

Mrs. Annabelle Taylor
There's no place like home to Mrs. Taylor

There's no place like home, an old saying states, and Annabelle Taylor won't debate the issue.

The 96-year-old Bourbon County native entered a nursing home in Paris on January 25, 1978 following major abdominal surgery. Eight months later, Mrs. Taylor left the high-level care unit of the facility and returned to her own home in Paris. She now cares for herself with the help of community programs sponsored by Kentucky's Department for Human Resources.

"She had always wanted to go home," says Carry Ann Durrutt, team leader of Human Resources's Bourbon County office, "but there was some question about the services available. The family felt like they would need some assistance."

Human Resources staff became aware of Mrs. Taylor's case when she no longer qualified for the skilled care unit of the Paris nursing home. Her doctor and family members felt she qualified for the home's personal care section, but there was no vacancy available.

When local Human Resources staff members approached Mrs. Taylor's doctor and family, all agreed that the most important factor was Mrs. Taylor's ability to move home.

"I wanted to take her home and use myself as long as I could," the 96-year-old said. "I thought I'd do for myself. I don't want to be a burden. I want to stay on my feet as long as I can."

Mrs. Taylor had been in her home just blocks from the Paris business district since September 22, 1978. Since her initial move back home, she had been hospitalized twice, returning both times to her own home.

Local Human Resources office provides services through several departmental programs. A home health nurse makes medical checks on Mrs. Taylor at least once a week. Home service aides and social worker Jeanette Burnett alternate their visiting days as Mrs. Taylor's help daily with household chores and transportation to the store and doctor.

Also, the local senior citizens group delivers a hot lunch to Mrs. Taylor each day.

"There's been a real spirit of cooperation among everyone involved," Mrs. Durrutt says. "There have been no problems in the coordination of services or with Mrs. Taylor's adjustment."

Mrs. Taylor, who celebrated her 96th birthday March 3, says she appreciates being in her own home. Her four children, including a daughter in Paris, visit often. "I think a lot of people at the nursing home would like to come home, but they don't have anybody to take care of them," she said. "I'm so independent I can take care of myself."

A typical day for Mrs. Taylor includes eating food she prepares for herself, playing and "talking on my porch to watch for my nurses to come."

She said, "I don't do anything for myself except myself and when I don't feel like doing anything, I don't."

Mrs. Taylor has returned for visits to the nursing home she left last year. "Every once in a while I get nervous," she said. "I've had a good life. I've had a passion for garden-fresh cucumbers and tell friends to get your exercise." The last eight years I worked always walked, the reflects, "but now people can't get from here to the next house without getting in the car."

Members of the local Human Resources staff say it's their personal health care to leave a nursing home and return to their homes to care for themselves.

As Mrs. Taylor says, "There ain't nothin' like your own home."

Miss Taylor is a graduate of the 1979 class of Nicholas County High and is presently employed at the City Office in Carlisle.

Mr. Jones is a graduate of the 1978 class of Nicholas County High and is engaged in Custom Farming.

The wedding date is set for August 18th at 2:30 p.m. at the Blue Licks Christian Church. All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Kingslovers return home from India

Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Kingslover have recently returned from a World Medical Association meeting in Nepal and northern India.

Dr. Kingslover was among a dozen Americans who were contacted by a patient care and the practical operation of a new hospital to open soon in Kashmir, a northern province of India in the foothills of the Himalayas.

Masonic Lodges to meet

All Masonic Lodges in Nicholas County will meet for a block supper at Blue Licks State Park, Saturday, July 21, at 5:30 p.m.

Kay's Kitchen
By Kay Fisher

If you save the picture in the Mercury last week of the head of cabbage grown by Kash Fisher, you can understand why this week's column is devoted to cabbage recipes. I know fresh garden vegetables had arrived, but didn't know anything could grow to such a size.

To enjoy cabbage, this week's column is for you.

CABBAGE CASEROLE
1/2 cup cheddar soup
1/4 cup corn of milk
Salt and pepper to taste
For hot cabbage that has been sliced into about 1/4 inch slices. Drain, place in casserole, season with salt and pepper. Pour combined soup and milk over cabbage and top with crushed cracker crumbs. Bake in 350 degree oven until bubbly.

CRACKER PIE
25 or more soda crackers
4 to 5 cups shredded cabbage
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup margarine
Sprinkling of celery seed, optional
Crumble crackers, and put half of the drained cabbage in greased baking dish. Add hot soup, crackers, and cheese. Repeat layers one more time, and top with hot 350 degrees until bubbly and begins to brown.

CABBAGE CASEROLE II
1 small head of cabbage
1 can cream of celery soup
6 crackers, crushed
1 cup shredded cheese
Cut cabbage in shreds. Cook in small amount of boiling water in uncovered pan until barely tender. Drain. Put half of the drained cabbage in greased baking dish. Add hot soup, crackers, and cheese. Repeat layers one more time, and top with hot 350 degrees until bubbly and begins to brown.

CHUCK ROAST
10 lb. chuck roast
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 eggs, beaten
Salt and pepper to taste
Cracker crumbs
Wilt cabbage about 5 minutes, drain. Place in buttered casserole and stir in remaining ingredients, except crumb. Top with crumbs, dot with lightly with butter. Bake 350 degrees 30 to 35 minutes.

Miss Tracy Danner served as flower girl and Master James Bartlett as ring bearer.

The couple is residing in Nicholas County.

Catholic Church to have guest

Members of the Glenary Home Missions have been invited to visit three parishes in Kentucky and South Carolina during July and August. The visiting missionaries will tell the story of the society founded in 1839 to establish the Catholic Church in Appalachia and the rural South where it was virtually unknown.

More than 100 priests and Brothers now serve in 42 states, staffing 85 missions in which the average number of Catholics is 87.

The Glenary apostolate is to serve the poor, the exploited and disadvantaged and bring Catholicism to the minority of Catholics in the area, as well as to the unattached. In some places in the region served by Glenary, as much as 60 percent of the population has no religious preference.

On August 4 and 5, the Rev. Wayne Swadlowski will be a guest at Our Lady Home of Gaudulech Church in Carlisle where the Rev. Herman B. Kamlage is pastor. A native of Chicago, Father Swadlowski received his theological training at St. Louis University and has done graduate work at the University of Kentucky and St. Meinrad's and has an ordination in 1974. Father Swadlowski served as associate pastor of the Glenary missions in Manchester and West
