

Birth, death certificates to cost more

FRANKFORT — If you want a certified copy of a Kentucky birth or death certificate for $1, now is the time to buy. On July 1, the price is expected to go to $4. The price change was approved by the Kentucky General Assembly in March. If approved by the Legislative Research Commission without public protest, the increase takes effect July 1. Officials of the state Department for Human Resources (DHR), the agency responsible for registering Kentucky births and deaths and issuing certified copies, are expecting a "significant increase" in requests for copies in the next seven weeks. Otis Greenwald, director of DHR's vital statistics branch, puts it this way: "We're going to be swamped!"

Support Your Elementary School's First Science Fair on Saturday, May 27 at 1 p.m.

Homemakers Headquarters

The Homemakers Homemakers met Tuesday, May 8, with Mrs. Elliott Smith, Mrs. Reynolds Allison presiding. The devotional was given by Mrs. Nelson Hill. Mrs. Allison read a poem "Mothers are People". She also read questions we could ask ourselves to see "if we were getting old". Mrs. Emmett Darrell gave a report on the annual meeting. Mrs. Allison and Mrs. Giddig gave a report on craft and food sale and craft display.

Several usual household hints were given by the 18 members who answered. There were five victors, Mrs. Charles Burdick, Florida; Mrs. Little, Harrison County; Mrs. Eugene Neal, Mrs. Margie Wilson and Mrs. Alex Crawford.

The music for the International dinner was planned by the hostess, Mrs. Russell Alexander. The dinner meeting will be held at the First Baptist Church at Tuesday, May 22, at 6:30 p.m. The following committees of the 1972-73 year were appointed by Mrs. Allison: James and Concetta, Mrs. Elliott Smith; Clothing, Mrs. Lester Soper; Publicity, Mrs. Frank Giddig; Food, Mrs. E. V. Delaney; Family Life, Fleet Allison; Entertainment, Mrs. Nelson Hill; International Chairman, Mrs. George Dale; Cultural Arts, Mrs. Russell Alexander; Music, Mrs. John Clinkenberg.

Following lunch, Mrs. Reynolds Allison gave the lesson on "Window Treatment". The June meeting will be held at the First Baptist Church at Tuesday, May 22, at 6:30 p.m.

The Carlsle Kindergarten class of 1973 had its graduation Saturday, May 13 at the Carlsle Christian Church. Class members are, front row from left: MacMillen, Doyle, Glenn Stone, Emily McMillen, Josya Guthrie, Sara Ellen Booth, Patricia Hinkle. Second row: Duncan photo.

Happy graduates

Moorefield The Moorefield Homemakers met May 4 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Jimmy Conrad with Mrs. Angus Jacobs as co-hostess. Fourteen members answered by gift giving a household hint.

Carlsle West The Carlsle West Homemakers met Friday afternoon, May 11, with Mrs. Wilmer Hancock and Mrs. Earl Marshall as co-hostesses.

Eleven members and Mrs. Margie H. Wilson, home agent, answered roll call with a household hint. Mrs. Bonnie Cummins gave the thought for the day on attitudes, "Some new mud, some new stars". "Window Treatment" by Mrs. Grimes Caywood, told of curtains, drapes and shades, modernized with bottle caps and straws as well as a novel style.

A dessert course was served, following the recreation program.

The craft show and food sale held on Friday, May 5 and also on Monday night, May 8 at Snoop's Service Station. Paul Snoop, assisted by John Snoop, presented a demonstration on "What we should know about our cars". This went along with the lesson on "Powder Puff Mechanics". It was very informative. Mrs. Paul Snoop served punch and homemade cookies.

The lesson "Decorating Your Window" was given by Mrs. Jacobs. Games were led by Mrs. Conrad and Mrs. Jack Becker. Mrs. Hamm and Mrs. Rusty Lawrence will be June hostesses.

The Carlsle West Homemakers met Friday afternoon, May 11, with Mrs. Wilmer Hancock and Mrs. Earl Marshall as co-hostesses.

