Vo-ed winners

Truck bids investigated

Main. A new four-lane road in the Capitol area to U.S. 60 in East Frankfort cuts through the state property and makes the site readily accessible. The federal investigation is apparently tied to the fact that federal funds are involved in about every department of state government. In his request that the Franklin County Grand Jury investigate the school bus chassis deal, Atkins believes one of the letters in the file to support Lester Motor's request for the price adjustment was forged. Ford Motor Company in Louisville supplied the auditor's office with a copy of a letter regarding the deal, and it was different from the one that Lester Motors supplied, ostensibly as a copy of the factory letter from Louisville. The next, Franklin County Grand Jury will meet in May.

Shrine Circus coming

In Cynthiana
April 20

HOBO - The Almost Naked Girl

Circus time is here again and Olmeca Shrine Temple proudly presents its 31st Heber International Circus to the young and old in seven great performances in six progress towns in the Desert of Kentucky. In order that this great array of animal acts and dare-devil feats of skill and agility in the air can be available for every man, woman and child in these areas, the circus will be shown, afternoon matinee and gala evening performances in Painsboro, on April 10th; Hazard on April 17th; Corbin, April 19th; Somerset, April 19th and Cynthiana, April 20th, with three great performances in the Rupp arena on Saturday afternoon and evening April 21st and the gala special performance matinee on Sunday afternoon, April 22nd and the closing performance at Williamson, April 26th.

As guests at all performances with the help of citizens and friends, between 7:00 and 9:00 unprivileged children will thrill at the astounding acts that will keep them on the edge of their seats. This treat will be made available for them by the generosity of citizens of each of the six towns of Circus Doodles and Circus Mammies who help, year after year, to make hours of happiness for bright eyes and indomitable breaths at the antics of the animals, lions, dogs, horses, and seals, and daring feats of the acrobats.

The net proceeds of the circus will go to support the eight new Shrine Hospitals for crippled children, and our own unit in Lexington, and the three Shrine Institutes in U.S. Canada and Mexico. These institutions are supported wholly by the Shrines themselves on an individual or state government money is ever appreciated for these Temples of Mercy. Thousands of children to date have benefited and returned to health and activity thru the Shrines, and to needy children. Money raised by the nearly 100 Shrines, including circuses such as this, go to the support of the hospitals and hospitals.

Tickets for the local performances can be purchased from any local Shrine at the door for one performance, or from 18 Centennial Grocery Stores. No young of age and young at heart are invited to attend this 1st annual circus, labelled by the host ever.

Waste not...

Americans spend about $4 billion a year to discard 140 million tons of solid waste that can be recycled materials, National Geographic says.

insurance, $70 to Lynn Bowles for digging graves when no one was available. Mrs. Brenda Stone was paid $70 for preparing the tax reports and workman's compensation was paid along with the regular bills. Equipment purchases have included two new mowers and repairs on three old ones.

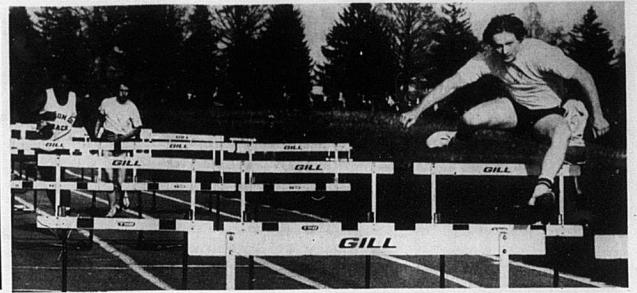

Volunteer work and contributions are still being sought by the cemetery. May 8-20 has been designated volunteer cleanup days under the caretaker's supervision. The historical old part of the cemetery needs volunteer help to get it cleaned up before Memorial Day. Anyone wishing to volunteer should contact one of the directors of John Frederick at the cemetery.

Ahead of the pack

Randy Hunter is ahead of the pack during one heat of the 120-yard high hurdles during Monday's track meet with Estill, Mason and Morgan Counties. Coach Ben Pumphrey's boys and girls track team have been turning in some impressive times lately, according to the coach. This Saturday, April 21, the boys' team travels to Bellevue for that school's prestigious relays and next Saturday, April 28, NCHS will hold its boys' invitational. Also scheduled for the NCHS track are the boys and girls Class A and AA region meets next month. (Also pictured above, second from right, is NCHS's Paul Quinn.) — Photo by Jeff Kerr.
