Anna L. Conner, an official of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Mr. Conner, said that the Secretary of Agriculture, Bob Bergland, was extending the sign-up period for the program from May 1 through May 15 because of the changes announced March 29 in the program. On that date, Secretary Bergland authorized additional diversion of cropland under the Cotton and Feed Grain Programs and permitted wheat program participants to graze out their wheat or harvest hay on a percentage of their planted acreage.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture will issue weekly reports each Tuesday until the sign-up is completed, the date of the first report is set for April 25.

Smoot named

Senator Huddleston has made Kentucky an excellent United States Senator and his record of performance in attracting many talented people to his campaign.

County road

143.3 miles of blacktop and 7.8 miles of gravelled roads.

The work authorized under the new fiscal year program will be carried out by the state's Bureau of Highways. The County Road Aid Program was established in 1936 to help local government meet the costs of maintaining their county road systems. It is administered by the state's Department of Transportation and allotments are made to the counties once annually on a fiscal-year basis.

Funds to support the program are received under a formula enacted by the state's General Assembly which provides that nine-tenths of one cent collected in tax on each gallon of motor fuel sold in Kentucky be set aside for allocation to county road aid programs.
