Wildcats are thin—but hungry

The University of Kentucky football team this both in numbers and experience, will have more than half of its scholarship ranks filled with freshmen when the Deacons begin their season against Miami of Ohio Sept. 15 at Commonwealth Stadium.

The NCAA limit its 86 scholarship athletes on a squad, but due to eight players on suspension, some dropouts and no-shows, and some injuries, Coach Fran Curcio has only three freshmen that number on hand as the Wildcats completed their second week of practice.

Curcio's depleted backfield ranks will be replaced by freshman Danville backed by sensational new-comer Pete Venable on full scholarship for the season. He is a native of Louisville and was a sophomore Southwestern and freshman at Princeton.

Seniors Tom Kearns of Lexington and Leon Shawdown of Louisville will hold down the offensive guard positions and freshman Scott Peterson of Columbia, Ohio, the tight end, while sophomore and senior Frank McDonnell of Harlan is a promising newcomer.

Incoming freshman Gerald Smyth of Englewood, Ky. has moved into a starting backfield position vacated by redshirt freshman Mickey Cochran, who is recovering from a slight concussion.

Sophomore Steve Williams, who was captain of the 1977 Lexington Lafayette team, is a surprise at the other backfield. Sophomore Jim Campbell of Louisville was switched from light end to split end, where he is backed by freshman Alan Watson of North Miami Beach, Fla.

Among the senior all-star defensive backfield related injury, and Richard Abraham of Paducah, who will be out for four to six weeks with a collapsed lung.

Of the 22 starting positions are currently manned by seniors, six by juniors, four by sophomores and three by freshmen. The punter is a freshman, the placekicker a sophomore. Half the second-line players are freshmen.

Leading the offense is quarterback Mike Shutt, backed by freshman Randy Jenkins of Pennington Gap, Va., whose performance moved sophomore Juan Fortale to wide receiver and redshirt freshman Rob Mangum to tight end. Freshman Terry Hargett is the No. 3 quarterback.

Shutt's favorite target will be senior Felix Wilson, who was No. 2 receiver in the Southeastern Conference last season. Redshirt freshman Brian Allen and Bill Prewitt.

England. Hall, who rapidly is becoming one of the most sought after American coaches as an international clinician, has made several tours of Europe and a year ago took his Wildcat team on a tour of Japan.

This summer, Hall was instrumental in bringing an invitation for the University of Alabama team to tour Japan and he had his No. 1 assistant, Dick Peterson, make that tour with his alma mater.

Finding the Kentucky way to their liking, the Japanese National Team was spent the last month in Lexington going through the paces that have made the Wildcats into a perennial contender for national honors.

Hall will return to the United States Sept. 9.

Basketball Around The Corner The Wildcat basketball team will begin pre-season conditioning Sept. 1 at the Staley Sport Center under the direction of assistant coach Dick Partridge. Among the senior all-star defensive backfield related injury, and Richard Abraham of Paducah, who will be out for four to six weeks with a collapsed lung.

THE CARING CORNER 'By faith we understand that the world was created by the word of God...' Should our public school teach the Bible? The sectarian clamor over that question, the voice that plucks the case of the humanities cannot be heard. The Bible is indeed a religious book, but it is also a part of our secular cultural heritage.