Eleven members and Mrs. Margie H. Wilson, home agent, answered roll call with a household hint. Mrs. Bonnie Cummins gave the thought for the day on attitudes, "Some new mud, some new stars". "Window Treatment" by Mrs. Grimes Caywood, told of curtains, drapes and shades, modernized with bottle caps and straws as well as a novel style.

A dessert course was served, following the recreation program.

The craft show and food sale held on Friday, May 5 and also on Monday night, May 8 at Snoop's Service Station. Paul Snoop, assisted by John Snoop, presented a demonstration on "What we should know about our cars". This went along with the lesson on "Powder Puff Mechanics". It was very informative. Mrs. Paul Snoop served punch and homemade cookies.

The lesson "Decorating Your Window" was given by Mrs. Jacobs. Games were led by Mrs. Conrad and Mrs. Jack Becker. Mrs. Hamm and Mrs. Rusty Lawrence will be June hostesses.

The Carlsle West Homemakers met Friday afternoon, May 11, with Mrs. Wilmer Hancock and Mrs. Earl Marshall as co-hostesses.

Eleven members and Mrs. Margie H. Wilson, home agent, answered roll call with a household hint. Mrs. Bonnie Cummins gave the thought for the day on attitudes, "Some new mud, some new stars". "Window Treatment" by Mrs. Grimes Caywood, told of curtains, drapes and shades, modernized with bottle caps and straws as well as a novel style.

A dessert course was served, following the recreation program.

The craft show and food sale held on Friday, May 5 and also on Monday night, May 8 at Snoop's Service Station. Paul Snoop, assisted by John Snoop, presented a demonstration on "What we should know about our cars". This went along with the lesson on "Powder Puff Mechanics". It was very informative. Mrs. Paul Snoop served punch and homemade cookies.

The lesson "Decorating Your Window" was given by Mrs. Jacobs. Games were led by Mrs. Conrad and Mrs. Jack Becker. Mrs. Hamm and Mrs. Rusty Lawrence will be June hostesses.

The Carlsle West Homemakers met Friday afternoon, May 11, with Mrs. Wilmer Hancock and Mrs. Earl Marshall as co-hostesses.

Eleven members and Mrs. Margie H. Wilson, home agent, answered roll call with a household hint. Mrs. Bonnie Cummins gave the thought for the day on attitudes, "Some new mud, some new stars". "Window Treatment" by Mrs. Grimes Caywood, told of curtains, drapes and shades, modernized with bottle caps and straws as well as a novel style.

A dessert course was served, following the recreation program.

The craft show and food sale held on Friday, May 5 and also on Monday night, May 8 at Snoop's Service Station. Paul Snoop, assisted by John Snoop, presented a demonstration on "What we should know about our cars". This went along with the lesson on "Powder Puff Mechanics". It was very informative. Mrs. Paul Snoop served punch and homemade cookies.

The lesson "Decorating Your Window" was given by Mrs. Jacobs. Games were led by Mrs. Conrad and Mrs. Jack Becker. Mrs. Hamm and Mrs. Rusty Lawrence will be June hostesses.

The Carlsle West Homemakers met Friday afternoon, May 11, with Mrs. Wilmer Hancock and Mrs. Earl Marshall as co-hostesses.

Eleven members and Mrs. Margie H. Wilson, home agent, answered roll call with a household hint. Mrs. Bonnie Cummins gave the thought for the day on attitudes, "Some new mud, some new stars". "Window Treatment" by Mrs. Grimes Caywood, told of curtains, drapes and shades, modernized with bottle caps and straws as well as a novel style.

A dessert course was served, following the recreation program.

The craft show and food sale held on Friday, May 5 and also on Monday night, May 8 at Snoop's Service Station. Paul Snoop, assisted by John Snoop, presented a demonstration on "What we should know about our cars". This went along with the lesson on "Powder Puff Mechanics". It was very informative. Mrs. Paul Snoop served punch and homemade cookies.

