Kay's Kitchen

— By Kay Fisher —

With so many things to do outside, one doesn't have a lot of time to spend in the kitchen preparing meals. So this week, I will give some recipes that can be made ahead of time. Most of these are freeze well, so you can make one casserole to eat the day you make it and the other one to freeze. Take a day when it is cloudy or raining and you can't be out. Then do some cooking to take care of you when you can spend the day out of doors.

First keep in mind the size of your family. If there are only two or three persons to cook for, make only half the recipe, and freeze in smaller casseroles. Most of these recipes will serve six to eight. You may want to make three casseroles from the recipe if it is one your family really likes.

HAM & BROCCOLI BAKE

1 8-ounce jar processed cheese spread
2 cans condensed cream of chicken soup
½ cup milk
½ cup chopped onion
4 tablespoons margarine
2 10-ounce packages frozen chopped broccoli
4 cups diced cooked ham
2 cups packaged precooked rice
Generous dash of worcestershire sauce

In large bowl, blend cheese spread, soup, and milk. Cook onion in margarine till tender. Cook broccoli according to package directions until almost done; drain. Add onion, broccoli, ham, uncooked rice, and worcestershire to soup mixture and cheese mixture. Turn into two 1½ quart casseroles or baking dishes, Cover tightly. Seal, label and freeze.

If you are going to use one the day it is made, cover and refrigerate until cooking time. Cook covered in 350 degree oven 35 to 40 minutes. To cook frozen casserole, bake in 400 degree oven 1½ hours. Uncover and continue cooking 30 minutes more.

BEEF BURGANDY PIE

½ cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 pounds round steak, cut in 1-inch pieces
2 cloves garlic, minced
½ cup cooking oil
2 cans condensed beef broth
2 cups burgundy
½ teaspoon dried dillweed, crushed
½ teaspoon dried marjoram, crushed
1 large can artichoke hearts, drained
3 cups fresh mushrooms, sliced (you may use canned mushrooms, but not as good)
½ cup flour
½ cup water

One recipe for biscuits (your favorite)

Combine the first ½ cup flour, the salt and pepper. Toss meat in mixture to coat. In Dutch oven, brown meat and garlic in hot oil. Add beef broth, burgundy, dillweed, and marjoram. Simmer, covered for 1½ hours, stirring occasionally, or until meat is tender. Add artichoke hearts and mushrooms; cook 10 minutes. Combine remaining flour and water. Stir into beef mixture. Cook and stir till thickened and bubbly. Taste for seasoning. Turn into two 2-quart casseroles. To bake unfrozen casserole: Top with biscuits and bake in a 400 degree oven for 12 to 15 minutes or until biscuits are browned. To bake frozen casserole, bake covered in 400 degree oven for 1½ hours, stirring once or twice to break up mixture. Continue to cook 30 minutes. Uncover, top with biscuits and bake in 400 degree oven 15 minutes or until biscuits are browned. Refrigerate casserole until baking time.

PORK AND APPLE BAKE

12 rib or loin pork chops
2 20-ounce cans pie-sliced apples, drained
½ cup brown sugar
6 cups herb-seasoned stuffing mix
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup melted margarine
3 tablespoons instant minced onion
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground sage
2 cups beef bouillon

Trim most of the fat from chops. In large skillet, cook trimmings till you have 2 tablespoons drippings, discard trimmings. Sprinkle meat with a little salt and pepper. In skillet, brown well on both sides. Place 6 browned chops in a 11¾ x 7½ x 1¾ inch dish. Combine apples and brown sugar. Taste for seasoning. Spoon ½ mixture over chops. Combine stuffing mix, celery, melted margarine, onion, salt, and sage; toss with beef bouillon till moistened. Spoon half over apples. Repeat with other six chops, in second casserole using other half of apples and stuffing mix. Bake unfrozen casserole in 375 degree oven one to one and a half hours, or until chops are done. Bake frozen casserole in a 400 degree oven covered about three hours.

Mrs. Wallace retires; remembers past

By Delbert Newman

"A teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops." From The Education of Henry Adams; Chapter 17.

One June 6, 1979, a career of teaching in the Nicholas County School system will have ended for Jeanette Wallace. Mrs. Wallace is a native of Nicholas County. Having attended both grade school and high school here, she is well acquainted with this area.

Mrs. Wallace's professional preparation includes the following: Asbury College for two years, receiving the A.B. degree from Georgetown College, and finishing her fifth year teaching certificate at Morehead State University.

For 31 years, Mrs. Wallace has taught in Nicholas County. She began teaching in the fall of 1941 at Moorefield. There she taught third and fourth grades for three years. After doing some substitute teaching, she returned to full-time teaching at Headquarters. For 14 years she taught different grade levels from the third to the seventh grade.

Later when the seventh grade was moved to the Carlisle School, she moved too. There she taught math and social studies until 1971 when all the county schools were moved into the new Nicholas County Elementary School. At the new school, she continued to teach math in the seventh grade until four years ago when she went into remedial math. After two years of teaching math, she transferred to the fifth grade from where she is retiring.

Mrs. Wallace offers the following as reflections over her many years of teaching: "There have been many changes in our schools since I began my teaching career, such as consolidation, new buildings, and different methods".

During her first teaching year, she had 50 students. Yet what stands out so vividly in her mind is the eagerness of the boys and girls to learn, to please, and to help each other. She feels that one of the most rewarding things about having taught for a number of years is the fact that former students sometimes remember to speak to you; to stop to talk; to tell you of their successes and of their families. She also says that you remember too, that you had to correct some of them. You had to push; to encourage; and always to love all of them.

On Thursday, May 24, Mrs. Wallace will be honored by the Nicholas County Education Association with a banquet at Lake Carnico Country Club.

THE CARING CORNER

"Jesus Christ is the same yesterday and today and for ever." Hebrews 13:8

I was visiting a Sunday School class when I asked an eight-year-old boy what he was drawing. Without pausing to look up, he said, "A picture of God." I smiled and responded, "But nobody knows what God looks like. The boy carefully put down his crayon, looked me squarely in the eye, and declared: "After I'm finished here they will!"

Most of us don't have an image of God quite that certain, but whatever picture we have reveals our beliefs. What does God look like to you? Join us this Sunday in caring.
