No residency for deputies

Can a county judge hire a deputy county judge—executive who doesn't live in the county in which he will serve? According to an opinion issued by the Office of the Attorney General, the answer is "yes."

The opinion, written by Assistant Deputy Attorney General Charles W. Runyan, states that the office of deputy county judge—executive is statutory, formed by Kentucky Revised Statute 67.711. Runyan writes that since the statute mentions no residential restrictions for the office, deputies don't have to live in the county in which they serve.

Runyan states that while the Kentucky Constitution requires public officers to reside within their respective districts, counties or cities, the constitution applies only to officers named and designated by the constitution.

As a statutory office, the deputy county judge—executive post does not apply, he adds.

Runyan concludes that the only residential restriction placed on a deputy county judge—executive is that he live in some part of the state, according to the constitution.

The opinion was requested by Rowan County Attorney John R. Cox of Morehead.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Kentucky Project W-45, which is a Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration project funded in part by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS), has had an environmental assessment prepared for it by the FWS.

This project includes, among other activities, Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration projects in Kentucky. Also included are research and surveys conducted on a Statewide basis to solve specific wildlife management problems and to monitor the status of wildlife populations. These activities include capture and marking, disease and parasite analysis, management practice evaluation, and population, habitat and harvest investigations of deer, rabbit, doves, quail, turkey, waterfowl, and other species. Other activities, which are designed to improve wildlife habitat and provide public recreation, include construction and maintenance on buildings, dams, roads and bridges, fences, and public use facilities. Wildlife food plo.; land clearing; vegetation control by mowing, prescribed burning, and application of chemicals; trapping and restocking grouse, turkeys, deer, raccoons, and beavers; providing waterfowl nest structures; managing water levels on 1,325 acres, administering the project, providing public hunting and other recreation, protecting management areas, and providing technical guidance to land owners.

The environmental assessment may be inspected at the FWS Regional Office and the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources in Frankfort. Copies of the assessment may also be obtained at these locations upon payment of reasonable reproduction costs pursuant to 43 CFS, Part 2, Appendix A. Copies of the Findings of No Significant Impact will be provided free of cost.

Comments on the assessments may be submitted to the Regional Director, FWS, Richard B. Russell Building, Atlanta, Georgia 30303, no later than 30 days from date of publication. 7-19-1tchg.

GET YOUR $WORTH

BUYING USED CAR: II

Last week we explained why a new-car dealer is a better bet for buying a used car than is a used-car dealer. The used-car man may be as honest as the day is long, but his lot will contain a mixed bag — good cars and clunkers. Also, he is not likely to have complete facilities for service and repair.

Another place to check out when you're in the market for a used car is the big car-rental companies. They tend to get rid of their stock after they've been driven around 25,000 miles, and they'll give you a 12-month warranty as good as you could get from a dealer. You can't trade in your old car when you buy from a car-rental company, but you'll be able to inspect the service and repair record on the car, and you may save as much as $500 to $500 versus a dealer's price. You can test drive the car before you buy and have your mechanic look it over. Another possibility is public auctions of repossessed cars. Check the auction notices in the auto section of the classified ads in your paper. The cars will be available for inspection but not for a test drive, and you will probably have to make an immediate down payment if your bid is accepted.

You can also buy from a private owner, but this can be chancy — no warranty. And if the seller is a friend or neighbor and the car turns out to be a lemon, you're in a bind.

Final note: Experts say that gas consumption should not be the main factor in whether to buy or not to buy, even if gas goes higher to $1.50. For example, a 1969 Cadillac in excellent condition selling for $1,000 is a better buy than a new VW Rabbit at $6,000. To make up the $5,000 difference would take 10 years of fuel savings.

THE HOME GAME

BY VIRGINIA TRUAX

SECOND TIME AROUND—Don't ever throw away leftover corn on the cob! It will make a great vegetable when cut off the cob and stir-fried in butter or oil. Or make succotash by combining with lima beans. And don't forget corn fritters—a real family-pleaser.

SWEET SMELL OF SUCCESS—The good smell of spearmint chewing gum isn't so popular with some dogs! That's why placing a few sticks on troublesome kitchen shelves helps in keeping the little devils far away.

NATURE'S AID—Help Mother Nature in growing longer eyelashes by frequently applying a small amount of olive oil or petroleum jelly to the lashes.

NO-CLING—For a quick and easy way to rid tomatoes of their skin, cover with boiling water for 30 seconds, then replace with cold water until they cool down. Makes peeling tomatoes fun!

DROP IN THE BUCKET—Don't let your garden parsley go to waste. Mince the leaves with kitchen scissors, divide in your ice-cube tray and fill with water. When frozen, remove and store in plastic bags until you need to drop them in soups and stews.

THE BOTTOM LINE—If your white pants are a little too transparent, buy yourself a pair of white panty hose, such as nurses wear. They make great pants liners!

—MAGIC CHIP COOKIES—An ideal cookie for your vacation-bound and bored children to make. Mix 1½ cups sweetened condensed milk with ½ cup peanut butter. Add 2 cups shredded coconut and 1 cup crumbled potato chips. Drop by spoonsful on greased baking dish and bake 15 minutes at 375°. They'll love 'em!

QUICK AND EASY—Poaching eggs for a large family is a breeze when done in the electric skillet. Grease well a 6-cup muffin tin and drop an egg into each cup. Set pan in one inch of water, cover skillet and poach to desired doneness.

MAGIC WORD

HOW TO PLAY: Read the list of words. Look at the puzzle. You'll find these words in all directions — horizontally, vertically, diagonally, forward and backward. Draw a circle around each letter of a word found in the puzzle then strike it off the list. Circling it will show a letter has been used but will keep it visible should it also form part of another word. Find the big words first. When letters of all listed words are circled, you'll have the given number of letters left over. They'll spell out your MAGIC WORD.