The lesson "Decorating Your Window" was given by Mrs. Jacobs. Games were led by Mrs. Conrad and Mrs. Jack Becker. Mrs. Hamm and Mrs. Rusty Lawrence will be June hostesses.

The Carlsle West Homemakers met Friday afternoon, May 11, with Mrs. Wilmer Hancock and Mrs. Earl Marshall as co-hostesses.

Eleven members and Mrs. Margie H. Wilson, home agent, answered roll call with a household hint. Mrs. Bonnie Cummins gave the thought for the day on attitudes, "Some new mud, some new stars". "Window Treatment" by Mrs. Grimes Caywood, told of curtains, drapes and shades, modernized with bottle caps and straws as well as a novel style.

A dessert course was served, following the recreation program.

Political canard resurrected in Kentucky every four years

By R.C. Van Curen FRANKFORT — About this time every four years the silly season of politics begins in the gubernatorial field. As to who will be elected next year. It is also at this time that the Democrats, who outnumber Republicans in Kentucky by roughly two to one continue to circulate the old canard that Republicans have a chance to elect a governor about every 30 years. Nothing could be further from the old canard if they always won Democratic in governor's races and presidential races.

Nixon carried Kentucky overwhelmingly in 1968 against McGovern, and Kentucky's only one-time Democratic senator in Washington for several years before both Thurston B. Morton and John Sherman Cooper decided not to seek re-election. Republican Marlow Cook succeeded Morton but was beaten by Democrat Wendell Ford when he sought re-election.

There is one political story that history bears out, and that is that no Democrat of the Democratic Party has ever been elected in Kentucky more than two successive terms.

Republican Taylor ran against Democrat William Goebel in 1869. Taylor was declared the winner in the election but it was contested and the 1869 legislature declared Goebel the winner, and he was shot by an assassin in front of the old Capitol.

Democrats held the office until Wilson was elected in 1907. You start in 1931 when the Democrats began to dominate the office of governor. Rusty Laffoon held the office under Wilson until 1943, or 14 years after Simpson's resignation so far that Republican Simon E. Willis of Abland beat Democrat J. Lyster Donnell of Carrollton for governor.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

There are laws and regulations on the books guarding against discrimination of the handicapped, and some progress has been made. Still, there is much to be done, and it would be splendid if today, and every day throughout the state, we could do more to help the disabled to enjoy their rights, and did it.

Opinion

Immunization is for your benefit

Quite a few parents are upset because of the immunization program that has sprung in Kentucky but actually there is little need to be overly concerned. Eighty-one per cent of the children in Kentucky need to be immunized against those often fatal and crippling diseases (including diphtheria, tetanus, measles, whooping cough, polio, scarlet fever, and rubella) (German measles) which laws require every student in kindergarten through grade 12 to be protected against these avoidable diseases. It is to the benefit of the child as well as his peers to receive protection.

If parents are wary of the services of the health department or the school-based immunization clinics, they have the option of using their personal physicians who will supply the child with the needed shots.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

It is the efforts of brilliant scientists and doctors that we live in a clean, disease-free country who realized the need for cures for these avoidable diseases. In order that we may remain free of these contagious diseases, our children must be given this advantage.

The word is out, even in Nicholas

The word is out in Washington that Ralph Nader, consumer advocate, lecturer and lobbyist is losing popularity in "the administration". Many are neglecting to solicit his aid in promoting congressional programs and opinions because of his decline in popularity both of the private and public circles. Many persons are no doubt rejecting after having heard from Mr. Nader on many occasions in Washington as to the personality and the public. Most disdained him also because what he had to say were usually cynical and outlandish attacks on everything from industry to swimming pools. Many took him for what he was — a troublemaker. But if Mr. Nader is boosted out of his position because of lack of support and rising selling insurance in brown bread, Allister Cooke must on television and speaks on not another issue, what he is protected from everything from rip-off joints to Washington.

Whether or not we will see more of Mr. Nader is impossible to know but what he has done for the consumer in many areas in Washington as in Nicholas County the right of the average consumer to know what their money was buying, what they were

take part fully in the community, and to live independent lives with dignity. Our disabled neighbors are of all people. They are respectable, competent and efficient. In many instances, they are able to do more things than we give them credit for. But nobody is as limited, not only by attitudinal barriers, but by all the architectural, transportation, housing and employment barriers handicapping their independence. And if every other kind of barrier that reflects indifference towards those with artificial

take part fully in the community, and to live independent lives with dignity. Our disabled neighbors are of all people. They are respectable, competent and efficient. In many instances, they are able to do more things than we give them credit for. But nobody is as limited, not only by attitudinal barriers, but by all the architectural, transportation, housing and employment barriers handicapping their independence. And if every other kind of barrier that reflects indifference towards those with artificial

take part fully in the community, and to live independent lives with dignity. Our disabled neighbors are of all people. They are respectable, competent and efficient. In many instances, they are able to do more things than we give them credit for. But nobody is as limited, not only by attitudinal barriers, but by all the architectural, transportation, housing and employment barriers handicapping their independence. And if every other kind of barrier that reflects indifference towards those with artificial

take part fully in the community, and to live independent lives with dignity. Our disabled neighbors are of all people. They are respectable, competent and efficient. In many instances, they are able to do more things than we give them credit for. But nobody is as limited, not only by attitudinal barriers, but by all the architectural, transportation, housing and employment barriers handicapping their independence. And if every other kind of barrier that reflects indifference towards those with artificial

take part fully in the community, and to live independent lives with dignity. Our disabled neighbors are of all people. They are respectable, competent and efficient. In many instances, they are able to do more things than we give them credit for. But nobody is as limited, not only by attitudinal barriers, but by all the architectural, transportation, housing and employment barriers handicapping their independence. And if every other kind of barrier that reflects indifference towards those with artificial

take part fully in the community, and to live independent lives with dignity. Our disabled neighbors are of all people. They are respectable, competent and efficient. In many instances, they are able to do more things than we give them credit for. But nobody is as limited, not only by attitudinal barriers, but by all the architectural, transportation, housing and employment barriers handicapping their independence. And if every other kind of barrier that reflects indifference towards those with artificial

take part fully in the community, and to live independent lives with dignity. Our disabled neighbors are of all people. They are respectable, competent and efficient. In many instances, they are able to do more things than we give them credit for. But nobody is as limited, not only by attitudinal barriers, but by all the architectural, transportation, housing and employment barriers handicapping their independence. And if every other kind of barrier that reflects indifference towards those with artificial

take part fully in the community, and to live independent lives with dignity. Our disabled neighbors are of all people. They are respectable, competent and efficient. In many instances, they are able to do more things than we give them credit for. But nobody is as limited, not only by attitudinal barriers, but by all the architectural, transportation, housing and employment barriers handicapping their independence. And if every other kind of barrier that reflects indifference towards those with artificial

take part fully in the community, and to live independent lives with dignity. Our disabled neighbors are of all people. They are respectable, competent and efficient. In many instances, they are able to do more things than we give them credit for. But nobody is as limited, not only by attitudinal barriers, but by all the architectural, transportation, housing and employment barriers handicapping their independence. And if every other kind of barrier that reflects indifference towards those with artificial

take part fully in the community, and to live independent lives with dignity. Our disabled neighbors are of all people. They are respectable, competent and efficient. In many instances, they are able to do more things than we give them credit for. But nobody is as limited, not only by attitudinal barriers, but by all the architectural, transportation, housing and employment barriers handicapping their independence. And if every other kind of barrier that reflects indifference towards those with artificial

take part fully in the community, and to live independent lives with dignity. Our disabled neighbors are of all people. They are respectable, competent and efficient. In many instances, they are able to do more things than we give them credit for. But nobody is as limited, not only by attitudinal barriers, but by all the architectural, transportation, housing and employment barriers handicapping their independence. And if every other kind of barrier that reflects indifference towards those with artificial

take part fully in the community, and to live independent lives with dignity. Our disabled neighbors are of all people. They are respectable, competent and efficient. In many instances, they are able to do more things than we give them credit for. But nobody is as limited, not only by attitudinal barriers, but by all the architectural, transportation, housing and employment barriers handicapping their independence. And if every other kind of barrier that reflects indifference towards those with artificial

take part fully in the community, and to live independent lives with dignity. Our disabled neighbors are of all people. They are respectable, competent and efficient. In many instances, they are able to do more things than we give them credit for. But nobody is as limited, not only by attitudinal barriers, but by all the architectural, transportation, housing and employment barriers handicapping their independence. And if every other kind of barrier that reflects indifference towards those with artificial

take part fully in the community, and to live independent lives with dignity. Our disabled neighbors are of all people. They are respectable, competent and efficient. In many instances, they are able to do more things than we give them credit for. But nobody is as limited, not only by attitudinal barriers, but by all the architectural, transportation, housing and employment barriers handicapping their independence. And if every other kind of barrier that reflects indifference towards those with artificial

take part fully in the community, and to live independent lives with dignity. Our disabled neighbors are of all people. They are respectable, competent and efficient. In many instances, they are able to do more things than we give them credit for. But nobody is as limited, not only by attitudinal barriers, but by all the architectural, transportation, housing and employment barriers handicapping their independence. And if every other kind of barrier that reflects indifference towards those with artificial

take part fully in the community, and to live independent lives with dignity. Our disabled neighbors are of all people. They are respectable, competent and efficient. In many instances, they are able to do more things than we give them credit for. But nobody is as limited, not only by attitudinal barriers, but by all the architectural, transportation, housing and employment barriers handicapping their independence. And if every other kind of barrier that reflects indifference towards those with artificial

take part fully in the community, and to live independent lives with dignity. Our disabled neighbors are of all people. They are respectable, competent and efficient. In many instances, they are able to do more things than we give them credit for. But nobody is as limited, not only by attitudinal barriers, but by all the architectural, transportation, housing and employment barriers handicapping their independence. And if every other kind of barrier that reflects indifference towards those with artificial

take part fully in the community, and to live independent lives with dignity. Our disabled neighbors are of all people. They are respectable, competent and efficient. In many instances, they are able to do more things than we give them credit for. But nobody is as limited, not only by attitudinal barriers, but by all the architectural, transportation, housing and employment barriers handicapping their independence. And if every other kind of barrier that reflects indifference towards those with artificial

Windstorm sweeps Nicholas uprooting trees, damaging barns

Thursday, May 12, 1968

Marion Ronald Greig is one of 30 seniors graduating May 26 at Millersburg Military Institute.

Robert M. Green, son of Lillian Beckett and Irvine Green, has been selected for one of the Kentucky Highway Engineering Scholarships.

A dinner meeting to start the Nicholas County High School Alumni Club will be held Friday evening, June 6, 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hines, 1111 S. 1st St., Nicholas County High School for April.

MORRIS — To Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Morris, a son, Bernice Morris, Jr., May 12, at 11:30 a.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hines, 1111 S. 1st St., Nicholas County Hospital. — To Mr. and Mrs. Stanley T. Hines of Middletown, a son, May 12, at 11:30 a.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hines, 1111 S. 1st St., Nicholas County Hospital, Paris.

MARRIED — Miss Geraldine Thomas, Frankfort to Hense Lecher of Carlsle, Ky. — Miss Ollie Calvert Thomas, 64, in a Dayton, Ohio nursing home. — Mrs. Della Collins Hawkins, 64, at her home in Moorfield. — Mrs. Ella M. Purcell, 78, at Lowry Nursing Home in North Middletown. — Mrs. Ollie out, the raid did take place. It wasn't as young a employee of the Mercury was told, just a robbery which took place in the open class room. There are some good reasons for not making it public, which of course only may be done if the police have ordered the raid and clamped on the secrecy lid. It is our understanding that even the tab trays were confiscated as evidence along with gambling monies and spirits.

Nine sections of KHS CHAPTER 61 are supposed to assure openness in the conduct of the people's business, but not so, around these parts. — MV —